JURY FOR BECKER TRIAL COMPLETED

Box Filled with 280th Talesman After Fatiguing Day—Three More Jurors Excused.

MAY BE ANOTHER SHAKE-UP

Whitman Won't Tell of New Witnesses in Opening Address—Fight Likely Over Cirofici Confession.

THE BECKER JURY.

1. F. MEREDITH BLAGDEN, 28 years old, unmarried, bond salesman with Redmond & Co., bankers, 33 Pine Street, and living at 16 East Tenth Street. Foreman.
2. JAMES M. FAUST, 29, unmarried, real estate broker with Cross & Brown Co., and living at 58 West Forty-fifth Street.
3. THOMAS W. EDWARDS, 30, married, chemist, of 507 West 186th Street.
4. EDWARD E. VAN EMAN, 55, married, retired traveling salesman, of 455 Fort Washington Avenue.
5. PAUL V. CAMORS, 46 years old, married, capitalist, of 590 West 172d Street.
6. ROBERT L. BAXTER, 35, unmarried, clerk at 64 Wall Street, and living at 600 West 176th Street.
7. DIO L. HOLBROOK, 52 years old, unmarried, consulting engineer for the Otis Elevator Company, Eleventh Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street, and living at 46 East Twenty-first Street.
8. PHILLIP LOFF, 42 years, unmarried, civil engineer, of 400 Riverside Drive.
9. WALTER GOODYEAR, 58 years old, married, of the Goodyear Book Company, 339 Fifth Avenue, and living at 421 West Fifty-seventh Street.
10. GILBERT SCHAUL, 32 years old, unmarried, manufacturer of neckwear in Yonkers, N. Y., and living at 479 West 152d Street.
11. EPHRAIM PLUMMER, 68 years old, married, retired traveling salesman, of 4,241 Broadway.
12. WILBUR F. RAWLINS, 51 years, married, salesman with Armour & Co., meat packers, and living at 249 West 135th Street.

At 4:21 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after a fatiguing day for Justice Seabury and the lawyers, the jury for the second murder trial of ex-Lieut. Charles Becker was completed. This was not accomplished until the 280th talesman had been examined, and this exceeds by ninety-nine the number of talesmen required for the drawing of the first Becker jury. So disappointed was Justice Seabury with the showing made by members of the special panels that he instructed the Commissioner of Jurors to strike from the list twenty of the most obstinate ones. This constitutes a revocation of privileges which some of the favored talesmen had enjoyed for twenty years.

It required not the mere drawing of twelve men to complete the jury. Sixteen men were actually seated in the box at different times. The four extras were excused by the court, one on Thursday and three yesterday. No explanations were given as to the reasons for the release of the three yesterday.

There was a report last night that there may be another shake-up when court is reconvened at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The District Attorney, it is known, is investigating every man who is seated on the jury. If he finds any man who is in the remotest way connected with the Police Department, of which ex-Lieut. Becker was a dominating force, he will not permit him to serve. Information reached the District Attorney last night, it is understood, which may cause some excitement this morning.

Justice Seabury himself made it apparent that there might be changes after the jury had spent its first night together under lock and key at the Murray Hill Hotel. In the hearing of the twelve jurors he announced just before the adjournment of court that he wanted all the unexamined talesmen on the panel who were in court to return to the courtroom in the morning. About twenty unexamined talesmen are remaining. These are all that remain from two separate panels, one of 300 and one of 100. As a matter of fact only 305 of the 400 reported for service.

Three Men Excused.

The men who were excused from the jury yesterday were Dwight W. Custer, an inventor, of 700 West 180th Street, who was Juror No. 5; Ambrose B. Farley, a clerk, of 529 West 186th Street, who had taken Mr. Custer's place as Juror No. 5, and Willoughby R. Smith, a clerk of the New York Central, living at 148 West Sixty-seventh Street. The juryman excused on Thursday was William B. Dalton, an advertising manager, of 125 West 139th Street. In the case of Mr. Farley and Mr. Smith the Justice called them into his chambers and a consultation resulted in which District Attorney Whitman and Martin T. Manton, attorney for Becker, took part. When Justice Seabury again took his place on the bench he announced that he had excused these jurors and that their withdrawal meant no reflection on them.

Strong influences have been brought to bear on some of the jurymen by their families and friends, it is believed. They have been urged to keep out of a case bearing such responsibilities. One of the jurors, it was observed, twitched nervously in his seat after he had been selected. He seemed to grow more nervous as time went on and finally could contain himself no longer. He left the jury box and went before Justice Seabury in open court. He pleaded with the Justice a long time and then, much disappointed, returned to his seat. It is understood that the Justice could not listen to the excuse he offered.

District Attorney Whitman used up twenty-four of his available thirty peremptory challenges in drawing the jury. Mr. Manton used only twelve.

The jury as constituted differs considerably from the jury which tried Becker at his first trial. The first jury consisted exclusively of married men. On the present one there are six married and six unmarried men. The average age of the present jury is a little under forty-four years, which is younger than the previous jury. There are six men who are from five to ten years younger than Becker himself. The foreman, Mr. Blagden, is only 28 years old, and probably the youngest foreman that ever sat in an important murder triel in this city. The other extreme is Mr. Palmer,

BLEASE WOULD SLAY DOCTOR

And Pardon Killer of One Who Examined Daughter Without Consent.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENVILLE, S. C., May 8.—Gov. Cole L. Blease, denouncing in the campaign here the proposed medical inspection of school children, said he would pardon any father for killing a physician who attempted, against the father's will, to examine his daughter.

Gov. Blease further asserted that the proposed law would furnish an opportunity to blight the life of an innocent girl, who was the daughter of a political enemy, by means of a false report by a doctor as to her morals. He added that if he had a daughter and a physician should attempt, without his consent, to examine her, he would kill him.

The Governor's promise to pardon the slayer of any physician who attempted to examine his daughter, without parental permission, was made to an audience of some 1,500 cotton mill workers whom he addressed to-day.

BOYS WIN HUNGER STRIKE.

Philadelphia Students Can Now Eat Their Lunches Out Doors.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 8.—After eighteen months' controversy, which resulted recently in a hunger strike, the 3,000 boy students at the Central High School here have won the privilege of bringing their own lunches and eating them outdoors, instead of having to buy the food supplied by the city and eat it inside the school at noon. Dr. Robert Thompson, President of the school, granted their demands to-day.

As a result of the settlement of the trouble, the boys purchased their lunches to-day from the counters provided by the school and then went out in the school yard and ate them. Last week the school lost hundreds of dollars on account of the refusal of the students to patronize the city sandwich and milk supply.

The settlement has several conditions attached, namely, that the students do not go beyond the limits of the school yard during the lunch recess, that they do not smoke or flirt with the girls, and that they refrain from throwing things at passing automobiles. A teacher and a student will be placed at each end of the yard to see that these rules are obeyed.

LENIENT TO NAVAL OFFICER.

Daniels Reduces Huff's Grade by Three Numbers for Assault.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The case of Lieut. Commander Charles P. Huff, ordnance officer of the dreadnought Texas, court-martialed for knocking down an employe of the Newport News Ship Building Company, has been finally decided by the Secretary of the Navy, who directed a deduction of three numbers in his grade, instead of five, the original sentence of the court.

Secretary Daniels discovered that Commander Pollard, counsel for Lieut. Commander Huff in his argument before the court-martial, had stated that Lieut. Commander Huff's strict performance of his duty as Ordnance Inspector on the Texas "was costing the Newport News Ship Building Company $3,000 a day." It also appeared that Lieut. Commander Huff thought an effort was being made through the employes of the shipbuilding company to influence his action as Inspector. As the attempt seemed to be to show effusive attentions to Mrs. Huff, he resented it, he said, by knocking down the company's agent.

In reply to questions by Secretary Daniels, Commander Pollard said that there was nothing to warrant his statement as to Huff's costing the shipbuilding company $3,000 a day and that the remark was more a figure of speech than otherwise.

Mr. Daniels decided that Lieut. Commander Huff was actuated by a high sense of his responsibility to the Government, and resented what he considered undue efforts to influence him. At the same time his assault on the company's employe was regarded as unjustifiable.

The Newport News Ship Building Company asked Secretary Daniels to order a court of inquiry to determine if the company or its agents had tried to influence Lieut. Commander Huff's actions as inspector.

MYSTERY IN A TURKISH BATH

Woman Causes Arrest of Joseph Fleischman on Assault Charge.

Screams attracted the attention of Patrolman Turk of Traffic C, at Sixth Avenue and Forty-second Street, yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, and he turned in time to see a woman, her face scratched and her hair disheveled, running out of 47 West Forty-second Street. She told him she had been attacked by a man in Fleischman's Baths.

Turk went back to the building with the woman, and she pointed out as her assailant Joseph Fleischman, proprietor of the baths. She said she was Mrs. Frank Lightfoot of 193 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn. Turk sent for a patrol wagon from the East Fifty-first Street Station, and Mrs. Lightfoot insisted on riding in it with him and Mr. Fleischman to the police station so that she might make her complaint immediately.

Soon after the patrolman arrived at the station with Mr. Fleischman and his accuser, three taxicabs rolled up, bringing Mrs. Fleischman and friends of Mrs. Lightfoot. At the police station Mrs. Lightfoot exhibited a cut under the left eye, which she said was caused by a blow from Mr. Fleischman. She was asked for the details of the encounter, but refused to tell her story until Mr. Fleischman was arraigned in the Night Court.

When the desk Lieutenant asked the woman her name for the record, she answered "Lightfoot," and was interrupted by Mrs. Fleischman, who told the Lieutenant she had registered at the baths under the name of "Gorman." Mr. Fleischman's accuser explained that by saying it was her "stage name." The friends of Mrs. Lightfoot and Mr. Fleischman would not discuss the trouble at the station.

Arraigned in the Men's Night Court before Magistrate Levy, Mr. Fleischman said he desired to make a counter charge against Mrs. Lightfoot. He exhibited a discoloration on his right hand where he said his accuser had struck him with an umbrella. He said she had struck him in the face also.

Mrs. Lightfoot, represented by William H. Black, wanted her complaint pressed, and wanted to testify against Mr. Fleischman without delay. Mr. Fleischman, however, contended that he had not had time to obtain legal advice, and Magistrate Levy consented to entertain the counter charge of assault. The complaint was drawn up against Mrs. Lightfoot, and at the request of both Mrs. Lightfoot and Mr. Fleischman was set for trial on Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Yorkville Court.

The cause of the trouble was not disclosed, either at the police station or at the Night Court.

NEW HAVEN INQUIRY INCLUDES CITY BANK

Controller Williams Wants to Know About $11,000,000 Loan to Billard.

RAILROAD HEADS CALLED

W. Rockefeller, Baker, Miller, and Cass Ledyard to Testify—Treasurer Asked About Checks.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Following a clue dropped by John L. Billard in his testimony yesterday in the Interstate Commerce Commissions investigation into the financing of the New Haven Railroad, John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency, began an inquiry to-day to see whether the National City Bank of New York in 1909 did not violate the national banking laws in lending more than $11,000,000 on 109,985 shares of Boston & Maine stock.

Mr. Williams, it is said, wants to know whether at that time the law did not prohibit the National City Bank with its capitalization from lending more than $5,000,000 to a single customer. As Assistant Secretary of the Treasury he had a somewhat similar inquiry into the National City Bank's loans to street railways of Chicago, but no action was taken following that inquiry.

Mr. Williams's inquiry began to-day with his request to Joseph W. Folk, solicitor for the Interstate Commerce Commission, for a certified copy of the check used in the Boston & Maine transaction and a transcript of certain testimony before the Commission. That check was for $11,101,138, under date of Oct. 5, 1909. It was signed by H. M. Kochersberger, Vice-President of the New Haven, and A. S. May, its Treasurer. The check was made out in favor of the National City Bank, drawn on the Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York.

William Rockefeller, George F. Baker, George Macculloch Miller, and Cass Ledyard of New York, all Directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, have been called to testify next Wednesday before the Interstate Commerce Commission. Former President Mellen of the road will be called later to tell of transactions between the railroad and the Billard Company.

It is probable that Timothy E. Byrne, one time assistant to former President Mellen, will testify on Monday. F. D. Robbins, chief counsel of the New Haven, who has been prominently identified in the testimony with the affairs of the Billard Company, is expected to take the stand Tuesday.

Following Up Billard Testimony.

The gathering together of loose ends of several minor transactions and the piecing together of testimony characterized the hearing to-day.

Two or three facts, regarded as of important bearing upon the matter under inquiry, had been developed through the testimony yesterday of John L. Billard, promoter of the Billard Company. They were that the Billard Company dealt broadly in other securities besides those of the New Haven and its subsidiaries; that the Billard Company practically was John L. Billard himself; that for reasons of his own John L. Billard burned his personal books and papers which contained records of many transactions, and that, while he made a profit of approximately $2,700,000 on the deal in Boston & Maine stock, which represented substantially the profit of the Billard Company, the assets of the company, which now are in possession of Billard himself, amount to a trifle more than $2,000,000, indicating a depreciation of about $600,000.

Charles F. Linsley, a manufacturer of Meriden, Conn., and a lifelong friend of John L. Billard, testified that, at the suggestion of Billard, he had become one of the incorporators and a director of the Billard Company.

"Five shares of stock in the company were put in my name by Mr. Billard," said the witness, "but I never had any knowledge of its business. I acted in the matter merely as a friend and neighbor of Mr. Billard, who really was the whole company."

Mr. Linsley said several meetings of the directors were held, at some of which F. D. Robbins, chief counsel of the New Haven, and attorney for Mr. Billard, was present. He could not remember what propositions had been considered at the meetings or what he had voted upon as a director.

"Did you know anything about the Billard Company?" asked Mr. Folk.

"Not a thing."

"You were merely a 'dummy' director, then?" suggested Mr. Folk.

"Absolutely."

Mr. Linsley gave it as his "impression" that the Billard Company was organized to take care of some of Mr. Billard's business which he felt ought to be put in permanent shape so that if anything happened to him it could be the more easily handled.

"Mr. Billard said to me that he was getting old; that he was heavily obligated, and that his estate was large. I assumed that he desired to place some of his affairs in the Billard Company so that they might be safeguarded," said Mr. Linsley.

"Do you know that he put into the Billard Company only those things which related to the New Haven?" asked Mr. Folk.

"No, I do not."

Birdsey F. Case as Treasurer.

Birdsey F. Case, who followed Mr. Linsley on the stand, said he was a practicing attorney of Hartford, Conn., and succeeded Grover C. Richards as treasurer of the Metropolitan Steamship Company of Maine, at the instance of F. D. Robbins. He said he had previously, at various times, been employed by the legal department of the New Haven in connection with title research work and transportation matters.

"Mr. Robbins," said Mr. Case, "asked me to look after certain transportation details of the company."

"Did you have any experience in transportation matters?"

"Only as an attorney."

Mr. Case said he received a salary of $2,500 a year and his traveling expenses. He ceased to act as treasurer when the company was merged into the Eastern Steamship Company.

Asked if he knew of any transactions with the Billard Company, Mr. Case said:

"To the best of my recollection the Billard Company held a note of the Metropolitan, but I do not recall the amount. It was signed by Richards, and my remembrance is that a new note was substituted. In connection with this matter I went to New Haven and have an impression that the man I talked with was Samuel Hemingway."

"What were the assets of the Metropolitan of Maine?"

"Five freight steamers plying between Boston and New York."

President Calvin Austin of the steamship company, it was testified, drew checks without Case's knowing what they were for, but the stubs in the checkbook showed the names of payees

DR. RYAN SAFE IN VERA CRUZ

Life Saved by Promise Not to Discuss His Experiences, He Says.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Dr. E. W. Ryan, the Red Cross physician who was arrested by Huerta's forces in Zacatecas and released on demand by Secretary Bryan through the Brazilian Minister, arrived here to-night on the refugee ship Esperanza from Puerto Mexico. He was one of a large party of refugees sent from Mexico City.

He said that he owed his life to the fact that he had given his word of honor not to talk regarding his experiences, and then added:

"Now that I am safe under the American flag there is all the more reason that I keep my word."

He shows somewhat the effects of hardships he has undergone, and says that several times he gave up hope.

Other refugee report report that an American named Hoodley, employed at the El Favor mine in Jalisco, a Yale graduate, was cut to pieces by enraged Mexicans bent on robbing the mine.

SILLIMAN MAY BE SAFE.

Gen. Maass, at Saltillo, Reports Sending Out Americans by Train.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—Gen. Joaquin Maass, the Federal commander at Saltillo, advises the Interior Department that a train, adequately protected, had left that city to-day with a party of Americans for this capital.

Other Americans are arriving from interior points, and in case they express a desire to reach the coast facilities will be provided as and when possible.

John R. Silliman, Vice-Consul at Saltillo, is among the Americans who have been held prisoners there. He may be a member of the party now on the train moving to the capital.

EUROPE FEARS MASSACRE.

Thinks Bryan Heedless of Danger—Talks of Joint Action.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, May 9.—A Washington dispatch to The Morning Post says:

"So critical do some European diplomatists consider the present developments of the Mexican situation that they have made representations to Secretary Bryan and frankly asked him whether the United States was aware of what they feared and whether it would take any steps to prevent wholesale murder.

"Mr. Bryan's replies have been evasive and unsatisfactory. In substance he told the diplomatic representatives that the United States could be relied upon to take whatever measures were necessary to protect foreigners; but what those measures are or may be, or where they will be put in operation, he does not reveal. The diplomatists left him with the impression that he regards the reports from Mexico City as exaggerated and the men who make them as alarmists.

"Mr. Bryan evidently believes that when Huerta goes and Carranza or Villa comes there will be as little jar or friction as when in the United States the term of one President ends and that of his successor begins. What disturbs the diplomatists is that Mr. Bryan has clearly given not the least thought to what may happen in Mexico after the fall of Huerta. He has concentrated all his thought on the elimination of Huerta and has had no time to consider the future; and they believe he would not have given the matter any study had they not brought it to his attention.

"It is, of course, impossible to say whether Mr. Bryan is right in believing that reports are exaggerated; but the Ministers in Mexico are men of experience and sound judgment, and weight must be attached to the reports which they make in their official capacity, in view of what the diplomatists consider the alarming state of affairs. There has been discussion among them as to whether it may not be necessary for the European powers, acting in concert, to make representations to the Washington Government; but the matter has not advanced beyond the stage of discussion. Certainly no Government would be held blameless if it permitted its subjects to be massacred, and the greatest responsibility would attach to the United States; but while the responsibility might be fixed, it would not bring the dead to life."

CANAL IS ALMOST READY.

Torpedo Boats Can Pass Now, Big Ships in a Week.

PANAMA, May 8.—Col. George W. Goethals, Governor of the Panama Canal Zone, said to-day that he would put torpedo boats through the canal at any time Secretary Daniels desired him to do so. He said also that he would ask Secretary Garrison's approval to send ships through the canal on or about May 15, as he expected to have a thirty-foot channel cut through the slide at Cucaracha by then. The barge line, which is to aid the railway in transporting freight across the Isthmus, will be in operation Monday.

The condition of the Cucaracha slide is much improved. The slide is now depositing much less earth in the canal than is being removed by the dredges.

Huerta Would Blow Up Capital

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Refugees from Mexico City report that Gen. Huerta is mining the capital. He is reported as saying: "Let the Americans take the city if they want it; then we will kill them."

The refugees say that Gen. Huerta acceded to the mediation programme to gain time, and does not intend to agree to peace terms.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—Correspondence that embodies Mexico's protest to the "A B C" mediators that the United States is violating the armistice in continuing to land men and munitions of war at Vera Cruz has been made public here, although it is kept secret in Washington.

The first step of Mexico to show its objections to the action of the United States was taken last Monday, when Señor Esteva Ruiz, as Acting Secretary of Foreign Relations, sent the following dispatch to the mediators:

Mexico City, May 4.

To Their Excellencies the Ambassador of Brazil and the Ministers of Argentina and Chile, Washington:

This Government is informed that the landing of American troops at Vera Cruz has gone on.

I have the honor of communicating this to your Excellencies, and I permit myself to express Mexico's surprise at this act, which has taken place subsequently to the suspension of hostilities agreed on.

ESTEVA RUIZ.

On the following day Señor Ruiz sent another dispatch, saying:

Mexico City, May 5.

Referring to my telegram of yesterday relative to the landing of American marines at Vera Cruz after the agreement for a cessation of hostilities, I now confirm the same.

The War Department informs me that the American squadron continues landing troops and war material at the same port.

The respect due to the mediating powers, worthily represented by your Excellencies, obliges this Government to draw anew your attention to these facts before taking the measures, which they demand of it.

Likewise rebels continue their hostilities and movements. I entreat your Excellencies to be pleased to inform me whether a suspension of hostilities has been adjusted with the rebels or whether this Government is at liberty to continue its action against them.

ESTEVA RUIZ.

The representatives of the three powers, which offered mediation, answered the dispatches of Señor Esteva Ruiz in two messages. One of these read:

Washington, May 6.

As the result of your Excellency's telegram relating to the landing of troops and war material of the United States at Vera Cruz, we take pleasure in informing you that we have interviewed the Secretary of State, communicating to him your Excellency's observations.

At the same time we have presented to him a note, asking that his Government take due measures for the elucidation and repression of the acts spoken of by your Excellency.

D. DA GAMA,
Ambassador of Brazil.
R. S. NAON,
Minister of Argentina.
E. SUAREZ MUJICA,
Minister of Chile.

Another message from the mediators informed the Mexican Government that Gen. Carranza had refused to suspend hostilities and that in case he persisted in that attitude their efforts would be confined to an attempt to adjust the differences between the United States and Mexico. [Señor Ruiz's response to this message, referring the attitude of the Carranzistas to the judgment of "the community of nations" and to "the verdict of history," was published in yesterday's TIMES.]

In making public these dispatches from the mediators, Señor Ruiz gave out the following statement: [This was printed in the third edition of THE TIMES yesterday.]

Mexico City, May 7.

The Mexican Government, in the presence of the attitude which the mediators have assumed in the matter of the Carranzista revolutionists who refused to suspend hostilities, and with respect to the American Government in the matter of the continued landing of troops and war material since the suspension of hostilities, cannot but acknowledge and feel grateful for the prudence, impartiality, and rectitude of the mediators.

Secretary Bryan sent a reply yesterday to the representations made by the mediators on behalf of Mexico, but the text of this reply was not made public either in Washington or in Mexico City. Its substance, in effect a denial that the acts complained of constitute a breach of the armistice, was given out in Washington last night, and appears in THE TIMES's Washington dispatches this morning.

Private Parks Slain by Maass' Men; Second Soldier May Also Be a Victim

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Announcement was made at 11 o'clock to-night (12:30 A. M. New York time) by Lieut. Col. Elmore F. Taggart that he had received what he regarded as reliable information that Private Samuel Parks, his insane orderly, who wandered away Wednesday night, had been executed by the Federals last night or early this morning.

Parks, who was a Texan and a member of the Twenty-eighth Infantry, was last seen by the outposts riding in the direction of the Federal lines, mounted on one of Lieut. Col. Taggart's full-blooded racers, and leading another.

He had been acting queerly for several days, and it was thought that the heat had caused him to lose his mind.

No doubt was felt from the outset that he had fallen into the hands of Gen. Maass's men.

Lieut.-Col. Taggart went to the Federal lines this afternoon to investigate the fate of Private Parks and his two horses. He was told the horses had been seen in the Federal lines, but could learn nothing of the fate of the soldier.

A Mexican officer told him the orders were to shoot any armed American entering the Federal lines, but he would not admit specifically that Parks had been killed. However, it is believed that the soldier is dead.

The Mexican officer said to Lieut.-Col. Taggart:

"Maybe your man smoked a poisoned cigarette. Mexican women in Vera Cruz give them to men and they always go crazy."

Investigation by officers at Vera Cruz to-night indicate that such cigarettes are manufactured of a poisonous weed resembling tobacco.

Lieut.-Col. Taggart offered a reward of $100 for the return of the orderly and the horses, and sent a letter to Gen. Maass to which as yet he has had no answer.

Report of a Second Soldier Killed.

By Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—The report received here this evening that Private Parks, orderly for Lieut. Col. Taggart, had been put to death by the Mexicans near Tejeria was brought by a Mexican railroad man. He said he was told by one of Gen. Maass' soldiers, with whom he had a talk in the vicinity of the alleged execution, that Parks had been killed. He said also that the Mexican soldier told him that two nights before another man, dressed like an American soldier, had been executed.

Funston Reports Execution—Washington Sees Trouble Ahead.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 9.—Late last night or early this morning the Adjutant General of the Army received a cablegram from Gen. Funston saying that information had been received by him that Private Parks had been executed. It was gathered that Funston's dispatch was received after Secretary Garrison had left the War Department and that the execution of Private Parks was not the cause of the active military preparations that were going on last evening.

The execution of Private Parks is a direct violation of the agreement made by the Huerta Government to refrain from hostilities while the mediation proceedings are in progress Even if war existed between Mexico and the United States it would be a violation of the rules of civilized warfare to execute a soldier of the enemy's forces wearing the uniform of his country.

The case of Private Parks is bound to have an important effect on the current delicate situation. It gives this Government another item to add to its growing list of charges against Gen. Huerta's authority.

Nations would not ordinarily go to war on account of the killing of one man, but the Parks case, coming as it does on top of the Tampico incident, the burning of the American flag at Monterey and other places, together with other incidents showing Mexican enmity toward the United States, seems likely to assume a very serious aspect.

Some such incident has been expected by officials of the Government. Ever since the indignity was offered to the American Flag and uniform on April 9, there has been apprehension that other similar affairs would occur and that out of one of these a clash would result.

Secretary Garrison has been urging that the only course to pursue was to prepare the army and the navy for any emergency. Mr. Garrison is credited with having brought President Wilson to his way of thinking on Thursday, when the active preparations for an emergency on a large scale were begun.

SCARE OVER GERMAN SHIPS

Talk of Seizing Puerto Mexico to Shut Out Arms for Huerta, But No Action Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8. — Official Washington spent to-day in the midst of alarms. The Mexican situation has changed for the worse. Mediation is regarded very generally as a lost cause.

Huerta, as set forth briefly in a Mexico City cable, printed in a late edition of this morning's Times, and fully in the complete correspondence which The Times has received from Mexico City, is complaining that the gentlemen's agreement to suspend hostilities is being violated by the United States. It is feared by officials here that this is preliminary to an armed attack by Mexican Federal troops at Vera Cruz; that it is, in fact, the setting up of the excuse in advance, in case such an attack should be decided upon.

Active preparations are being made for an emergency that may bring war. The War Department to-day chartered six transports and is trying to get others. These will be hurried to Galveston, the port of embarkation of the regular troops concentrated in Texas.

The six vessels chartered to-day belong to the Hawaiian-American Steamship Company. Their names are being kept secret. The company has thirty-two vessels, twelve of which are in the Atlantic. These twelve ply between New York and Puerto Mexico.

There are rumors that an oil well has been set on fire at Tampico, and that the city is in danger of destruction. The Government is trying to get authentic information from Tampico. In the meantime it is credited with giving consideration to the matter of landing an armed force from Rear Admiral Mayo's squadron to protect American and other foreign property interests there.

Another question arose to-day which for a time was considered a serious complication. It was the report that two German ships were nearing Puerto Mexico with arms and ammunition for Huerta. There was some talk of this making it advisable for the Government to seize the port of Puerto Mexico, as Vera Cruz was seized, to shut out these supplies. But the argument against such a step was strong.

It was admitted that such action would be a violation of the armistice, and would end all hope of the peace negotiations being fruitful. Before the situation became really acute, word came that one of the ships, the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, had already arrived and had probably landed her cargo so that action was forestalled.

Probable Peace Delegates.

President Wilson and Secretary Bryan have practically decided to designate three representatives of the United States Government to attend the Mexican mediation conference to begin at Niagara Falls, Ont., on May 18. The following are understood to have been chosen tentatively:

Joseph R. Lamar of Augusta, Ga., Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Frederick W. Lehman of St. Louis, Mo., lawyer, formerly Solicitor General of the United States.

The President is credited with the intention of making a strong appeal for peace with Mexico in the address he is to deliver at the Brooklyn Navy Yard on Monday over the bodies of the men who were killed in the fighting at Vera Cruz.

Secretary Bryan to-day made his answer to the formal communications to the mediators from the Mexican Minister of Foreign Affairs, which are printed elsewhere in THE TIMES. In it he denied the accusation that this Government had violated the existing virtual truce by permitting troops to be landed at Vera Cruz after the Huerta Government and the United States had accepted the principle of mediation. He formally interpreted this acceptance as meaning that neither side would take any aggressive measures while the mediation proceedings were in progress.

The position of this Government is that its previously expressed interpretation of its acceptance of friendly offices was that no aggressive movement should be made, but that the arrangement to suspend hostilities did not carry with it an understanding that the United States forces should not strengthen their lines or take other means of preparation short of an attack on any Mexican place or on Mexican troops. It is also contended by this Government that the landing of troops at Vera Cruz, after the mediation undertaking was on, was due to a delay in the progress of one of the army transports from Galveston.

No Formal Armistice.

Officials point out that neither the United States nor Gen. Huerta has yet entered into any formal armistice. What occurred was this: The mediators suggested that hostilities should be suspended during the period of negotiations. To this Secretary Bryan replied that it was assumed there would be a suspension of hostilities, except to repel attack. Gen. Huerta's answer was understood to be an acceptance, but the exact terms have not been given out. Mr. Bryan several times pointed out that this did not constitute a formal armistice, but only an assumption that hostilities would be suspended except to resist aggression.

Article VII of The Hague Convention provides specifically on troop movement pending mediation, as follows:

"The acceptance of mediation cannot, unless there be an agreement to the contrary, have the effect of interrupting, delaying, or hindering mobilization or other measures, or preparation for war.

"If mediation occurs after the commencement of hostilities, it causes no interruption to the military operations in progress, unless there be an agreement to the contrary."

To what extent the present suspension at Vera Cruz operates under these rules appears, therefore, to depend largely on the construction of the informal understanding that it was assumed hostilities would be suspended except to repel attack.

Leading authorities on international law hold that an armistice, truce, or suspension of hostilities, should be definite and exact, and not implied. One of the leading authorities, Halleck, says:

"Such a general suspension of hostilities can only be made by the sovereignty of the State, either directly or by authority specially delegated. Such authority is never implied, and the enemy is bound to see that the agent is specially authorized to bind his principal."

When an armistice is formally agreed to, the authorities hold that "during its pendancy neither party may engage in any military work, operation, or movement, at least upon the immediate theatre of war." This however, is limited to the "theatre of war," and it is added:

"Each party may in its own jurisdiction do with its armed forces whatever it could do in time of peace. Fortifications can be built or put in order, vessels fitted out, troops raised and trained, and warlike stores manufactured and collected. Troops can be moved about from one part of a country to another, with the exception of the actual area of hostilities."

This, however, applies only when a formal armistice is in operation, and it is an open question as to what the condition is when there is no formal armistice, but only an assumption that hostilities will be suspended except to repel attack.

Status of the Embargo.

The prior note of Minister Ruiz, which THE TIMES printed in all its editions to-day, and which related to the shipment of munitions of war across the Texas boundary into Constitutionalist territory, has also been received by Secretary Bryan through the medium of the mediators. The answer to this is a denial. While the embargo on the shipment of arms into Mexico was rescinded by President Wilson in a proclamation, the free shipment of munitions of war from the United States into Mexico has been ordered suspended. Instructions were sent to collectors of customs and army officers to detain such shipments. This Government contends that shipments are not being permitted, and, therefore, the accusation of the Huerta administration is baseless.

The great activity of the Government to-day in the way of preparation for a hostile emergency was explained by the few officials who were willing to discuss the subject as merely precautionary. No orders for sending more troops to Mexico have been issued, but brigades are being prepared for emergency orders and the chartered transports are to reach Galveston as soon as possible.

There was a specific report in circulation that Secretary Garrison had been in telephonic communication with Gov. Glynn at Albany, Gov. Tener at Harrisburg, and Gov. Cox at Columbus, in connection with calling the militia of New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio into immediate service. Secretary Garrison denied that any such conversations had taken place, and from other sources it was learned that Mr. Garrison had not been in communication through any means with the three Governors in regard to war preparations.

Fear Mediation Will Fail.

To-day military preparations are interpreted to mean that the Government regards the mediation effort as likely to fail. This opinion is general in Washington's best informed circles, and it is understood to be shared by the mediators themselves, according to what is said by their associates of the Diplomatic Corps.

No change has been made in the arrangement for the mediation conference at Niagara Falls, but it is expected that the mediators will merely go through the motions of trying to adjust the differences between the United States and the Huerta administration over the Tampico incident. In doing so, however, they will endeavor to obtain declarations from the contestants with a view to fixing the responsibility for the failure of the peace understanding, and to show that the mediators have done their utmost to stop hostilities.

Many persons here doubt that the Niagara Falls conference will ever be held. One fear, ever present in the minds of officials, is that Gen. Huerta will cause his troops to commit some overt act that will plunge the two countries into war. It is to guard against this contingency that the War Department is making such active preparations.

Evidence was afforded to-day that the Government intended to take the greatest care to give Gen. Huerta no additional cause for contending that the United States was violating the truce. If war comes the Administration desires to be in a position to contend that it was through no act of its own that further acts of hostility were brought about. It is anxious to stand in a correct position in the eyes of the mediators and the world, and is honestly endeavoring to avert a struggle that might involve the United States with all the people of Mexico.

All the time, however, the Constitutionalists are pressing forward in their campaign to take Mexico City and drive Huerta from power. It is believed here that Gen. Huerta will declare war against the United States if danger of complete revolutionary victory becomes imminent. He would rather be defeated by the great republic of the north than by his enemies at home. The theory here is that if he goes to war with this country he will flee Mexico. There is plenty of evidence that he has already made arrangements for escape.

"NORTHER" AT VERA CRUZ.

Communication from Shore to Fleet Is Almost Impossible.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—A "norther" is blowing here, and it is almost impossible to communicate with the main part of the American fleet from the shore.

BRYAN ACCEPTS CARRANZA PLEDGE

Secretary's Conference with Zubaran Hailed by Rebels as Recognition.

OFFERS AID TO AMERICANS

Constitutionalist Envoy Gives Written Promise of Full Protection to Foreigners.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Secretary Bryan has recognized the Constitutionalists as a faction in de facto control of the territory occupied by them in northern Mexico.

At least, this is the construction that the confidential agents of the Carranzistas in Washington put upon the action of the Secretary of State in receiving a memorandum from Señor Rafael Zubaran Capmany, and in receiving Señor Zubaran himself, who is in Washington on a confidential mission from Gen. Carranza.

Señor Zubaran, who is Jefe del Departmento de Gobernacion, or acting Minister of the Interior of the Constitutionalist military organization, came to Washington with credentials signed by Gen. Venustiano Carranza, the first chief of the Constitutionalist military Government These credentials made him a special envoy delegated to perform a particular service. That mission was to make clear the attitude and feelings of the Constitutionalists and of the people of Mexico toward the United States.

Immediately after his arrival here last week Señor Zubaran went into conference with the Constitutionalist junta in Washington and drafted a memorandum to be presented to Secretary Bryan. This was handed to Mr. Bryan on Monday, May 4.

Señor Zubaran himself did not present the memorandum personally. It was handed to Secretary Bryan by a man in the employ of the United States Government, on close terms of relationship both with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Bryan Receives the Envoy.

Secretary Bryan received the memorandum, studied its contents, and on the following day—May 5—personally received Señor Zubaran in his office at the State Department. What transpired in that conversation has not been disclosed. But Secretary Bryan, without comment or explanation, to-day handed to the press the text of the memorandum. No written answer has been made by Mr. Bryan to the Zubaran memorandum. What verbal response, if any, was made cannot be learned here to-night.

It is not argued that the receipt of this memorandum and the reception of Señor Zubaran constitute formal recognition of any Government headed by Gen. Carranza. But it is contended that the acceptance of the memorandum and the personal reception of Señor Zpbaran after he had caused such a memorandum to be delivered, is regarded by the Constitutionalists as "the recognition of the Constitutionalists as a faction in de facto control of the territory occupied by them."

The Constitutionalists are not expecting this action on the part of Mr. Bryan to be followed by any more definite act of recognition at this time. The Constitutionalists, it is explained, do not lay claim to having been elected as the Constitutional Government in Mexico. They feel that it would be impossible for the United States Government to recognize them as the Constitutional Government in Mexico until after a constitutional election and the installation of a Constitutional Government.

The Memorandum in Full.

The text of the memorandum which Señor Zubaran caused to be handed to Secretary Bryan, as made public by the Secretary to-night, follows:

The First Chief of the Constitutionalist Army, fully realizing the menace to the good relations between the people of Mexico and that of its neighboring Republic, the United States, arising out of the wanton conduct of the usurper Huerta, has delegated the undersigned to make clear the feelings and the attitude of the Constitutionalists, and, indeed, of the people of Mexico toward the United States.

The United States and Mexico have, at present, friendly and peaceful relations which not only the Constitutionalists, but the vast majority of the people of Mexico propose to firmly maintain. Such relations should not be affected by the acts of Huerta, since they do not voice the real sentiment of the nation. Consequently it will be the purpose of the Constitutionalists to strive to continue unaltered those relations between the people of the two republics, and to resolve all differences in the same spirit.

The First Chief feels that the Government of this nation entertains sentiments identical with those of the people of Mexico. This conviction on his part is based on his confidence in the spirit of justice and the high moral principles which have always inspired the acts of the President and the Secretary of State, both of whom are esteemed as the incarnation of the virtues of the American people. He also feels that the policy followed, and to be followed in his struggle against the usurper, Huerta, in giving due protection to the lives and property of all American citizens and all foreigners, who maintain strict neutrality, is a manifest assurance of both the purpose and the ability of the Constitutionalists to discharge the international obligations of Mexico within the territory which they now, and will hereafter, control.

Pursuant to his instructions, the undersigned embraces this opportunity to express the sentiments of personal friendliness and appreciation with which the First Chief is animated for the President of the United States and the Secretary of State.

(Signed) R. ZUBARAN CAPMANY.
Washington, D. C., May 4, 1914.

Disclaims Huerta's Acts.

The reception of this memorandum and of Señor Zubaran by Secretary Bryan is regarded by the Constitutionalists as the entering wedge for an opportunity to the Constitutionalists to explain the friendly sentiments of that Mexican faction toward the United States and as a prelude toward an admonition that the unfriendly acts committed against Americans in Mexico have been inspired and engendered by the Huertista Government.

It is part of Señor Zubaran's mission to endeavor to persuade the United States Government that the Mexican people are not hostile toward the United States for what has been done at Vera Cruz, and that the demonstrations of hostility have either been committed by officials of the Huertista Government or have been the result of a hostile sentiment artificially created by agents of Huerta.

The memorandum not only pledges the Constitutionalists to refrain from acts of barbarity against Americans and foreigners who are neutrals, but sets up the claim that the Constitutionalists propose and are able to take care of "the international obligations of Mexico." From sources close to the confidential agency of the Constitutionalists in Washington it is announced that those charged with Gen. Carranza's diplomatic affairs have expressed an entire willingness to extend to the oil interests at Tampico full and complete guarantees of protection, once the Constitutionalist troops are in control of the situation.

It is also asserted in Constitutionalist circles here that American business men and others who have observed a neutral attitude may feel at entire liberty to return to Tampico with every assurance that they will receive the best of treatment at the hands of the authorities. Gen. Carranza's agents assert that whenever territory has been wrested from Huertista control by the Constitutionalists, either under Obregon, Villa, or Gonzales, Americans have received every consideration. In this connection the Constitutionalist agents pointed to a bulletin issued by the Navy Department to-day, which read:

"A dispatch from Admiral Howard, dated May 7, states that Gen. Obregon has agreed to the establishment of a neutral zone at Mazatlan and has stated that his forces will not injure foreigners, non-combatants, nor property. Admiral Howard understands that many Americans inside the Constitutionalist lines do not wish to come out, considering themselves safe."

Constitutionalist agents insist that Gen. Carranza has frequently expressed regret at the departure from Constitutionalist territory of so many American business men who feared the hostile attitude of Huerta might be accompanied by similar hostility throughout the northern States. Constitutionalists here deny this and are hoping that the Americans will return to their homes or places of business in Northern Mexico, asserting that they will receive adequate protection as set forth in Señor Zubaran's memorandum.

"Americans should not be misled in believing that in Constitutionalist territory there exists the slightest prejudice against them," said a man connected with the Constitutionalist agency to-night. "On the contrary, we want them to assist us in preparing for the great industrial awakening that will take place in Mexico as soon as our triumph is an accomplished fact."

Señor Zubaran has received this message from Gen. Carranza:

"The agent at Agua Prieta informs me that Douglas has determined not to suspend the operation of the mines in Cananea."

Douglas is in charge of the Montezuma Copper Company's mines in Cananea in the State of Sonora. The purpose of this dispatch was to show that Douglas was satisfied to remain in that region after it had come under the control of the Constitutionalists.

Garrison Getting the Transports Ready For Moving More Troops to Vera Cruz.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Secretary of War Garrison made public to-night the following statement:

"With respect to inquiries made about the chartering of transports, the facts are that I am endeavoring to gather at Galveston some ships which could be used to transfer the balance of the Second Division to Vera Cruz in case it is thought wise, in view of a proper precautionary attitude, to have them there.

"It is not contemplated to make any aggressive move and there is no change in the situation so far as hostilities are concerned.

"This is not prompted by any imminent situation or by any dispatches or information having any such character."

The Secretary said that he had arranged to charter six additional transports. With these, he said, there would be nine transports available for use of the army in transferring its forces from Galveston to Vera Cruz.

CHARTER MORE TRANSPORTS.

Orders from Washington Start New Activity in the Army.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, May 8.—Officers of the Second Division say they have received no orders for moving troops toward Mexico, but preparations go on just the same. To-day the Mallory liners Colorado and Denver were chartered by the Government. The San Marcos is still under charter as is the Satilla. These with the four transports now here make eight boats available for Government use. The transport McLellan goes to New Orleans to-morrow for a refrigeration plant so she can carry fresh beef.

Major Gen. J. F. Bell, who relieves Gen. Carter as commander of the Second Division, was to have had six months' leave of absence, but he arrived here to-night to assume active command.

All of the permanent camping paraphernalia of the Fifth Brigade is being placed on transports to be sent down to Vera Cruz. The officers and enlisted men of Texas City encampment have been storing their heavy baggage all day, and everything is in readiness to act on orders for an immediate embarkation. Should only one brigade be ordered out at first, that would be the Fourth, commanded by Col. R. L. Bullard.

The Denver arrived from New York this afternoon bringing about fifty enlisted men to fill out various companies and detachments. Several officers came on her to their commands, being recalled to their posts here. Every indication at camp is that a movement is expected soon.

The San Marcos returned t oport to-day bringing eleven passengers from Vera Cruz, all refugees. Among them were Joseph Medill Patterson of Chicago and Paul Davis, a Brooklyn newspaper correspondent. All are in quarantine until to-morrow. Mr. Davis was jailed at Saltillo and occupied the same cell with American Consul Silliman, who was still in jail when he was released aid came away.

Mr. Patterson says Vera Cruz is quiet but intimates that mediation will bear no fruit. He said that Huerta would be driven out by Villa and Carranza as soon as the United States withdrew and that the dictator would not submit to that fate.

BOSTON, May 8.—The steamer City of Memphis of the Savanah Line was chartered by the Government to-day and ordered to proceed immediately to New York. It is supposed that she is intended for transport service.

The City of Macon of the same line, now at New York, is said to be included in the charter.

The City of Memphis has been undergoing repairs, and was without a crew. She was manned hurriedly by drafting from other vessels, with Capt. Garfield of the Nacoochee of the Savannah Line in command.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 8.—The steamer Dorchester of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company has been requisitioned by the War Department for use as a transport to carry troops and munitions of war to Mexico. The steamer will be transferred to the Government at Norfolk to-morrow.

VERA CRUZ EXPECTS MORE MEN

Army Officers Want to Extend Lines to Guard Food and Water Supply.

By The Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—The military situation in Vera Cruz is unchanged so far as outward showing is concerned. There were various reports to-day of large bodies of Federal troops near the city, but these were characterized by Brig. Gen. Funston and other army officers as exaggerated.

The military officers are agreed that an extension of the American lines is desirable for the protection of the food and water supply of Vera Cruz. They desire the extension to embrace the district all about the city.

The orders from Washington that the lines be not extended has prevented any action being taken, but it is believed here the army officers are pressing the War Department for permission to broaden the lines, so as to make the military situation easier.

If Washington approves, the troops here will probably be increased for an extension of the lines, thus leaving the marine free for any calls from coast towns.

Gen. Gustavo Maass to-day released G. H. Coxon, manager of the Vera Cruz Street Railway Company, whom he had held prisoner at Soledad. Mr. Coxon, who is a British subject, arrived here to-day.

Several Mexicans, alleged snipers, arrested by the naval forces during the fighting and after its conclusion, will be tried by the military commission after it disposes of the cases of five South Americans whose trial has been set for Monday.

Even if the guilt of the South Americans is established, there is no disposition on the part of the judges to impose an extreme penalty. It is understood that the men are to be placed on trial more to establish the cause of their arrest, in case their Governments file claims against the United States.

The local newspapers publish prominently commendations of the American Administration's efforts for the restoration of order and the stimulation of business. There is great commercial activity everywhere, and this is a subject of gratification to the natives.

The work of reorganization is going steadily forward, so far as sanitary inspection, street cleaning, collection of back taxes, and the restoration of the fiscal system is concerned. With the arrival of more staff officers from Texas cities Gen. Funston will be equipped to do more municipal work.

A Mexican brought into the city to-day a report that Gen. Gustave Maass has put to death nineteen of the convicts he released from prison just before the Americans occupied Vera Cruz. Among the prisoners he released and armed to assist him in the defense of Vera Cruz were many well-known criminals. Since the Americans drove the Federals out of Vera Cruz these men have been robbing and killing people in the region not protected by the Mexicans or the Americans. Gen. Maass is said to have rounded up a band of the former prisoners and executed all of its members.

FIGHTING AT TAMPICO.

Desultory Firing Going On and Situation Continues to be Serious.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.
From a Staff Correspondent.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—The situation at Tampico under the rebel attack continues to be serious, according to reports that are received here. Desultory fighting went on during last night, although the heavy attacks on the city have ceased.

President Huerta is still unable to obtain oil from that district, so he is converting the locomotives, so that they can burn wood, felling trees in private and public forests to get fuel to operate the railway trains. The use of wood in this way has given good results thus far.

Mass will be celebrated Sunday in public on Mexican soil for the first time in more than half a century. This is for men of the United States forces. The Mexicans have not been invited to participate and their clergy have not been consulted.

The Fourth Artillery Band will play at the mass. This is in violation of all the laws of Mexico regarding religious observances, but it is not believed that this will cause any trouble.

The fact that Mexicans continue to constitute the majority of the refugees who are arriving from Mexico City is reported to be causing worry to the authorities here, who may possibly take action to prevent a further exodus of Mexican political refugees hither, in view of the scarcity of water, ice, and provisions, which is boosting prices.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 9.—this bulletin was issued by the Navy Department at 12:50 o'clock this morning:

"Admiral Badger cabled from Vera Cruz Friday night that he had had a dispatch from Admiral Mayo at Tampico, stating that there was some firing ashore during the day, but otherwise no new developments. Admiral Mayo stated that he was coaling ship at Lobos."

MEXICO TO END EMBARGO?

Capital Hears Order Stopping Trade with Us Will Be Revoked.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—It is understood that the Government has decided to revoke the order suspending commercial relations with the United States.

The exchange rate has been weakening for the past three weeks, owing, as explained in financial circles, to the lack of demand. To-day the exchange value of the Mexican peso was quoted at 36 cents gold as against 25 cents gold only a few weeks ago. There was a considerable volume of transactions to-day as persons, having remittances to make abroad thought it advisable to take advantage of the favorable prices. As a consequence of the demand the market closed firm.

HOW VERA CRUZ IS ORGANIZED.

Gen. Funston Reports the Make-Up of Departments and Officials.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The following dispatch was received by the War Department from Gen. Funston this evening:

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, May 8.—Following departments civil government organized and in full operation:

ARMS FOR HUERTA ON GERMAN SHIPS

One Shipment Probably Landed at Puerto Mexico Yesterday by Kronprinzessin Cecilie.

ANOTHER ON THE WAY

Badger Reports the Facts to Navy Department, but No Effort to Shut Out Supplies Is Made.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—One German ship, which is believed to have in her cargo arms and ammunition for Gen. Huerta, arived at Puerto Mexico yesterday, and another is on the way. Admiral Badger reported to the Navy Department to-night that the Kronprinzessin Cecilie had arrived at Puerto Mexico, but whether she had already landed her cargo was not stated. The other ship is the Bavaria, which is due in about two weeks.

At midnight the Navy Department issued this bulletin on the subject:

"On Wednesday the Navy Department was notified by the State Department that it had received information that the steamer Kronprinzessin Cecilie had sailed from Hamburg on April 14 and the steamer Bavaria on April 17 with consignments of ammunition.

"The Acting Secretary of the Navy at once notified Admiral Badger to keep a watch for these steamers and to report at once if he could locate them.

"On Thursday morning Admiral Badger wired that the Kronprinzessin Cecilie was then due at Puerto Mexico. On Thursday evening he wired that she would arrive Friday.

"The Bavaria is not due at Puerto Mexico for about two weeks."

If the Cecilie landed her cargo to-day a train was waiting at Puerto Mexico to take it to Mexico City. This was the train which had just arrived with 634 refugees from Mexico City. These were transferred to the chartered steamer Esperanza, which sailed at 10 o'clock this morning.

The train which took these 634 refugees from Mexico City to Puerto Mexico was delayed two days in its departure. The excuse for its delay, as stated in bulletins issued by the State and Navy Departments, was a lack of rolling stock at Mexico City. There is suspicion here now that the departure of this special refugee train was purposely delayed in order that the refugees might not arrive at Puerto Mexico until the Cecilie arrived, or was just about to arrive.

It was suggested that if the Navy Department had interfered with the landing of the cargo by seizing the Custom House the refugees would have been turned back and possibly held as hostages on the theory that the Americans had committed a new act of aggression against the Huerta Government, in alleged violation of the gentleman's understanding that there was to be a suspension of hostilities.

HUERTA VOWS HE WON'T QUIT.

Said to Have Stated He Would See the Capital in Ashes First.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Mexicans arriving to-day from Mexico City say that Gen. Huerta shows no indication of any intention to abandon the Presidency of Mexico. The President, they assert, is credited by the public with having made the statement that he would see the capital in ashes before he left it.

Rebels about the Federal capital, particularly the followers of Zapata, are continuing their campaign against the Huerta administration.

The quiet conditions in Mexico City are restoring confidence, and many Americans having interests in the capital are making short trips there to close up their affairs. Thus far there is no interruption to train service.

Americans traveling between the capital and Vera Cruz are impressed most by the solicitude of Huerta's officers for the safety of all foreigners, especially Americans. Those Americans who have homes in Mexico City or are in business there are permitted to pass the lines, but others are refused permission on the ground that they will merely add to the burdens of the Huerta Government in protecting them. The recent arrest of two Englishmen, who were subsequently released, called forth a reprimand of the Federal officers from President Huerta.

Reports from Mexico City say that refugees are moving freely from the capital toward Puerto Mexico. The shortage in the oil fuel supply will probably reduce the facilities of the railroad within a few days, and the Federals are expediting the movement of foreigners toward the coast.

SLAY TWO AMERICANS.

Federal Force Also Wounded Two in Attack at Cinco Mines.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 8.—Two Americans were killed and two seriously wounded while defending the Cinco Mines stamp mill near Guadalajara from an attacking force of Federals, according to a telegram received by H. E. Crawford from British Consul Percy Holmes to-day.

Crawford was driven from the home of a friend in Guadalajara during the recent anti-American demonstrations, and arrived here a few days ago on the German steamship Marie, with hundreds of other refugees.

No names were mentioned in the dispatch, which said that fifteen other Americans engaged in mining pursuits near Guadalajara had embarked for San Diego on the steamship Cetriana at Manzanillo. The Cinco Mines are among the largest in Mexico.

NEUTRAL ZONE AT MAZATLAN.

Rebels Promise to Respect Foreigners—News of Fall Awaited.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—News of the fall of Mazatlan, on the Mexican west coast, is hourly expected in Washington. Reports that this point had fallen into the hands of the Constitutionalists were circulated in Washington to-day, but lacked confirmation in Government circles. The confidential agents of the Constitutionalists also asserted that they had no confirmation of the report.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Commander-in-Chief of the Constitutionalist Army of the Northwest, aided by Gens. Cabral and Alvarado, are in command of the Constitutionalists operating around Mazatlan in the siege of that place. Gen. Lucio Blanco, who commands another wing of Gen. Obregon's army, is now operating a hundred miles south of Mazatlan, below Acapulco, which was captured with a large force of Federals early this week.

This bulletin was issued by Secretary Daniels to-day on the basis of a dispatch from Admiral Howard:

A dispatch from Admiral Howard, dated May 7, 1914, states that Gen. Obregon has agreed to the establishment of a neutral zone at Mazatlan and has stated that his forces will not injure foreigners, non-combatants, or property. Admiral Howard understands that many Americans inside the Constitutionalists lines do not wish to come out, considering themselves safe.

Huerta has issued orders that no American vessel can clear at a Mexican port. If the Pacific Mail steamer goes to Mazatlan, Admiral Howard will give them a letter to the customs authorities at San Francisco stating so. No Mexican vessels are allowed to clear for the United States, thereby stopping all trade.

Admiral Howard's statement, that Huerta has issued orders that no American vessel can clear at a Mexican port, fits in with and is corroborative of a dispatch received from Admiral Badger on May 5 in which he told the department he had word from the destroyer Drayton at Tuxpam that the Territorial Minister had ordered the customs officer not to clear or enter any vessel from or to American ports, and that it was his understanding that this order had been given to all the ports on the Mexican east coast. The same action now appears to have been taken by Gen. Huerta on the Pacific coast, in an effort to stop all trade between Mexican ports and the United States

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The gunboat Vicksburg sailed from here to-day for Mazatlan, Mexico, to join the Pacific fleet.

ZAPATA TAKES CUERNAVACA.

Town 40 Miles from Capital Had Been Weakly Guarded.

VERA CRUZ, May 8.—Reports of rebel victories continue to reach Vera Cruz. It was reported to-day that Emiliano Zapata had taken Cuernavaca, the capital of the State of Morelos, which is within forty miles of Mexico City. Close observers of the situation say, however, that Zapata could have taken it any time, as it always has been garrisoned by a weak force, and only a slight attempt has been made to defend it.

The reports of rebel successes are still being suppressed in the capital, and few persons there know of Villa's steady approach from the north.

SENDS 150 SAILORS HOME.

Badger Detaches Short-Time Men from Vera Cruz Force.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A wireless dispatch received at the Navy Department to-day from the cruiser Montana announced that she was bringing home to the New York Yard 150 enlisted men of the Atlantic fleet whose enlistments were soon to expire.

Rear Admiral Badger decided that it was the better plan to send these men home now rather than hold them in the service indefinitely in the face of the contingency that active operations might interfere with a prompt release at the expiration of their enlistment periods.

RELEASE MANY REFUGEES.

Monterey's 623 Passengers Leave New Orleans for Their Homes.

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—Refugees from Mexico City, who were brought here by the Monterey, began leaving for their homes in various parts of the country. In all 623 came to the city last night from Quarantine, where the Monterey had been since Sunday.

The collier Cyclops with fifty-two refugees from Tampico aboard took the place of the Monterey at quarantine.

Alphonse J. Lespinosse, American Consul at Frontera, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Vincenzo di Giorgio. He will remain here awaiting orders from Washington.

SENATE EULOGY TO DEAD.

Mr. Lewis Pays a Tribute to the Men Who Fell at Vera Cruz.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Vice-President Marshall to-day appointed a committee of seven Senators to join a similar committee of twenty-one members of the House to represent Congress at the momerial exercises in Brooklyn on Monday in honor of the Americans killed at Vera Cruz. The Senators are Mr. Robinson of Arkansas, Mr. Saulsbury of Delaware, Mr. O'Gorman of New York, Mr. Vardaman of Mississippi, Mr. Gallinger of New Hampshire, Mr. Kenyon of Iowa, and Mr. Brady of Idaho.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois to-day addressed the Senate in eulogy of the men who were killed at Vera Cruz.

"In loftiness of soul, but in humility of duty," said Mr. Lewis, "they consecrated their lives to the honor of their flag and to the glory of their nation. At the command they stepped out and forward, and with face to the foe fell in death. Behold them; the first four completing the ever-present mystic square, personifying all:

"Daniel A. Haggerty, an Irishman, a descendant of those who marched with Patrick Cleburne from the South and Phil Sheridan from the North.

"John Schumacher, the German, the descendant of those who fought for us under Steuben.

"George Poinsett, of the generation of those who marched with La Fayette.

"Samuel Meisenberg, the Jew, the child of a people without a country, but now a son saluted by every nation.

"As the stately ship bearing their silent forms turned toward the motherland, she greeted the dipped colors of the nations of the earth, paying the tribute of worship which honor and courage ever pays to the noble purposes and sublime uses of faithful lives.

"Nor monarchs nor kings ever had nobler tribute in death than these humble and valiant dead. The salutations of the powerful of earth, sanctified by the requiem of the moaning waves and sweetened by the lullaby of the sighing winds, consecrated the grandeur of their sublime homecoming.

"We call to the watching world to attest to the civilization of men the attachment of America for her children and the praise and triumph she ever pays to the hero who serves her cause. So to-day from this Senate we send to the sad ones who await their beloved dead our tribute of sublime sorrow, as we certify to civilization that these who have served fulfilled the complete measure of men; they lived for men, gave service to God, and died for country. May their souls rest in heaven."

FRENCH DISAVOW HOSTILITY TO US

Le Temps, Government Organ, Is Almost Laudatory of Wilson.

GIL BLAS CRITICISES HIM

But Explains That It Opposes His Methods, Not His Ends—Government Quiescent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 8.—The French Government is still following the "hands-off" policy in regard to the Mexican imbroglio, although the press is considerably stirred up over Jules Hedeman's daily defense of America and President Wilson in Le Matin.

So far as THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is able to learn from authoritative sources, no communication has been made at the Foreign Office on the subject of the "A B C" efforts beyond the transmission of notes by Ambassador Herrick showing the course of diplomatic events; nor has any communication been sent by the Foreign Office to the French Ambassador in Washington.

Le Temps, which generally reflects the attitude of the Foreign Office, swung about this week from a position favorable to Mexico almost to laudation of President Wilson's Administration for its acceptance of the "A B C's" offer of good offices. It says:

"Its ready acceptance by the United States is an indication of American good faith and shows the abandonment of the policy of the 'big stick' in favor of more temperate counsels. It augurs well for peace in the New World, and is viewed with sympathy by us."

Gil Blas, which is a strong Government organ, now disavows any hostility toward the American people, explains its position under the head "Why Is the French Press Hostile to Mr. Wilson?" and says:

"Simply because on several occasions he has behaved in a contradictory manner, indicating a want of connection between his actions and the reasons he offers for them.

"For instance, he refuses to recognize Huerta, the murderer of Madero, as President. Very good. But a little later we see him, the avowed foe of Huerta the bloody handed, warmly supporting Villa, who is covered from head to foot with blood.

"That is what we cannot understand. He supports Villa and Carranza openly, allows weapons and money to go to them, and congratulates them on victory. He professes that he does so in the interests of a stable government. But does he for one moment suppose that if they succeed in ousting Huerta they will not at once be at each other's throats in a death struggle for supremacy—a struggle which, it is asserted, has already begun?

"We agree with The Spectator, which says: 'Let us hope President Wilson will abandon the pursuit of phantoms and either hold his tongue or let Mexico govern itself; or, if he wants war, wage war systematically, with a view to the occupation of the entire country.'

"What we at present criticise is his methods, not his ends. No doubt a free and happily self-governed Mexico is what we most wish to see, but if that be impossible, we would be glad to see the United States restore order by force—first, because civilization is better than barbarism; secondly, because French interests will be better protected by the strong hand of America.

"But let President Wilson realize that his support of the bandits and revolutionaries will produce neither Mexican self-government nor pacification by the United States. At present he is simply wasting time."

DELEGATES VIA KEY WEST.

Huerta Appointees Will Take Steamer at Vera Cruz for Havana.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 8.—The Mexican peace delegates will take passage on the steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie of the Hamburg-American Line at the Port of Vera Cruz for Havana, and will transship at Havana for Key West.

The Kronprinzessin Cecilie's advertised date of departure from Vera Cruz is Monday, but she may get away on Sunday.

The delegates will depart from this city for Vera Cruz to-morrow morning.

When the appointments of the three men came before the Senate to-day they were approved amid general applause.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, May 9.—This announcement was made by the State Department this morning:

"The mediators received word from Gen. Huerta to-night that his representatives for the Niagara Falls Conference would leave to-morrow by way of Vera Cruz."

CANADA TO GREET ENVOYS.

May Provide Guard of Honor for Mediators at Niagara Falls.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 8.—The Canadian Government is planning the reception and entertainment to be tendered to South American and other representatives who are coming to Niagara Falls to discuss mediation between the United States and Mexico. While the envoys are not coming here at the invitation of the Candian Government, it is deemed only proper that they should receive a generous welcome.

It is understood that a formal welcome will be extended to the visitors by some member of the Government, who will go to Niagara Falls for that purpose, and that a guard of honor will be detailed probably from the Toronto and Hamilton regiments. It is also understood that the envoys will be invited to visit the principal cities of Canada as the guests of the nation.

HAS $3,000,000 IN COTTON.

Villa Captured It, and Spain Thinks We Are Responsible for It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Spanish and British Governments are concerned over cotton valued at $3,000,000 belonging to their subjects in Mexico, which was seized by Gen. Villa. Cotton belonging to German subjects is also said to be in Villa's possession. Arrangements have been made by the governments concerned to attach the cotton if it is sent through the United States in bond. Villa knows this and it is reported has the cotton ready to send by train to Tampico as soon as the Constitutionalists capture that port. From Tampico it will be sold or sent to foreign markets for sale.

The matter of the responsibility of the United States Government in protecting the cotton which belongs to Spanish subjects was brought to the attention of the State Department by the Spanish Ambassador. The assertion that this Government is responsible is based on copies of a proclamation issued at Torreon by J. M. Ulmer, the United States Consular Agent there, in which he said that Spanish property was under American protection. The proclamation was posted on places of business and the residences of Spaniards. The Spanish Ambassador gave to Mr. Bryan a copy of the proclamation, which follows:

I, J. M. Ulmer, Consular Agent of the United States of America in Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, certify and make known that this property belongs to a Spanish subject and therefore is under the immediate protection of this Consular Agency as representative of the American Government.

In order that the responsibility assumed may be known, I must furthermore give notice that my Government will hold all strictly and personally responsible for any injury done to the Spaniards and for damages to Spanish property.

Given in this City of Torreon the 31st day of March, 1914.

(Signed) J. M. ULMER,
Consular Agent of the United States of America.

Secretary Bryan told the Ambassador that Consular Agent Ulmer had no authority to issue the proclamation. It is said, however, that the act of Ulmer has not been repudiated and that there has been no public disavowal by the State Department of responsibility for the property of Spaniards at Torreon.

HOLD REBEL PAYMASTER.

American Patrol Seizes Him on This Side of the Rio Grande.

LAREDO, Texas, May 8.—Major Manuel Caballero, Paymaster of the Constitutionalist Army of the Rio Grande, was captured below Laredo today by the United States Border Patrol and interned at Fort McIntosh. He had a large amount of ammunition and Mexican money he was delivering to rebel soldiers.

The Paymaster was journeying up the American side and crossing the border where there were garrisons to be paid. The patrol considered this a violation of the neutrality laws.

TAMPICO PROTEST NOW IN THE SENATE

Refugees in Galveston Condemn Policy of State and Navy Departments.

NEEDED ONLY ONE GUNBOAT

Committee Which Saw Bryan May Take Its Case to Congress—Complaint to Secretary Daniels.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The most vivid account that has come to Washington of the stormy days at Tampico following the American occupation of Vera Cruz was presented by the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate this morning in the form of a memorial from several hundred American refugees quarantined on the Connecticut at Galveston.

The refugees expressed the bitterest condemnation of the policy of the State and Navy Departments in forcing them to leave their homes and property in Tampico without protection.

The refugees said that if the American warships off Tampico had not been withdrawn on April 21 the riots that broke out against Americans in the city would never have occurred. As it was, the refugees were ordered by American Consul Miller to seek refuge on the British and German ships, and by them were transferred to the American squadron off shore. The refugees said they had been subjected to assault and their wives insulted by the Mexican mob, when the American ships could easily have protected them.

The refugees said they felt only gratitude to Rear Admiral Mayo and his officers and men, as they did all their instructions permitted for their compatriots ashore. They were also grateful to the British and German naval contingent. But the policy of the Administration made the good conduct of the sailors, they said, of little avail for the protection of American citizens.

The Protest to the Senate.

The memorial, which was under date of April 26, and was signed by E. A. Williams of Texas, Chairman; W. H. Haynes, J. B. Wood, and about 200 others, said in part:

On the morning of the 21st of the present month Consul Miller received advice that the gunboats of Admiral Mayo's command had been ordered out of the port of Tampico by the American Government and were to leave within one hour. No intimation was given to the American residents of any danger whatsoever. While we considered the leaving of the gunboats at that time rather extraordinary, due to the fact that we had always had some gunboat in the harbor for some months, still no uneasiness was felt.

In the afternoon rumors became insistent upon the streets that the American forces were landing in Vera Cruz. About 2:30 in the afternoon an official bulletin was posted at the Municipal Palace advising the Mexicans that the American forces had landed at Vera Cruz and appealing to them to take up arms and defend their country. As Consul Miller had not received any official advice the Americans still believed the report from Vera Cruz to be groundless; nevertheless they realized the gravity of the situation. Volunteers were assembling, arms and ammunition were being distributed by the Mexican authorities, and armed Mexicans were running in every direction in the city. Word was sent to Americans to assemble at central places. No time had been given for any preparation. The Mexican authorities were constantly searching every place owned by Americans for arms and ammunition, and the few arms left in the possession of Americans were only those that had not been found.

After dark manifestations were made in the shape of street parades, principally composed of the rabble and young men yelling "Viva Huerta" and "Death to the Gringoes." As they proceeded the numbers increased. Stones were thrown, bricks striking two Americans at the Southern Hotel. The Captain of the German war vessels advised Gen. Zaragoza, commander of the port, that the mob must be dispersed, and the mob was immediately dispersed.

Two hours later another mob appeared, filling both streets in front of the Southern Hotel, having been incited by incendiary anti-American speeches by prominent Mexican lawyers and doctors at the Plaza Libertad. These speeches were continued in front of the Southern Hotel for fully a half hour, when the mob made an attack and attempted to batter down the front doors of the hotel, in which were assembled more than a hundred American men, women, and children, only thirty of whom had arms. There were Mexican soldiers in the outskirts of the crowds, with their guns pointed toward the upper stories of the hotel, and they made no effort whatever to stop the marauders.

Police Arrive Too Late.

An insistent demand was made that the American flag be taken down from the building, which was refused. When their shouts of "Death to the Gringoes" and "Down with the flag" became more and more vociferous, the Jefe de Armas had been notified by telephone of the gathering of the mob, but the police detachment that came to disperse the crowd and preserve order arrived after all the damage was done. Similar hostile demonstrations were made at other places where Americans were congregated.

On the following morning, realizing the gravity of the situation and our utter helplessness, we appealed to the American Consul to know what was to be done. He informed us that at the request of Admiral Mayo the German and English gunboats in the harbor would receive all the Americans and transport them to the American warships at anchor in the Gulf, a distance of nine miles from Tampico. While going through the streets to the docks to take refuge on board these foreign ships Americans were hissed and their women insulted by unspeakable names and epithets by all classes of Mexicans. We were informed by the Captains of the English and German boats that we could only be taken under their flag and the protection of their Governments and in that way we were placed in safety aboard the American warships.

In all from Tampico there were over 2,500 American men, women and children who have been forced to leave their homes and business for the lack of adequate protection from our Government. Had one American gunboat been allowed to remain it is believed there would not have been any active demonstration or attempt to destroy American property, notwithstanding the bitter feelings toward Americans.

Fears for Those Remaining.

There are fully 300 American women, children, and men still in the territory tributary to Tampico. We fear greatly that if they have not already been murdered their lives are in gravest danger.

It is impossible to estimate the value of business and property which have been abandoned by the 2,500 Americans who were forced to leave this part of Mexico to be concentrated in Texas ports.

Since Tampico and the adjacent vicinity is the only district in Mexico which has been practically undisturbed in the republic during the three years' revolution, we cannot help but feel that conditions making our exodus compulsory were brought about solely by the fact that our Government failed to give us adequate protection at the critical moment.

We desire to extend our heartfelt gratitude to the German and British war vessels in the port of Tampico for their invaluable services to us in time of dire need and we trust that their Governments will give them merited recognition for their praiseworthy and humanitarian acts.

We likewise express to Admiral Mayo and his command, both officers and men, our gratitude for their unfailing courtesy and the able and courteous manner in which the multitude of refugees were handled without friction. After having been thrown in intimate relationship with the boys of our navy we admire more than ever before their patriotic spirit and loyal devotion to our country. We know that if our Government places our future in their hands we can feel the greatest confidence in the maner in which they will carry out their trust.

The American refugees from Tampico, who called on Secretary Daniels yesterday with a complaint of their treatment, will possibly take the case before Congress. They issued this statement to-night:

The American refugees recently landed at Galveston have not been and are so totally in the dark touching the late action of the United States Government in withdrawing the protection hitherto accorded the Americans in Mexico that they wish if possible to get in touch with the powers that be.

They selected a delegation to come to Washington in their behalf. This delegation comprises all those who could arrange to come here; it is headed by a committee authorized to speak for those who could not come themselves.

The committee consists of W. E. Lucas, W. M. Hansen, L. M. Fouts, Jr., Dr. W. M. Turner, and J. B. Wood. These gentlemen have lived in Mexico for periods ranging from fourteen to twenty-five years, and are thoroughly conversant with the situation.

They are assisted by other members of the delegation, Americans whose residence in Tampico is of shorter duration but who are quite as conversant with recent happenings, and who are Messrs. A. H. Buchnell, H. W. Dixon, Hugh C. Curran, A. H. Gibson, W. H. Zahniser, Col. Timothy Spellacy, Thomas A. O'Donnell, S. B. Cochran, and George Davidson.

DENY LOSS OF OIL LEASES.

Operators' Committee Also Say No Group Is Taking Sides in Mexico.

The committee of five appointed by the Mexican oil interests, which were represented at the meeting held Thursday night at the Rocky Mountain Club, gave out the following statement yesterday:

The press has to-day published articles saying that the Americans were losing oil leases and that Huerta was transferring abandoned property to the Britishers. The chairman of the committee and those at the meeting of the allied oil interests last night specifically stated tnat there were no grounds whatsoever for the statement that out of the chaotic conditions in the Mexican oil field English or other interests were taking advantage of the situation to acquire further property at the expense of the American oil owners.

Further, the committee desire that emphatic statements be made corroborating the address made by Percy N. Furber at the meeting on behalf of the Lord Cowdrey interests, during which he stated that there was no attempt being made by the Pearson oil interests to secure additional concessions from the Huerta Government or from other governments for any additional rights in the oil fields.

The committee, which is composed entirely of men representing American oil interests, desire to reiterate what was stated last night—that within their knowledge there is no attempt upon the part of any company to secure concessions of any kind or description, that the Mexican Government has no land within the oil district, and the reports are absolutely groundless that any group of oil men, interested in Mexico, are back of either one of the contending forces, Constitutionalists or Federals.

Great harm has been done throughout the country by the statements that the present warfare in Mexico had some relation to the activities of Standard Oil companies and the Lord Cowdrey interest. This committee, in its capacity of representing companies controlled by Standard Oil, British and Dutch interests, is in a position to deny emphatically that any oil interests are involved in such activities.

The committee appointed at the meeting have addressed a letter to President Wilson, asking a telegraphic reply naming an hour for an appointment to present their resolutions and request definite protection in Tampico.

The members of the committee are: Richmond Levering, President of Richmond Levering & Co., New York City; George S. Davison, President of the Gulf Refining Company, Pittsburgh; W. A. Thompson, Vice-President of the Texas Company, New York City; Thomas A. O'Donnell, Director of Mexican Petroleum Company, Los Angeles; Joseph Trees, President of Penn-Mexican Fuel Company, Pittsburgh.

REFUSE TO PAY RANSOM.

Cattlemen Appeal to Carranza and Bryan Against Bandits.

EL PASO, Texas, May 8.—The demand of Gen. Rodrigo Quevedo that three large American cattle companies give him sums aggregating $10,000 under threat that he would destroy the windmills on their land has not been complied with. When the time limit fixed by Quevedo expired at sundown to-night the money had not been left, as he directed, at a lonely hacienda near Nogales, Ariz.

Instead the three companies, Palomas Land and Cattle Company, The Corralitos Cattle Company, and the San Pedro Cattle Company, have made pressing appals for protection to Gen. Villa, Gen. Carranza, and W. J. Bryan, American Secretary of State. It is estimated that if the windmills are destroyed $1,000,000 worth of cattle would die of thirst within a week.

Quevedo formerly was a Brigadier General in the Mexican Regular Army, and still is said to maintain a nominal allegiance to Huerta. When Chihuahua passed into possession of the Constitutionalists it is said he escaped across the border, where he recruited a band of Federal deserters and refugees and led them back into Chihuahua. He has raided ranches as far south as Aguascalientes, and also is said to have run off stock from this side of the line.

PREDICTS QUICK VICTORY.

Carranza's Counsel Sees Bryan—To Open Coal Mines.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Charles A. Douglass, counsel for Gen. Carranza, called on Secretary Bryan to-day and gave him information concerning the chances for an early capture of Tampico by the Constitutionalist forces. Mr. Douglass said he had told Mr. Bryan that his reports indicated that the Constitutionalist Army would be in possession of Tampico within three or four days, and, further, that Americans in the vicinity were satisfied with the protection the Constitutionalists had afforded.

Gen. Carranza to-day notified Rafael Zubaran, his Minister of the Interior, at present representing his interests in Washington, that he had issued instructions to his military chieftains to pursue with the utmost vigor the campaigns against the Federal forces at Tampico and Mazatlan.

EL PASO, Texas, May 8.—Gen. Carranza, according to an announcement to-day, has ordered Rafael Musquiz, Sr., who has been appointed to establish civil governments in the towns throughout Coahuila to make preparations to open the coal mines of the State.

These mines include the Rescondido, Rosita, Pasitos, Phoenix, and Palau. Americans are interested in several of these properties.

Gen. Francisco Murgia is making preparations to attack Monclova, which has been seized by about 400 Federals who fled from Piedras Negras. Gen. Murgia's force consists of about 1,200 men. Monclova is the only town except Saltillo held by the Federals in Coahuila.

TORREON, Mexico, May 8.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza, first chief of the Constitutionalists, arrived here to-day with his staff, and established his temporary capital. Among those in the party were Gen. Maclovio Herrera, Gen. Tomas Urbina, and Gen. Manuel Chao.

Gen. Villa met Gen. Carranza at the station, and escorted the party to his residence here.

NEW YORK MILITIA FOR TEXAS BORDER

War Department Will Propose This Move to the President To-day.

WILL NAME FOUR STATES

Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Michigan the Others—To Replace Regulars on Patrol.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—A plan for the mobilization of State military organizations on the Mexican boundary will be presented to President Wilson by War Department officials to-morrow. This plan contemplates the immediate use of these organizations for border patrol duty, thus leaving the regular troops there free for war service in Mexico. War Department officials who propose this plan contend that it can be carried out without conflicting with the Federal constitution or laws.

The plan provides for the utilization of crack National Guard organizations of the Northeast States—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Michigan. Details are not disclosed, and plans are not forthcoming as to what the President's disposition toward it will be.

16,000 READY, SAYS GLYNN.

But It Is Denied That He Received Special Word from Washington.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 8.—"New York can have 16,000 men ready for service in forty-eight hours," was the only comment Gov. Glynn would make on the report that the War Department had communicated with him by telephone today.

It was denied at the Executive Chamber that Gov. Glynn had talked on the distance telephone to-day with Secretary Garrison or any one else in Washington. The Governor had not been invited to go or send any one to Washington for a conference on the Mexican situation. If the Governor is asked, he will go and take with him Adjt. Gen. Hamilton and Major Gen. O'Ryan.

Adjt. Gen. Hamilton, the administrative head of the National Guard, said to-day that all officers of the militia were under orders to be within call of headquarters.

"My information is," he said, "that within five minutes after the arrival of a call for the mobilization of the Guard, practically every officer and man would be on his way to his armory.

"It would be a matter of only a few hours," he added, "until the entire strength of the State militia could be mobilized and ready for transportation."

A bill intended to authorize the Governor to order the State Controller to negotiate a loan not exceeding $100,000 for the use of the National Guard was introduced in both houses of the Legislature to-day by Senator Frawley and Assemblyman Smith, the Democratic leaders of the respective bodies. The bill would permit the Governor to order the loan whenever "it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Governor that on account of war, either in actual progress or impending, between the United States and a foreign enemy, it is necessary or advisable for the National Guard to be in a state of preparedness." The measure was referred to committees without comment.

EXPECT ACTIVE SERVICE.

Pennsylvania Has Completed Plans for Mobilization.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—The National Guard of Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio may soon see active service, according to news from Washington. It is said that Gov. Tener of Pennsylvania, Gov. Glynn of New York, and Gov. Cox of Ohio were called on the long-distance telephone from the War Department and asked how long it would take to have their troops mobilized and ready to move to transports.

In all the discussion over the possibility of the Guard's being ordered out, this is the first direct intimation of their being sent out of the State at once. All the plans that have been made, looking to service in case of war with Mexico, have contemplated the usual procedure of mobilization within the State, recruting to war strength and then moving to a Federal concentration camp outside the State.

Gov. Tener said that the Pennsylvania guard was ready to move "at an instant's notice," but would not admit having received a telephone message from Washington.

GUARD HERE AROUSED.

Funston's Call for Men Thought to Mean Active Service.

Lieut. Col. R. Foster Walton, Divisional Adjutant General of the National Guard, said yesterday that no order had ben received from the War Department about calling the National Guard into active service. The officers, however, believe that as Gen. Funston has called for more men the President will issue a call for volunters. For this reason there was a quickening of activities yesterday, and this followed an inquiry from the War Department as to how long it would take for the mobilization of the militia. It has also ben known that for several days the Quartermaster's department has been making inquiries as to vessels available for transports and looking up charters, even carrying the inquiries to England.

This State can put an entire army division in the field should the call come. Col. Walton said yesterday that the present force could be got ready within forty-eight hours. He added that if it was required to recruit the trops to a war strength the length of time required could not be estimated.

The division in this State at present numbers 16,665 men, moble troops exclusive of 1,500 coast artillery and the naval militia. In the event of hostilities the complement would be 30,600 men. This would include thirteen regiments of infantry, a regiment of cavalry with thirteen troops, two detachments of field artillery, hospital corps with four ambulance companies and signal corps.

The First Battalion of the New York Naval Militia, with headquarters on the Granite State, numbers 650 men. The war strength allowed for the eight companies 's 800 men. The Second Battalion, with headquarters in Brooklyn, has 425 men at present.

In calling for volunteers the President will ask the Governor to furnish a certain number of men. This number will, of course, include the militia. If there are not enough in the ranks to make up the number New York State is asked to furnish, the regiments will be recruited at once to war strength.

Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, commanding the State Militia, is in Washington attending the War College. It has always been believed by the army men tnat New York State would be one of the first called upon to furnish volunteers.

NEEDS ONLY A FEW HOURS.

Ohio National Guard Prepared for Washington Orders.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 8.—Neither Gov. Cox nor Adj. Gen. Wood would admit to-day that they had received any messages from the War Department concerning possible early mobilization of the Ohio National Guard.

Gov. Cox said he had not received any information which indicated that the Ohio troops might be called for soon. Gen. Wood said that the National Guard could be mobilized within a few hours, but that no special preparations were being made.

NAVY DEAD WILL LIE GUARDED AT BATTERY

Bodies Will Be Brought Ashore To-morrow Afternoon and Placed on Caissons.

HIGH HONOR BY PRESIDENT

Will Ride in the Procession to the Navy Yard—Navy Makes Final Plans.

The final arrangements were made yesterday for the funeral ceremony on Monday of the seventeen sailors and marines of the United States Navy who perished in the taking of Vera Cruz. The cruiser Montana, which is bringing the bodies home, is due on Sunday afternoon. The battleship Wyoming and the cruiser Tennessee will leave the Brooklyn Navy Yard on Sunday morning and meet the Montana outside Sandy Hook, and, with the yacht Mayflower, having on board Secretary of the Navy Daniels, various officers and invited guests, convoy the Montana into port. The seventeen bodies will be brought ashore at Pier A on Sunday afternoon. They will be placed on caissons, which will be parked on the south side of the plaza. They will remain there until Monday morning.

The funeral procession will leave Pier A at 9 o'clock in the morning. The route of the procession will be up Broadway, to City Hall Plaza, across the Plaza to Park Row, thence up Centre Street to Canal, to the Manhattan Bridge. In Brooklyn it will turn into Nassau Street, into Flushing Avenue, and will enter the navy yard at the Marine Barracks gate.

President Wilson announced last night that he would go to Pier A on Monday morning, and would ride in the procession to the navy yard. This is the official programme of the exercises contained in an order issued by the Navy Department:

The Order of Exercises.

I.—The funeral ceremony for the sailors and marines who fell at Vera Cruz, Mexico, will be held on Monday, the 11th inst., at 11 A. M., at the parade ground of the Marine Barracks at the Navy Yard, New York.

II.—The President of the United States will meet the bodies at the Battery.

III.—The Mayflower, with the Secretary of the Navy and his staff, will anchor off the Battery late Sunday afternoon, May 10. The Secretary will land at the Battery on Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock.

IV.—The bodies will be transported in the U. S. tug Traffic and the city tug Correction, and will be landed at Pier A Sunday afternoon.

V.—The procession will start promptly at 9 o'clock Monday.

VI.—The Wyoming's battalion will be landed in their own boats at the float in the basin to the eastward of Pier A, North River, and will form on the plaza facing to the south, with their right to the westward. The battalion from the Texas will embark at the Navy Yard in tugs at 7 A. M. sharp; will be taken to the Battery, and will form in rear of the Wyoming's battalion. The Naval Militia battalion will form in rear of the Texas' battalion. The Spanish War Veterans and other civilian bodies who have requested the privilege of assisting have been referred to the Mayor of the City of New York, with the recommendation that they be permitted to form a guard of honor at the plaza to the southward of City Hall.

VII.—The bodies will be landed from the Montana at Pier A Sunday afternoon, and will then be placed on caissons, which will be parked on the south side of the plaza, guarded by a detachment from the U. S. S. Montana. Carriages for distinguished officials, both civic, State, and National, will be parked on the south side of Battery Place.

The procession will start promptly at 9 o'clock in the following order:

Platoon of mounted police, combined bands, Wyoming's battalion, Texas' battalion, Naval Militia Band, Naval Militia battalion, caissons with the bodies, the body-bearers, carriages, rear guard of mounted police.

VIII.—The line of march will be through Battery Place, up Broadway, across City Hall Plaza, (where a brief halt will be made to enable the school children of New York to sing a hymn,) up Centre Street to Canal Street, across the Manhattan Bridge, through Nassau Street, down Flushing Avenue, and through the marine gate to the Marine Parade Grounds.

IX.—The Wyoming's battalion will form in line in front of the barracks, facing north. The Texas battalion will form immediately behind them. The Naval Militia battalion will mass on the left of the Wyoming's battalion, facing east. The combined bands will form on the right of the battalions, facing west.

X.—The caissons and body bearers, upon arrival at the parade grounds, will proceed to a position in front of the stand, passing around the right of the troops. The caskets will be removed and placed on the trestles.

XI.—The firing squad and bugler will be furnished by the Texas. Officers will wear the customary badges of mourning. The uniform for officers attending, not attached to the escort, will be special full dress.

XII.—Carriages will enter the yard through the Flushing Avenue gate, go up Sixth Street, drop their passengers, and park either on Sixth Street, Pauling Avenue, or in the open space to the northeastward of building No. 63C, Machinery Building.

XIII.—Pedestrians will enter the yard through the marine officers' gate, and will be directed to the parade grounds by a detail of men from the electrical class.

XIV.—Only those ptrsons especially invited will be permitted to occupy places on the platform.

The order of the exercists will be as follows:

1. Music by the band.
2. Opening prayer by Chaplain William G. Cassard, U. S. N.
3. President's address.
4. Prayer by Rabbi Wise.
5. Benediction by the Very Rev. John P. Chidwick.
6. Taps.

XV.—Members of the Congressional Committee will enter by the Sands Street gate and will proceed to the parade ground direct.

Flowers to Garland Caissons.

Many flowers are to be sent to Pier A while the bodies of the navy's dead rest on the caissons. Mayor Mitchel ordered yesterday that a great wreath be placed before the caissons. It will be the city's tribute.

A delegation of the Georgia Society, headed by David Robinson, will go to Pier A early on Monday morning and place upon the caisson containing the body of Randolph Summerlin of Willacoochee, Ga., a laurel wreath. In the delegation will be John H. Gress, President of the society; David Robinson, James E. Graybill, J. F. Allen, D. W. Aiken, Capt. J. W. Woolfolk, Robert Adamson, Fire Commissioner; William Harman Black, Theodore Rousseau, Secretary to Mayor Mitchel; Percy C. Magnus, and E. E. Malcolm.

Secretary Rousseau said yesterday that it had been found impossible to assign space on the City Hall Plaza to many organizations which wish to take part in the exercises and therefore the committee asked that all organizations which desired to have some representation at the Plaza notify Mr. Rousseau before noon to-day.

Mayor Mitchel made the request yesterday that between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock on Monday morning, while the bodies are being carried through the streets, all church bells in the city be tolled. He also asked that flags on all private buildings be put at half mast on Monday.

Gen. Horace Porter, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee, has appointed this committee to meet the bodies at Pier A: Nicholas Murray Butler, Joseph H. Choate, R. Fulton Cutting, A. Barton Hepburn, Seth Low, J. P. Morgan, Gen. Anson G. McCook, H. Fairfield Osborn, Dr. St. Clair McKelway and Isaac N. Seligman.

Chief Flynn of the Secret Service went to the Navy Yard yesterday to make arrangements for the protection of the President while he is attending the ceremonies. Capt. Gleaves, Commandant of the yard, announced that the services would be open to the general public, but that all gates would be closed during the exercises. Arrangements have been made to have one moving-picture machine inside the Navy Yard during the exercises. The Sands Street gate will be closed. Automobiles and other vehicles will enter the Flushing Avenue gate.

Lieut. Commander Cyrus R. Miller will be in charge of the detail of men in the procession from the Wyoming and Lieut. Commander J. W. Timmons will command the men from the Texas. There probably will be 600 men in the naval detail and about 300 Naval Militiamen. In the carriages following the naval battalion in the procession will be:

The President, the Special Congressional Committee, the Secretary of the Navy and party, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the Mayor of New York City, Gov. Glynn and Staff, and Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Grayson. The Aldermanic and Citizens' Committee also will be in line.

The President is entitled to a salute of twenty-one guns upon entering and leaving the yard, and these salutes will be fired unless the President gives special orders to the contrary.

Memorial services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the building of the Naval Young Men's Christian Association, 167 Sands Street. They will begin at 4:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by the Rev. J. F. Carson.

The association will pay tribute to John F. Schumacher, coxswain, who was well known to many members.

WASHINGTON, May 8. — Secretary Daniels and a party of Navy Department officials aboard the Presidential yacht Mayflower started down the Potomac late to-night to meet at the Virginia Capes the cruiser Montana. The Mayflower will reach Hampton Roads early to-morrow, and probably soon afterward will join the Montana, which tonight was steaming northward from Hatteras.

The two vessels will proceed to New York, anchoring Sunday afternoon off the Battery.

In Secretary Daniels's party on the Mayflower are Rear Admiral Fiske, Major Gen. Barnett, Surgeon Gen. Braisted, Lieut. Commander Jones, the Secretary's aid, and the Secretary's confidential clerk, Frank Smith.

President Wilson will leave for New York by train on Sunday night, and the Congressional delegation will reach New York early on Monday morning.

DIDN'T WANT TO COME HERE.

Refugees Complain of Being Shanghaied by Rescue Ships.

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, May 8.—Many of the refugees who have arrived here from Tuxpam and Tampico say that they were shanghaied by the United States Government and taken away from the Mexican Coast when they did not want to come. Most of them were workers in the oil fields, some British subjects and some Americans. Through immigration officials it was announced here to-day that the United States would pay the passage to Mexico of all those who said they were brought away against their wills.

J. D. Arlington, an American, who worked for the oil companies, and L. W. Sullivan, British, have made persistent complaints against being brought here. They were among the last arrivals from Tampico.

"We were misled" said Sullivan today. "When the rioting and anti-American demonstrations began at Tampico and throughout that section we sought shelter anywhere we could. Authorities advised us to go on board vessels in the harbor and in the river. We went on board as did hundreds of others, thinking we would be put ashore when the trouble was ended.

"The boats moved out into the gulf, and we thought they were getting far enough away from shore to be out of danger in case they were fired on, or there was fighting, but we found too late that we were coming to Galveston. The ship's officers would not put us ashore then and we had to come on to this country."

BROKER KILLED BY TRUCK.

Albert L. House Knocked Down as He Alighted from Car.

Albert L. House, a broker, 42 years old, of 258 West Seventy-third Street, died last night in the New York Hospital, where he had been removed after being struck and run over by a truck as he alighted from a southbound Fourth Avenue car at Nineteenth Street shortly after noon yesterday.

The truck is owned by Nicholas Calabella of 180 South Street and was driven by Frank Calabella of the same address. According to the police, as Mr. House got off the car he stepped in front of the oncoming truck and was knocked down and kicked by the horses. The car was in charge of Conductor Louis Tieman of 115 West 143d Street and the motorman was Denis Gallagher of 156 East Seventy-eighth Street.

NEW HAVEN INQUIRY INCLUDES CITY BANK

and the object of the payments, the cashier making his entries from these records.

"Did you hold any stock in the concern?" Mr. Case was asked.

"There was one share in my name, but I do not know just how it came into my possession, and I do not remember that I ever actually held it."

Mr. Case said he never heard of the transaction at the Bank of the Manhattan Company in New York involving the two checks aggregating $3,000,000 until he read it in the newspapers in the last few days. He said he was under the impression that Richards held all the stock, except one share in the possession of each of the Directors, but presumed he was only a "dummy." The capital appeared on the books in Richards's name.

"When I became Treasurer," Mr. Case added, "I asked if the New Haven Road had any connection with the Metropolitan Company and was told it had not."

"Do you not know, as a man of intelligence," the witness was asked, "that Robbins was behind Richards?"

"I did not know of any relations Robbins had with the company, except as counsel."

He said he talked over company matters with Robbins and also with President Austin.

"While you were Treasurer, did you make any payments to Robbins?"

Checks Paid to Steamship Line.

"No, Sir."

Mr. Case testified that the Metropolitan Steamship Company of Maine was the successor of the Metropolitan of New Jersey and that previously he had acted as Treasurer of the latter. He said he recalled a payment of $150,000 made to the company, but did not know anything about its source, except that it came through Warren D. Chase.

In reply to repeated questioning by Mr. Folk, the witness said that other checks had been sent to the company at different times, the total, as he recalled it, being about $400,000, which included the $150,000. Several of these, he said, were from the Pacific Navigation Company. Mr. Folk tried to get from the witness the amount of the Pacific Company's payments, but Mr. Case could not remember. All of this $400,000 was expended through checks drawn by him as trustee, on order of the Treasurer, the witness said.

At the request of Mr. Folk, Mr. Case promised to produce all records of these transactions in his office in Hartford.

The last witness was A. C. Hansen, an examiner for the commission, who said that in 1911 the average net investment of the New Haven in sleeping and parlor cars, after deducting 3 per cent. for depreciation, was $3,299,000, and the net return $901,130. In 1912 the figures were $3,330,491 and $927,276. On Jan. 1, 1913, he said the New Haven entered into a contract with the Pullman Company to operate sleeping and parlor cars, and gave figures and other data, which, he declared, showed there would be a loss of $500,000 annually to the New Haven.

At this point the inquiry was adjourned until Monday morning.

DENY THAT BECKER WAS IN TOMBS PLOT

His Counsel and Spiritual Adviser Insist He Knew Nothing About Davis Attack.

PETITION LAID TO MUSICA

But Commissioner Repeats Charge Against Ex-Lieutenant—Privileges Cut Off—New Menu Out.

As a result of the charges of Dr. Katharine B. Davis, Commissioner of Correction, that ex-Lieut. Charles Becker, on trial for the Rosenthal murder, and Philip Musica, the hair goods swindler, had conspired to discredit her administration, there was a storm of conflicting statements and new accusations and denials yesterday, together with a little grumbling over the order giving Sigmund Lowenstein a monopoly of the Tombs catering business. Martin T. Manton and Harford T. Marshall, Becker's lawyers, were joined by the Rev. Father James B. Curry, Becker's spiritual adviser, in vigorously denying that Becker knew anything about the petition attacking Dr. Davis until she made it public Thursday. Dr. Davis, however, was more emphatic than on the day before in declaring that Becker was one of the ringleaders in substituting the attack on her for an innocent petition which had been signed by 319 prisoners, and asked her to reconsider her order giving Lowenstein a monopoly.

Philip S. Saitta, an Italian lawyer, who is in the Tombs awaiting sentence on a grand larceny charge, gave out a statement to the press in which he said that Becker had had nothing to do with the conspiracy, and that Musica, who is his bitter enemy, was solely to blame.

"Musica was the backbone, the schemer, the instigator of the whole thing," Saitta said. "It was Musica who got the petition up, not Becker. Musica is playing hard and fast to save his own skin. He hoped to curry favor with the District Attorney by doing everything in his power to prejudice the public against Becker. Musica is willing to do anything—to ruin any one to save himself; and every bit of dirty work that has been done in this petition business was done by him. I am no particular friend of Becker, but I want to say right here and now, for the sake of justice, that Becker had nothing to do with it.

"Musica was convicted a year ago, and he is still here in the Tombs. The reason is that he has succeeded in getting a pull by doing such rotten, contemptible things as this. He boasts openly—and all the prisoners on this tier will bear me out—that he has more pull than any one else here.

"Musica asked me about three weeks ago to have my stenographer typewrite a petition and went around through the prison doing his best to stir up feeling against Miss Davis's new order about food.

"Becker had too much to think about to spend his time on such a thing as this."

Saitta said that he had his stenographer typewrite the first petition, which was short and harmless, but not the second. He was one of the lawyers who appeared for members of the Musica family when they were brought back from New Orleans and was arrested on Feb. 18 on a grand larceny charge preferred by a business man in Italy. Philip Musica accused him then of thefts, and the pair nearly came to blows when being quizzed by Commissioner Davis Wednesday night, when Musica at first attempted to lay the blame on Saitta.

Mr. Manton said after the Becker jurors had been selected yesterday that he had received an offer from Musica, through Becker, to make affidavit that he had made none of the statements credited to him by Miss Davis involving Becker in the affair. Miss Davis ordered Musica down to the Warden's office in the Tombs at 6 o'clock and confronted him with the statement. The two were in the back office, which is separated from the main office by a glass partition, and were in plain sight. Musica turned pale and grew nervous when Miss Davis read the statement. He then jumped to his feet and an excited interview between the two took place. Reporters heard him shout:

"I'll have nothing to say. You had no right to bring me down here against my will. You're making every effort to persecute me—I can't write letters nor buy decent food nor give a statement to the press telling the public the truth."

He was told then that reporters from every paper in New York were ready to listen to any statement he wanted to make.

"My lawyer won't let me say anything," he said.

Miss Davis said she had five witnesses who would corroborate her version of Musica's story if necessary.

A report that it was Charles Becker, 58 years old, 430 West Fifty-third Street, a laborer, who was in the Tombs from April 7 to 28 on a charge of felonious assault, and not ex-Lieut. Becker, who had signed the first petition, was disposed of by Miss Davis. She said both signatures were affixed to the petition and that she was sure there was no mistake.

"I am truly sorry Lieut. Becker's name ever became involved in this," said Dr. Davis. "When we began our investigation we thought the petition had been started by outside caterers. I should not have made the affair public, for fear of arousing ill-feeling toward Becker, if it had not been necessary to protect myself, but the petition threatened to 'expose' me to the public as a grafter if I did not rescind my order in three days."

Lowenstein's new bill of fare was distributed yesterday. The order preventing prisoners from getting food from outside sources went into effect Thursday morning. The caterer has for ten years had a small room, rent free, on the first floor of the north wing, in which he has cooked food for prisoners not desiring to eat the meals supplied by the Tombs cooks, and he says he has just been able to make a living out of his business.

"I got less than 5 per cent. out of the business," said he yesterday, "and my profits never exceeded $1,200 a year."

By the order which the prisoners object to he will get 100 per cent. of the business. The petition characterized his coffee as "slops," and his food as "unfit for pigs." He paid 22 cents a pound wholesale for his coffee, he said yesterday. His price list quotes plain omelette at 25 cents, ham and eggs at 30 cents, and broiled chicken at $1.25.

Lowenstein also asserted that he paid nothing for the privilege of catering in the Tombs, either under the old system or the new. Miss Davis explained her reason for giving him a monopoly by saying that opium and liquor had frequently been smuggled in in packages before, and that two assistants had been kept busy inspecting bundles.

"Drugs were brought in in every conceivable way," she said. "I thought of accepting bids for the catering privilege under the new rule, and a number of voluntary bids were made, one offering $1,500 for the privilege. But I was afraid the extra cost would be tacked on to the price the prisoners were required to pay."

Becker lost his prison privileges yesterday at Dr. Davis's order, and Father Curry was refused admittance to his cell. The priest declared that it was not a privilege but a right for a man's spiritual adviser to see him. Father Curry was among those who seemed inclined to place the responsibility for the petition on Musica.

Mr. Manton said last night that it would not be necessary to take legal action to regain Becker's prison privileges, as Becker could see his wife daily in the Sheriff's office adjoining the courtroom during the trial and could confer with counsel in the same place.

JURY FOR BECKER TRIAL COMPLETED

the eleventh juror, who is 68 years old and very gray. There is only one man on the jury who wears glasses.

If there are no changes in the jury, District Attorney Whitman will open the prosecution's case this morning with his speech to the jury. This speech will probably be an hour long and will set forth a sketch of the State's case against the defendant. Mr. Whitman will explain the State's contention that it was Becker who engineered and plotted the murder of Rosenthal to prevent the latter "squealing" to the Grand Jury with regard to Becker's alliance with gamblers and resort keepers. It is not believed that Mr. Whitman will divulge any of the new evidence which he has collected since the Court of Appeals threw out the conviction. His surprises will be sprung in their right order during the course of the trial.

Immediately following the opening address the prosecutor will introduce technical evidence showing that Herman Rosenthal was shot dead in front of the Metropole at 2 A. M. on July 16, 1912, by the four gunmen who were recently executed. Mr. Whitman will probably place on the stand Patrolman John Brady, who was on post near the scene of the murder; Detective William File, who found Rosenthal lying on the sidewalk; Dr. Dennis Taylor, the ambulance surgeon from Flower Hospital, who pronounced the gambler dead; and Dr. Otto A. Schultze, the Coroner's physician who performed the autopsy.

Mr. Whitman must next prove that the four gunmen who shot Rosenthal were the ones who were executed on April 13. He is prepared to place ex-Sheriff Harburger on the stand to show the gunmen were taken to Sing Sing, and then he will call Warden James M. Clancy of Sing Sing to establish that these same gunmen were executed. Under the law the commission of a crime cannot be conceded in a murder case, it was pointed out yesterday.

There may be some difficulty when Mr. Whitman attempts to identify the four slayers of Rosenthal. He has the witnesses, James Hecht and Louis Krause, waiters, and John Standish and Morris Luban, who were eye-witnesses to the murder, and he may attempt to place them on the stand again. It is certain that a violent attack will be made on the character of Morris Luban if he is produced. Luban, it is recalled, repudiated his own testimony shortly after the first trial. When caught redhanded by Mr. Whitman he made an affidavit asserting that he had been offered money to repudiate his testimony. He also swore in the affidavit that his original trial testimony was true.

Speculation also centres about the fact that Warden Clancy and the Rev. Father William E. Cashin, Catholic Chaplain of Sing Sing, have been served with subpoenas by the defense. It is said that the defense will try to introduce through them the confession which "Dago Frank" Cirofici is alleged to have made just before going to the death chair. The District Attorney is decidedly opposed to the introduction of this confession, and a legal battle can be expected if it is brought into the trial. Warden Clancy and Father Cashin, with Mrs. Cirofici, the mother, and Miss Mary Cirofici, the sister, of "Dago Frank," were present when the condemned man made his last statement. It was not a written confession, and no notes were prepared until after the gunman's death. Legal authorities have asserted that a confession obtained under such conditions cannot be introduced. The District Attorney will contend that anything that "Dago Frank" said was hearsay at best. The main point in the confession, of course, is the gunman's statement that he had not heard Becker named in connection with the murder plot.

In the case of Donnelly vs. The United States the United States Supreme Court made a ruling directly on this point, according to the District Attorney. Donnelly was awaiting death sentence on a murder conviction when a dying man in another State confessed to the crime for which Donnelly had been convicted. The man died after making the confession. This man's confession was written, signed, and sealed in the presence of witnesses. But the court held that Donnelly could not avail himself of this confession. In its opinion the Supreme Court held:

The chief grounds of its exclusion are, that the reported declaration (if in fact made) is made without the sanction of an oath, with no responsibility on the part of the declarant for error or falsification, without opportunity for the court, jury, or parties to observe the demeanor and temperament of the witness, and to search his motives and test his accuracy and veracity by cross-examination, these being most important safeguards of the truth, where a witness testifies in person, and as of his own knowledge; and, moreover, he who swears in court to the extra-judicial declaration does so (especially where the alleged declarant is dead) free from the embarrassment of present contradiction and with little or no danger of successful prosecution for perjury. It is commonly recognized that this double relaxation of the ordinary safeguards must very greatly multiply the probabilities of error, and that hearsay evidence is an unsafe reliance in a court of justice.

It was learned yesterday that the District Attorney has in his possession some information against Becker which probably will be excluded for the same reason that the "Dago Frank" confession may be ruled out. Information reached the District Attorney after the first Becker trial that "Dago Frank" had learned from "Whitey Lewis" Seidenschner, another of the gunmen, within three days after "Dago Frank's" arrest, that "Jack" Zelig had told "Whitey" that Rosenthal was killed so that he (Zelig) could get out of his trouble. Zelig was under arrest for carrying concealed weapons, and the charge had been preferred by two of Becker's associates on the Strong-Arm Squad. If it were admissible, the State would try to show, through the man who heard this story from "Dago Frank," that Zelig furnished the gunmen, at Becker's pleading, as the price of his liberty.

One of those in the corridors yesterday near the Supreme Court where Becker is on trial, was Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg, widow of "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, another of the gunmen. She did not gain admission to the courtroom. She was under subpoena by the prosecution, she said, and was worried for fear that she would be called. Mrs. Rosenberg was a witness at the first trial, and told of Jack Rose's visits to her husband's flat.

"I hope they won't call me again," she said. "I want to forget this whole affair. I consider it a chapter in my life which is closed. The mere mention of this trial hurts me like a knife in the heart. I do not know anything that will be of any benefit to either side."

Justice Seabury, it is expected, will adjourn court early this afternoon, and the next session of the court will be on Monday morning. After the technical evidence of the murder is on the record District Attorney Whitman expects to produce Jack Rose, the informer, and a star witness for the prosecution. Rose's story and his cross-examination, it is expected, will require two days.

It was said last night that the experiences of the last three days with the special panels would be brought to the attention of the Court of Appeals with the hope that a new special juror law be introduced into the Legislature. Justice Seabury expressed openly his displeasure with the special panels and District Attorney Whitman said flatly that they were the worst he had ever come in contact with. The selection of a panel on which hundreds of men should express bias, it was urged, was a reflection on the law which created special panels. Lawyers were of the opinion that a large part of the blame for the action of the panelmen should rest upon the Commissioner of Jurors. No less than twenty men had fixed opinions as to capital punishment, and had to be excluded on that account. Under the special panel system the Commissioner of Jurors is required to ask in the first instance whether talesmen have objection to capital punishment. According to the District Attorney, the method of examining the talesmen before they are drawn is not up to standard.

To the Salesman

¶ There are two ways of selling goods.

¶ One is to wine and dine the prospect and then add the cost indirectly to the bill of goods—this is not salesmanship, but alcoholic persuasion.

¶ The other way, the right way, is to sell your goods solely on their merits, using only the witchcraft of fair words and square dealing.

¶ In selling Saks clothes we have always gone on the theory that there isn't any use putting into print what cannot be substantiated in the cold gray dawn of investigation.

¶ A salesman can sting a customer only once, but the customer can sting the salesman forever—and he laughs best who laughs longest.

¶ Saks clothes are good clothes—made of fine fabrics, tailored by the best talent that money can buy, and guaranteed to be dependable in fabric, fit and finish, and pre-eminent for Style.

¶ And that's a very modest solicitation.

DESTROY BAD FOOD OF STATE ASYLUMS

Shocking Conditions Found by Federal Inspectors in a Sweeping Inquiry.

FIRE PERIL IN FLATBUSH

Condition "Bordering on Savagery" at Binghamton—Milk from Tubercular Cows at Poughkeepsie.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 8.—For eighteen months, according to information received to-day by Commissioner John H. Delaney of the Department of Efficiency and Economy, the insane patients of the Hudson River State Hospital at Poughkeepsie were supplied with milk from tubercular cows belonging to the institution and purchased with the State's money. Mr. Delaney learned that in that period twenty-three gravely afflicted milch cows of the hospital's own herd were condemned.

An investigation at once will be made by Commissioner Delaney to ascertain whether the animals were suffering from tuberculosis when they were purchased or whether the disease developed among them after they became the property of the institution.

The State Hospital Commission, which is responsible for the management of the State Hospitals for the Insane, has as yet made no official answer to the accusations contained in the reports of Inspectors of the Department of Efficiency and Economy. It was learned to-day, however, that when an inspection of the food supply at the various institutions was made some weeks ago by experts from the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture, the Hospital Commission started to make some inquiries about conditions at the fourteen institutions under its supervision.

According to information obtained to-day complaints were received from several institutions regarding the quality of the beef after the commission contracted for a three months' supply of Argentine beef. Inspector Phillips then urged the commission to have an inquiry made by two Federal Inspectors, and his advice was followed.

The reports of these inspectors have been in the hands of the State Hospital Commission since early in April, but have not been made public. The inspectors reported deplorable conditions at nearly every institution they visited.

At the Utica State Hospital the Federals inspectors were compelled to order the destruction of a large quantity of lard used in the making of bread because it was rancid. The bakery at the institution, they said, was "unclean beyond belief." The floor and walls they found "in a vile state." Conditions, they said, were "a grave menace to employes and inmates of the institution."

They found 500 pounds of pork and seven carcasses of mutton which were unfit for food. After discovering that forty dozen of eggs out of a total supply of seventy-five dozen were decayed, they were informed by the kitchen employes that it had been the practice to feed the patients with such eggs.

At the Buffalo State Hospital the Inspectors ordered the destruction of meat unfit for human consumption; at Central Islip they condemned eggs and 200 pounds of beef; at Willard a barrel of fat, intended, it was asserted, for cooking purposes, was condemned.

Similar conditions were reported at the Binghamton State Hospital. A condition described as "bordering on savagery" was found by the Federal Inspectors in the storeroom of the Mohansic State Hospital at Yorktown Heights. At the Rochester State Hospital the inspectors ordered the entire supply of eggs on hand, 320 dozen, destroyed as unfit for food. A supply of bacon and beef in the storeroom, the inspectors said, should not be used for food. Employees at the Middletown State Hospital told the inspectors most of the eggs used for the patients at that institution were decayed.

Commissioner Delaney said to-day that reports from investigators of his department who have been inquiring into conditions at the Long Island State Hospital in Flatbush show "dreadful" conditions at that institution. The investigation of the Efficiency and Economy Department thus far has been confined to the mechanical equipment of the hospital, but Federal Inspectors have made inquiries regarding the food.

The Federal Inspectors report that many of the eggs at this institution are classified in the trade as "rots" and "spots" and "weak and cloudy" eggs. Employes said that the grade of eggs furnished to the institution was extremely poor. The Federal Inspectors found 200 pounds of moldy bacon and two tubs of rancid lard.

An engineer employed by the Department of Efficiency and Economy found the floors and ceilings of the institution in a bad and dangerous condition. The menace to the inmates in case of fire, the engineer said, was very grave, owing to a defective fire alarm system and improperly marked stairways and exits. The sanitary conditions of the institution in the opinion of the expert called "a mockery" of the name.

State a Generous Host.

William A. Malloy, Jr., Fiscal Supervisor of the State's charitable institutions, announced yesterday a discovery which may furnish more work for the Department of Efficiency and Economy. Mr. Malloy, who has held office only a few weeks, said he had found that for forty years past the State had lost from $30,000 to $50,000 annually because, by a loose construction of the law, maintenance for their families as well as for themselves had been given to a number of employes not entitled to it in twenty-one charitable institutions.

"Twenty Superintendents," said Mr. Malloy, "have been receiving family maintenance, including servants, fuel, light, and horses and carriages, although only one of their number was entitled to it. It does not even stop at that. Assistant Superintendents, Chaplains, inspectors, farmers, supervisors, engineers, and many others have been maintaining their families at the State's expense, in direct violation of the charities law.

"The institutional family idea is unique. Aunts, uncles, sisters-in-law, nieces, cousins, granddaughters, and more distant kin have been invited to partake of the State's bounty. At one institution nearly 100 persons were found who lived at the expense of the State without any warrant whatsoever. At another institution the Assistant Superintendent, in defiance of law, received a house, fuel, light, and maintenance for a family of six.

"The pay and maintenance of servants in the private families of a large number of institutional officials have been incorrectly charged to the State for years. This practice must be stopped, and I have sent out a circular to this effect to the officers and employes at State institutions under the Charity Department."

CONCERT FOR POLICE FUND.

Performers Selected for Tuesday's Entertainment at the Waldorf.

To raise money for a fund for the relief of families left destitute by policemen killed on duty, a concert is to be given at the Waldorf-Astoria next Tuesday evening.

The fund was suggested by Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith, who contributed $1,000 as a nucleus for it, at the time of the death of Detective Sergt. Joseph Guarnieri, who was shot on April 2 by William Horgan, whom he was seeking to arrest. Eight policemen have met death at the hands of criminals in the last eight months, leaving in some cases families that were unprovided for.

The fund has been in existence only a month, but already $500 has been paid out of destitute families.

At the benefit concert, Manolito Funes, a thirteen-year-old Spanish boy, whose playing has attracted wide attention; Edgar J. Donovan, a boy soprano; Miss Florence Anderson Otis, and Mrs. Mabel McKinley Baer, niece of the late President McKinley, will take part. The honorary Chairman of the committee having the concert in charge will be W. A. Marble, President of the Merchants' Association.

Tickets may be had from the Treasurer of the fund, Philip Rhinelander, at 27 William Street, and also at the Tyson's news-stands, the office of The Chief, 5 Beekman Street; the office of The Chronicle, 23 Duane Street, and from Mrs. A. I. Jewell, 51 East Seventy-eighth Street; Mrs. George Finck, Bretton Hall, Eighty-sixth Street and Broadway; Mrs. William R. Chapman, President of the Rubenstein Club; Waldorf-Astoria, and Miss Irwin-Martin, 262 West Eighty-third Street.

QUASH MANY INDICTMENTS.

Action in Terre Haute Election Cases Follows Mayor's Acquittal.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 8.—As a sequence to the acquittal last night of Mayor Donn M. Roberts of the charge of conspiracy in primary and election frauds, Special Prosecutor Roach, before Judge Fortune in chambers to-day, dismissed all the cases in which the Mayor has been indicted for alleged election frauds, and in which the indictments had been procured by Roach.

He included also the indictments returned against Marx Myers, Gerhardt A. Monninger, and John M. Roper, who had been indicted jointly with the Mayor, as well as all indictments returned by the Grand Jury during his service as special Prosecutor.

Judge Fortune, on his own motion, dismissed the indictments against Mayor Roberts and Prosecutor Richard A. Werneke in cases in which John F. Nugent, Sidney T. Onyett, Philander Long, and Hilton Redman were involved in conspiracy, the indictments being permitted to stand as far as the other defendants are concerned.

The court also on his own motion dismissed the indictment against Ransom B. Phillips for conspiracy to commit a felony in connection with the wet and dry election in Otter Creek Township last July, and the indictments against Earl Harkness, Henry Raeber, and Carney Chess for fraud in connection with the Precinct H, First Ward, election.

WOMAN LED SHERIFFS.

Then Miss Mittern Denounced Former Suitor in the McAlpin.

Following his rather conspicuous arrest in the mezzanine gallery of the Hotel McAlpin on Thursday evening, Col. Edward Harrison Power, a promoter of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Chicago, appeared at Sheriff Grifenhagen's office yesterday morning and gave a real estate bail bond for $1,500 to guarantee his constant residence in the County of New York until a judgment against him for $1,350 in favor of Miss Maud Mittern, a Brooklyn actress, is settled.

Miss Mittern led the officers to where Col. Power was sitting with his counsel, ex-Gov. Chatterton of Wyoming, but instead of quietly pointing out Col. Power to the Deputy Sheriffs, her anger against the man got the better of her and she started in to denounce him in a way that attracted the attention of every one in the gallery. Her verbal attack on Col. Power became so fierce that the Deputy Sheriffs had to turn their attention from their prisoner to warn her not to make more disturbance.

After Miss Mittern had been quieted Col. Power was taken to his room in the hotel and kept under arrest there until yesterday morning, when he went to the Sheriff's office to give bail. He offered a five-story loft building at 407 East Thirty-first Street, which was accepted.

HIS LONDON CHECKS BAD.

Flushing Man Held for Spreading Bogus Paper in the Bronx.

George Le Prevost, of Flushing, was held in $6,000 bail by Justice Brady in the Supreme Court of Bronx County after his arrest early yesterday morning on two charges of grand larceny in connection with the passing of checks alleged to be worthless.

According to the police, Mrs. Millie Webb, a friend of Le Prevost, living at 1,789 Southern Boulevard, was made an unwitting aid by him in obtaining from Bronx tradesmen advances of $300 and $150 on checks drawn on London banks by Le Prevost. The checks were later returned marked "No funds."

Mrs. Webb testified that she had known Le Prevost three years and had presumed that the checks he gave her were good when she had them cashed.

Aquitania Ready for Trial Trip.

The agents of the Cunard Line announced yesterday that a cable had been received from the Liverpool office stating that the new liner Aquitania will leave the yard of John Brown & Co., Clydebank, to-morrow morning and do her trial trip the next day. It is understood that the Aquitania will develop an average speed of 23½ knots, so that she can leave New York at 10 o'clock on a Wednesday morning and arrive in Liverpool early on Tuesday.

CHARGES RICH MAN STOLE WIFE'S LOVE

A. A. Nimis Causes Arrest of W. R. Taylor at Hotel Endicott in $50,000 Action.

ASSERTS SHE CONFESSED

Woman, Who Is Wealthy, Alleged to Have Figured in Divorce Suit of Mrs. Taylor.

William R. Taylor, a wealthy lumberman of Philadelphia, was arrested yesterday in the Hotel Endicott, in an action begun against him by Albert A. Nimis for $50,000 for alienating the affections of Mrs. Nimis. Deputy Sheriffs McDonnell and Zeltner took Mr. Taylor to the office of Sheriff Grifenhagen, where he deposited $4,000 for bail and was let go. The complaint was long and minute, detailing with apparent exactness a long list of offenses alleged to have been committed by Mr. Taylor against the domestic happiness of Mr. Nimis. The letter is a member of the firm of Nimis & Nimis, a big electrical concern.

Mrs. Daisy Nimis, the wife of the plaintiff, is worth about $300,000. Mr. and Mrs. Nimis have a daughter, 14 years old, Elsie Nimis, who has been with her mother through all of the latter's domestic troubles and is still with her. In his complaint against Mr. Taylor the plaintiff said that he was married on Feb. 10, 1898, and that he lived with his wife and daughter at 562 Park Avenue until March 1, 1912. Then his wife went with their daughter to Asheville, N. C., where she was a guest at the Battery Park Hotel.

Up to this time, Mr. Nimis said, his family relations were affectionate and pleasant. But in Asheville Mrs. Nimis met Mr. Taylor, and therafter, according to the complaint, she ceased to care for her husband or to take any interest in the home he had provided for her. Mrs. Matilda Von Randohr, the mother of Mrs. Nimis, died in April, 1912, and shortly thereafter, Mr. Nimis said, his wife went to Atlantic City, where she stopped at the Hotel Denis. Mr. Nimis alleged he followed her and found that Mr. Taylor was there and that his wife had been frequently in his company.

One morning between 5 and 6 o'clock, Mr. Nimis said, he left the Hotel Traymore, where he had registered, and went out on the Boardwalk. He found his wife and Mr. Taylor there, and both appeared greatly embarrassed when they saw him. Mr. Nimis said his wife returned to her home in Park Avenue and closed it, going with her daughter to the Hotel Leonori at Madison Avenue and Sixty-third Street. Before leaving her home she instructed the janitor, Mr. Nimis said, to tell him to remove all of his belongings from the apartment and then to leave the key for her.

The plaintiff told of one occasion when he remonstrated with his wife and sought to induce her to smother her infatuation for Mr. Taylor and to return to the home he was eager to provide for her. Mr. Nimis said she replied to these solicitations:

"He loves me and I love him and that is all there is to it. I hate you and wish I had never laid eyes on you, for I can't bear to look at you. At last I am happy. He is as different from you as day is from night."

Mr. Nimis told of information given him by various persons that corroborated the suspicions he had formed against his wife and convinced him that his home had been ruined. One of these persons was Mrs. Schoenberg, the janitress of the Park Avenue house, who told him that Mr. Taylor had called frequently on Mrs. Nimis, that the relations between Mrs. Nimis and Mr. Taylor had been the subject of neighborhood gossip and that the neighbors deeply sympathized with Mr. Nimis.

Another person named in the complaint was Mrs. Annie Adolphi, a relation of Mrs. Nimis, who was alleged to have told the plaintiff of the many times Mr. Taylor and Mrs. Nimis were together.

Mr. Nimis alleged that the wife of Mr. Taylor learned of the attention her husband was paying to Mrs. Nemis and took such steps to procure the evidence on which to base an action for divorce that when the action was brought Mrs. Taylor won. Another action against Mrs. Nimis, begun by Mrs. Taylor, resulted in a settlement that cost Mrs. Nimis, it was said, $40,000. On one of Mrs. Nimis's trips to Philadelphia, the complaint said, she was a guest at the Bellevue-Stratford. While there she lost a few articles of personal adornment, and Mr. Taylor paid for an advertisement offering a reward for the return of the trinkets.

Mrs. Nimis and her daughter are living at the Hotel Endicott, where Mr. Taylor was arrested. The complaint will be filed with County Clerk Schneider to-day.

ASKS $50,000 FOR ALIENATION.

Alexander Dunn Alleges Charles Goldingay Enticed Wife Away.

NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—Alexander Dunn, a real estate operator at 305 Fifth Avenue, New York, whose home is given as the Chancellor, Broadway, New York, entered suit to-day for $50,000 damages against Charles Goldingay of this city for the alleged alienation of Mrs. Dunn's affections. Mr. Goldingay is President of Goldingay Brothers, sash and blind manufacturers of this city.

RECOVERS $2,500 JEWEL.

Waldorf Sleuth Finds Diamond Brooch Lost by Hotel Guest.

Detective John Watson, whose achievements as a finder of pearls and diamonds at the Waldorf in record time have been reported in THE NEW YORK TIMES, on Thursday night added fresh laurels to his reputation by the discovery of a valuable diamond brooch which had been lost in the hotel more than twenty-four hours before, and which searches by the housekeeper, chambermaids, bellboys, and housemen had not availed to reveal. The brooch is valued by its owner at $2,500.

A wealthy Chicago man and his wife, who had been occupying one of the best suites in the house, left for a nearby locality on Wednesday. Next day the usual inspection was made, but nothing unusual was discovered.

It was not until 7 o'clock Thursday night that anybody in the hotel had cause to suspect that anything was out of the way. At that hour the woman called up the hotel and announced that she had missed her brooch, and that the only way she imagined it could have disappeared was that she had left it in one of her rooms.

The housekeeper was immediately notified to make a strict search of the room, and a chambermaid and a houseman assisted her. They turned up the rugs, and turned down the bed covers; looked under the mattress, peered behind the bathtub and under it. The report telephoned downstairs was that there was not a piece of jewelry of any kind in the room.

Watson sought the room and made a thorough search. He turned up or turned down everything anybody else had, and, mindful of a late recovery, paid special attention to the fireplace, and scraped the ashes—although the ashes yielded by the combustion of a gas log are rather scanty. Having now exhausted all the possible hiding places in the room known to ordinary detective resource, Watson sank back tired into a big arm chair, a heavily cushioned and padded piece of furniture, with arms that crook over at the end and then bend under.

The detective glanced about carefully. His eyes swept every line and every angle and every curve of every object in the sitting room. During the half hour he had been engaged in the search he had gone over every inch of the bedroom and the bathroom. Now as he gazed about, his hands passed involuntarily along the arms of the chair. The right hand passed over the curve at the end, and suddenly stopped when his fingers reached the hollow underneath, caught by a foreign substance. Then they closed on the substance, and their owner drew out the missing brooch.

A. I. C. P. AGENTS ARRESTED.

Extortion Charge by Saloon Keeper Who Is Soon to be Tried.

Two agents for the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, George F. Daw and J. J. Budworth, both of 103 Banks Street, were arrested last night by detectives attached to Commissioner Woods's staff, charged with extortion. Their duties were to investigate the cheaper class of saloons.

The complainant against the men was Thomas A. Wilson, proprietor of the White House, at 271 Bowery, near Houston Street. Daw and Budworth obtained evidence against Wilson on April 28, and he was held for Special Sessions. According to Wilson Budworth went to his saloon yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and suggested that for $50 he and Daw would not appear as witnesses against him at the forthcoming trial. Wilson told the police that he told Budworth to call around later.

According to the detectives, Daw went to the saloon at 5 o'clock, while they were in an adjoining room, and they saw Wilson hand over to him the $30 in marked bills. They immediately placed Daw under arrest. The detectives said that Budworth was waiting outside, but that he became frightened when Daw didn't appear and went to his room in Bond Street. He was arrested there. Wilson identified Budworth as the man who had proposed the payment of $50 as a bribe.

READY FOR PARADE OF 7,500 POLICEMEN

Arrangements for the Annual March and Review of the Force.

13 REGIMENTS IN LINE

Mayor Will Pin Medals for Bravery on Eight Men—Exhibition by Recruits School.

An official announcement of the annual police parade was made at Police Headquarters yesterday. The parade will be held next Saturday, when 7,500 members of the police force will march or ride in the line. The parade will start south of the Worth monument in Madison Square Park and march up Fifth Avenue to the reviewing stand in front of the Hotel Savoy. The line will disband along Central Park from the end of the reviewing stand to Sixty-fifth Street.

The stand is capable of holding 1,600 persons, but an additional stand to hold 400 more is contemplated. Thirteen regiments of police will march. One will be mounted, containing 500 horsemen. Chief Inspector Schmittberger will head the line and each regiment will be led by an Inspector. There will be in the parade motorcycle, bicycle and marine service police.

The Mayor will greet the eight policemen to whom medals for bravery have been awarded and will pin the medals on them when they reach the reviewing stand.

The parade will conclude with an exhibition by members of the recruits' school before the reviewing stand.

JEROME GAINS THAW APPEAL

Extradition Case Now Goes to United States Supreme Court.

CONCORD, N. H., May 8.—A bill of exceptions filed by W. T. Jerome and Franklin Kennedy, counsel for New York State in the matter of Federal Judge Edgar Aldrich's decision granting the petition of Harry K. Thaw for a writ of habeas corpus was received and allowed to-day by the court. Counsel filed a bond covering the costs of the transfer of the case to the Supreme Court of the United States, which will determine Thaw's legal status.

Thaw was not in court, but was represented by Merrill Shurtleff, an attorney of Lancaster. So far as is known here, Thaw will remain in Concord in custody of Sheriff Holman Drew of Coos County, pending the Supreme Court's decision.

The appeal contends that the court erred in nine particulars, namely:

In sustaining the writ of habeas corpus and discharging Thaw under the extradition warrant.

In holding that Thaw was not substantially charged with crime under Article IV., Section 2, Paragraph 2 of the United States Constitution.

In holding that Thaw was not a fugitive from justice.

In holding that the process under which Thaw was held was not due process of law.

In holding that the extradition warrant issued by Gov. Felker was illegal, invalid and unwarranted.

In holding that upon the whole record the case did not come within the provisions of the Constitution relating to extradition.

In not holding that Thaw was legally in custody under the extradition warrant.

In not dismissing the writ of habeas corpus and in not remanding Thaw to the proper custody for extradition to New York, and,

Because upon the whole record the habeas corpus writ should have been dismissed, the extradition warrant sustained, and Thaw remanded to the proper custody for extradition to New York.

The petition for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Aldrich on April 14, but the issuance of the order was withheld to allow an appeal to be taken to the Supreme Court.

PUNISH SING SING STRIKERS

Warden Sends Leaders of Insurrection to Clinton.

OSSINING, May 8.—Thirty-two leaders of the strike in the knitting mills at Sing Sing Prison on April 21 were among sixty convicts sent this afternoon to Clinton Prison.

Warden Clancy has not yet decided what he will do with the other 148 convicts who took part in the row.

Since the strike few of those who took part in it have been out of their cells.

$75,000 FOR TWO ARMS.

Record Verdict for Workman Against New Haven R. R.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 8.—A jury in the Supreme Court to-day awarded a verdict of $75,000 to Oscar Fried against the New Haven Railroad Company for the loss of two arms, which were burned by electricity. This is the largest verdict ever given to a workman against an employer in the history of the State of New York.

Fried sued through Thomas J. O'Neil, a lawyer, for $150,000 damages, alleging that the company was grossly negligent. Fried was an electrician. He was working at Mount Vernon repairing wires on a strut upholding the bridges which hold the high tension wires of the New Haven's overhead electric system. On Dec. 8, last, he touched an uninsulated wire carrying 11,000 volts.

FLORIAN MAYR

A Humorous Tale of Musical Life

By Ernst, Baron von Wolzogen

This wonderful story of musical life is secure among the classics of German fiction. The hero is a pianist who is always getting into trouble because of his soft heart and quick temper. The chief figure is Abbe Liszt, a more romantic personality than fiction writer ever created. The scenes are Weimar, which for many years was the Mecca of all music lovers, and Berlin, with its intrigue, its gaiety and its incongruously woven social fabric. The novel will appeal to those who enjoy a love affair beset by difficulties as well as to those interested in bohemian life as depicted with brilliance and humor by one of the notable fiction writers of the day.

A competitive examination of candidates for the State scholarships in Cornell University, falling to the County of New York, will be held at the De Witt Clinton High School, 10th Avenue and 59th Street, in the Borough of Manhattan,

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1914,
commencing at 9 A. M.

Candidates must be at least 16 years of age and of six months' standing in the common schools or academies of the State during the year immediately preceding this examination, and actual residents of this State.

No person should enter an examination unless prepared to accept a scholarship, should one be awarded.

The examination will be upon English, history (ancient, English, American,) plane geometry, algebra, and any two (at the option of the candidate) of the following: Greek, Latin, advanced French, advanced German, advanced mathematics. As an alternate for advanced mathematics, physics or chemistry may be offered. The paper on American history will include civil government. Papers in the six required subjects must be submitted.

There will be as many candidates appointed from this county as there are assembly districts in this county. Candidates will become entitled to the scholarships in the order of their merit.

Dated at the City of New York, this seventh day of May, 1914.

WM. H. MAXWELL,
City Superintendent of Schools, The City of New York.

INDICT MAN AND WIFE FOR $300,000 FRAUD

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Griffin Accused of Mail Swindle on a Mysterious Contract.

KNEW ALL THE BEST PEOPLE

Lived Well and Made Mystery as to Their Enterprises, Whet Desire to Invest.

Francis H. Griffin, an attorney of 55 Liberty Street, and his wife, Clara H. Griffin, will be arraigned this morning in the Federal District Court to answer indictments charging them with having used the mails to defraud. They were arrested yesterday at Groton, Mass., on the complaint of Post Office Inspectors Mayhew and Swain, who have been working on the case for months. They are expected in this city this morning.

The amount which, according to Assistant District Attorney Julian T. Hartridge, the couple have obtained in the last few years from their friends and acquaintances may be $300,000 or $400,000, and it reached their pockets on the strength of the excellent reputation which Mr. and Mrs. Griffin maintained. They lived for a time in a house in Park Avenue and afterward at the Great Northern and the Manhattan hotels, and kept up a position which enabled them to induce persons to give them large sums to invest on faith in their personal honesty.

Griffin represented himself as a Yale graduate of 1892. His wife, who was a Miss Clara H. Holland of Belchertown, N. Y., at one time had a stenographic bureau downtown, which as far as the Federal authorities know was a thoroughly reputable concern.

Griffin belonged to the Republican Club and the Lawyers Club and was known to be interested in some kind of work for the uplift of the east side. He filled several trusteeships and secretaryships in the Federal District Court. He lived quietly and knew some of the best people, and though he seemed always to have money, he never called attention to himself by undue display.

Meanwhile Mrs. Griffin was well known in Christian Science circles. Apparently possessed of an assured position, she was welcomed as an exponent of Mrs. Eddy's doctrines. She wrote many papers, which were read before gatherings devoted to the cause and was considered a speaker of merit at women's meetings.

Mr. Hartridge said yesterday that he suspected that Griffin began to lose in Wall Street, and that his wife's wits came to his rescue. She remembered her former calling of stenographer, and is alleged to have devised a scheme for turning it to account. Among their intimate friends the Griffins whispered, the Government charges, that they had had a great stroke of luck. The Washington authorities had put in their hands a contract of great value for stenographic work. They told of large sums to be made out of this class of work by experts, who get really good contracts, and hinted that they had an especially good thing.

When their friends congratulated them and asked for particulars, the Griffins grew mysterious. Their work was connected with affairs of such moment and depended so much on not the slightest hint leaking out that they could not even suggest with what department it was connected. Then they went on, so the Government alleges, to bait their trap. This enforced secrecy had its disadvantage. Their work required the outlay of very considerable sums of money, and it was impossible for them to go to a banker for accommodation. He would ask so many questions, which they dare not answer, that they could not risk it. But if any friend would come to their aid, he might be sure that his profits would be large.

The eminent respectability of Mr. Griffin and his wife made this story acceptable. From persons of all grades of society they obtained, it is charged, sums of money. Sometimes it would be only $50, sometimes it would be 100 or 1,000 times as much. Moreover, Mr. Hartridge said yesterday, not all these persons lost. The Griffins would give notes. When they fell due they would be taken up and interest paid at 25 or 50 per cent. Naturally enough when the suggestion was made that another advance would be welcomed, it was generally forthcoming and if the lender hesitated the Griffins would urge, the Government authorities allege, that if there was no security to show for the loan it was earning a great deal more than the usual 4 or 5 per cent.

Among those who were duped in the cases, which the Government believes it has enough evidence to prove, and which show that $230,000 passed into the hands of the Griffins, is Miss C. N. Cronyn of 44 Court Street, Brooklyn. She was at one time secretary to the late Mayor Gaynor, and is said to be $50,000 poorer for her belief in the lawyer and his wife.

Then there is Mrs. E. J. Barker of Baldwin, L. I., who is said to be in the fur business here. The indictment quotes a letter written to her by Mrs. Griffin which, the Government says, exemplifies excellently the methods under which the Griffins worked. It reads in part:

> You must help out, otherwise I shall have to turn down a whole line of matters which are most valuable. If you will help me out with these matters I will see that you get not only Aug. 9 matters in full next week, but profit on Aug. 11.

The lack of definiteness in the references, according to the Federal officials, shows the way the Griffins preyed upon the credulity of their victims. When the stenographic game had proved profitable, the Griffins told their friends of other important deals in which they could give them a chance to participate, and on these pretences also money began to flow in. "It was just an instance," said Mr. Hartridge yesterday, "of reputation and position being turned to account in a swindling game."

Then there was a Miss Kennedy, an employe at the White Rats Clubhouse. She, according to Mr. Hartridge, was induced not only to invest her own savings with the Griffins, but also to get the money of many of her friends. It was represented in this case that a man wanted a considerable sum to start a business in Brooklyn, and suspicion was not aroused until the first three notes were found, so the Federal authorities allege, to have been signed by Griffin. When Miss Kennedy was asked about the matter last night, she refused to go into details and seemed much agitated.

"They seemed to be lovely people," she said, "and my own losses are not so great. But I really can't tell about it."

Others referred to in the indictment are Mrs. Charles H. Dale of the Hotel Gotham, Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, and John T. Boyd of Newark, N. J.

The indictments were handed up by the Federal Grand Jury ten days ago, but were not made public at the time. However, the Griffins suspected that trouble was near and, giving up their rooms at the Hotel Manhattan and leaving behind a bill for $150, fled to Groton, Mass. There the Post Office Inspectors discovered them, somewhat to their surprise, as they believed they had gone to Europe.

SMUGGLER GUILTY, GETS OFF WITH FINE

Judge Opposes Jail Sentence Unless the Government Suffers Much.

LICHTEN BROUGHT IN GEMS

He Is Paroled Until He Can Raise $1,000 with Which to Pay the Fine.

Aria Lichten, a stockholder in the French Model and Importing Company of 258 Fifth Avenue, pleaded guilty before Judge Martin in the Federal District Court yesterday to an indictment charging him with having failed to declare jewelry of the value of $2,100 when he arrived here on March 1 on the Provence of the French Line. While abroad he bought a combination tiara and bracelet of platinum, set with sapphires and diamond chips, of the foreign value of $1,196, and a woman's ring set with diamond chips and pearls, worth $72, on the instalment plan.

Judge Martin said that he would never impose a jail sentence in a case in which it appeared that the Government would not suffer greatly through the non-payment of duty on articles of personal adornment.

The Judge told Mr. Wise if his client could pay $1,000 fine he would make that the sentence, and paroled Mr. Lichten in Mr. Wise's custody to raise the money. Later Mr. Lichten returned and paid his fine.

SLAIN AFTER SHOOTING FOUR

Negro Who Killed Sheriff Dies Defying Pursuers—One Dead.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. JAMES, La., May 8.—Defiant and cursing, Sylvester Washington, negro slayer of Deputy Sheriff P. C. Simon, hurled himself this afternoon from the doorway of a burning sugar shed, in which he was trapped, in to the roadway firing desperately as he did so.

His body was riddled with a hundred bullets from rifles in the hands of residents of this section, who had caught him after a twenty-four-hour pursuit.

Before he was killed the negro succeeded in shooting four of his pursuers. One, Charles Bohn, wounded in the abdomen, died shortly afterward; John C. Mellist was wounded fatally, a Mr. Harding was shot in the calf of the leg, the bullet penetrating the limb and killing Harding's horse, while another bullet grazed the head of a fourth white man.

Another victim of the affair is an unidentified white man mistaken for the negro, and shot last night.

THEATREGOERS JOIN CHASE.

Clerk Who Serves Summons on Gaby Deslys Mistaken for Thief.

The crowd pouring out of the Shubert Theatre into Forty-fourth Street took part in an exciting thief chase last night, only to discover after the capture of their quarry that he was no thief, but a frightened process server.

The curtain had just dropped on the last act when a young man in the front of the theatre made his way to the stage and followed Gaby Deslys to her dressing room. As she was closing her door he called her by name and threw a summons at her. It had to do with a suit over a disputed bill. Gaby screamed, the chorus screamed, and husky stage hands started for the lawyer's clerk.

He decided that he had stayed long enough, and raced for the stage door, with stagehands in pursuit. As he sped east in Forty-fourth Street, theatregoers raised the cry of "Stop, thief!" and took after him. At Broadway he ran into the arms of a bluecoat just as the first stagehand overtook him. The prisoner was taken back to the theatre, where the crumpled summons was found on the floor.

A large delegation of visiting Shriners from California, dressed in their full regalia, took part in the pursuit. The summons was served on behalf of a Boston attorney suing to recover for professional services.

ROBBED OF $4,000 JEWELRY.

Mrs. Snow Loses Suitcase in Chicago—Some Trinkets Recovered.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 8.—A suitcase containing $4,000 worth of jewels and other valuables was stolen to-day from Mrs. W. H. Snow of New York, who was waiting in the La Salle Street station to take a train for that city.

According to Mrs. Snow, the suitcase contained a diamond studded gold watch, a pair of diamond earrings, a diamond brooch, five diamond rings, a pearl necklace set with diamonds, and a number of old pieces of jewelry valued chiefly as heirlooms.

The police later recovered a portion of the gems, valued at $1,700, in a South Clark Street pawnshop.

SAVED FROM SUBWAY RAILS.

Man, Dragged from Danger by Policeman, Is Fined $2.

Policeman James O'Connor of the Snyder Avenue Station, Flatbush, was in the Bleecker Street Subway Station yesterday afternoon when he saw a man run to the platform and jump to the northbound local tracks. The policeman, hearing the rumble of an approaching train, jumped after the man, and dragged him clear of the rails as a train stopped within five feet.

After saving the man, the policeman put him under arrest and took him to the Mulberry Street Station, where he said he was Thomas Ward, 49 years old, single, a laborer, living at 319 East Twentieth Street. In the Men's Night Court last night Magistrate Levy fined him $2 for disorderly conduct.

JOHN LANE CO. NEW YORK

ATTACKS LEGALITY OF VOORHIS CHARGES

Attorney Says Two Other Elections Superintendents Must Be Named as Defendants.

MOTION TO DISMISS CASE

Accusers' Counsel Asserts Proceedings Are Executive and Rules of Evidence Do Not Apply.

Charged with inefficiency and "failing to use the powers given to him to insure a clean and fair election in 1913," John R. Voorhis, State Superintendent of Elections, faced the Commissioner appointed by Gov. Glynn to hear the charges at the Bar Association yesterday. The Commissioner, who is John D. McMahon of Oneida County, will report the testimony and his recommendations to the Governor.

There were two sets of charges against Mr. Voorhis—one by the Honest Ballot Association and one by the Progressive Party. Among other things it was charged that the Superintendent and his associates appointed unfit deputies, including district Captains, and that he refused to check the work of his deputies. It also was charged that Mr. Voorhis refused to investigate charges of false registration when the facts were laid before him.

Leslie J. Tompkins, counsel for Mr. Voorhis, moved to dismiss the charges on the ground that there were not sufficient allegations of fact in the charges to constitute grounds for removal.

"They have been after Voorhis," Mr. Tompkins said. "They singled him out. I don't know why, but it seems to me as if they were trying to justify their existance before the public. They are standing out against 5,000,000 fellow-citizens and throwing mud, so as to have it appear that the election was fraudulent."

Mr. Tompkins called attention to the fact that there were three Superintendents of Election in this State with joint powers and read from sections of the law to show that the three Superintendents composed the board and that actions by the Superintendents must be the action of the whole board.

"My first argument in support of the motion to dismiss the charges is based on this misjoinder of the parties defendant. The law requires that all parties interested shall be joined as parties plaintiff or defendant. That was not done in this case."

As to the charges that Mr. Voorhis appointed unfit deputies, Mr. Tompkins said that they were "pure conclusion" and read from the law to show that the board of three Superintendents had the power to appoint.

"Why John R. Voorhis is singled out for attack because of the actions of a board of three members I cannot understand," he said.

Mr. Tompkins asserted that the Board of State Superintendents was required to appoint the nominees given the board in writing by the two party organizations which polled the largest vote at the last preceding election. "The law intended that just such men as the dominant parties nominated be named as deputy Superintendents," was his argument. He said that Voorhis did not deny appointing election district Captains.

Samuel H. Ordway, who appeared for the Honest Ballot Association, said in reply to Mr. Tompkins's motion for dismissal that, inasmuch as the proceedings were not judicial, but executive, no rules of evidence applied, and the only point to be decided in regard to the motion to dismiss was whether the charges contained reasonable grounds for the opinion that Mr. Voorhis was guilty of maladministration in office and whether he was informed of the nature of these charges.

The attorney contended that because Mr. Voorhis was one of a board of three members which appointed deputies who, it was charged, were unfit, he was as responsible for the action as if he alone had made the appointment. He asserted that Gov. Hughes had held Louis Haffen, President of the Bronx, accountable for his actions in the Hunt's Point land scandal, though in this case Haffen contended that he was a member of the Board of Estimate, which appropriated the money for the land.

"Gov. Hughes," Mr. Ordway pointed out, "held that Haffen was guilty of maladministration, because the Hunt's Point proposition was in his own borough. Just so Voorhis is responsible, for he had particular jurisdiction over New York City."

Mr. Ordway said that while the law might not specifically forbid the appointment of election district Captains as deputies and might not forbid the assignment of such deputies to the districts in which they were Captains, yet it was the contention of the Honest Ballot Association that such appointments were unfit.

"We can show that rules of party organizations require that election district Captains get out the vote of their one party and discourage the voters of the other parties," he said. "This is the question of maladministration, and it is on that issue that the continuance in office of Voorhis rests."

Mr. Ordway said that of 160 warrants, 100 indictments, and 6 convictions in the election, not one was due to investigations by Mr. Voorhis. "The persons who tried to call attention of cases of fraud to the authorities," he said, "were constantly harassed and embarrassed."

Samuel J. Rosensohn of 32 Liberty Street appeared as counsel for the Progressive Party. He replied to Mr. Tompkins's comment on the charges which the Progressives submitted.

Mr. McMahon took the motion to dismiss under advisement. He will notify the interested attorneys when he reaches his decision.

25 INDICTMENTS IN FRAUD.

About twenty-five indictments were handed up to Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions yesterday by the additional Grand Jury, which has been investigating charges of fraud at the constitutional convention election. It was understood that the indictments were in the Sixth Election District of the Twelfth Assembly District. Six members of the election board of this district are already under indictment.

Judge Mulqueen ordered the Grand Jury to resume its investigation next week.

According to the investigators, there were no fewer than 800 fradulent votes cast in the Twelfth Assembly District. It was said that an investigation into all the districts of the city probably would uncover enough fraudulent votes to overcome the majority which was announced in favor of the convention.

NO GENERAL STRIKE, DECISION OF MINERS

Rockefeller Denounced in U. M. W. Appeal for Funds to Finance Colorado Strike.

MORE ARMY TROOPS NEEDED

Order to Surrender All Firearms To-day—Cost of Militia So Far $691,793.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 8.—After deciding that it would be unwise to call a general strike, the International Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned late today subject to the call of President John P. White. The board had been in session since Monday morning discussing the conditions of miners in Oregon, and especially those in Colorado, Ohio, and West Virginia. Practically all of the twenty-nine board members who were here for the meeting, had departed to-night for their districts.

Earlier in the day in a statement advising against the strike as a result of a thorough canvass of the situation, the board said:

> We believe that we can better aid our gallant brothers in Colorado by remaining at work, thus insuring in a financial way our fullest support to the men, women, and children, who have been long engaged in the great struggle in Colorado. We must be in a position to finance properly the strike in the State indefinitely, until the success of the miners' cause is assured, and a general strike at this time might jeopardize our position in this respect without adding anything material to the success of the Colorado strike.
> Of course, if conditions in Colorado do not improve, and if we do not receive the proper protection from the Federal Government, this policy may be changed to meet the exigencies of any new situation that the future might develop.
>
> We call upon our membership everywhere to hold themselves in readiness to answer any call we may make upon them. You can rest assured that we are firmly resolved to carry out any move which we believe to be beneficial to the Colorado strikers, but at this particular time we are convinced that the policy we have outlined is the wisest course for us to pursue.

An appeal for aid was authorized by the board when it was informed that a large number of individuals and organizations had asked permission of the international officers to contribute to the fund for the up-keep of the strikers in Colorado. The appeal, which is signed by John P. White, President; Frank J. Hayes, Vice President, and William Green, Secretary-Treasurer, is in part as follows:

> Will you aid them (the Colorado strikers and families) in their struggle against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and the interests which he represents? The request of the President of the United States through his personal representative that Mr. Rockefeller use his influence in behalf of peace was refused. When he denied the President's request, he assumed to be bigger than the Government itself. Shall such a condition be tolerated by a free people? Are Mr. Rockefeller and the interests which he represents larger and more powerful than the Government of the United States?
> We need your help, your sympathy, and your support. We appeal to you to respond promptly and liberally and thus place yourself fairly and squarely on the side of all the people as against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose name is inseparably associated with Standard Oil.

In dealing with the hazardousness of the work of the miner, the report on the Colorado situation declares that "Government statistics show that covering a period of ten years past more men were killed per thousand employed in the coal mines of Colorado than in any other mining section throughout the entire world."

The Colorado report also attacks John D. Rockefeller, Jr., declaring that he, by "one word favoring a settlement between the representatives of the coal companies and the representatives of the striking employes," could have avoided the loss of life and damage to property in that State.

AIMED AT ROCKEFELLER.

Resolution for Inquiry Designed to Get Him Into Colorado.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, May 8.—The House to-day accepted a resolution which goes entirely beyond the Governor's call for the special session, and which, it is believed, is designed to force John D. Rockefeller and others high in the coal company to come to this State to testify.

Representative Bliss introduced the measure, which is a joint House resolution. It was put over for consideration until to-morrow. It provides that a committe shall be appointed to consist of five members, with the power to investigate the principals in the recent battles in the coal fields, in which about fifty persons were killed. One provision is that the committee shall have power to ascertain the names of the leaders, "high and low," in the coal strike of 1913-1914, also that it shall have power to subpœna and compel the attendance of witnesses without the payment of fees in advance.

It is doubtful if the resolution will pass. The Governor's forces showed their dominance to-day, when the resolution of Senator Tierney, attacking Ammons for the manner in which the militia acted in the coal fields, was defeated. This was declared by the Progressives to be a direct vote in favor of the corporation's programme.

A bill empowering the Governor to close saloons in the strike zone at any time passed by a big vote. The Progressives opposed this merely to force another test. The measure passed by the same vote that defeated the Tierney resolution.

MORE TROUBLE FEARED.

Col. Lockett Urges Governor to Send Militia to Threatening Points.

TRINIDAD, Col., May 8.—All was quiet to-night in the coal mining fields of Colorado on the eve of the disarmament to-morrow, an order for which was posted to-day by the military authorities. All civilians were directed to report with their arms at specified places at specified hours.

"Any member of the union failing to comply with this order to surrender weapons will be stricken from the relief lists, and barred from membership in the United Mine Workers of America," concluded the union order, sent out by William Diamond, International representative of the union. The order read:

> You are hereby officially advised and requested to turn over to the military officers of the United States Army all firearms and ammunition in your possession or under your control at 10 A. M., May 9.
>
> You will bring all your arms and ammunition to Beshoar's tent colony, close to the San Rafael Hospital. A receipt will be given you by the United States Army office, authorized to receive the same.

The mine operators' statement read:

> Our guns have been waiting collection by the Federal officers for some time, and when the soldiers go for them they will find them all there—machine guns and all.

Federal troops have been distributed throughout the strike region for the purpose of receiving the weapons and ammunition.

Col. Lockett, commanding the Eleventh United States Cavalry, said he considered the situation in other fields, especially at Glenwood Springs, Oak Creek, and Crested Buttes, extremely grave. He recommended that Gov. Ammons dispatch additional National Guardsmen to those sections, as Federal troops could not be spared for duty there until the forces had been strengthened by at least 800 men. He had reported the situation to Secretary Garrison, and was awaiting further advices.

Col. Lockett informed union leaders that he had referred the question of the rehabilitation of the Ludlow tent colony to President Wilson, with recommendation, and they would have to make further negotiations in that regard to the President himself.

ROOSEVELT CRITICS CONFUTED BY CHART

SHOWN BY DOTTED LINE

Analysis of British Objections to Colonel's Claim Seems to Strengthen American Explorer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The best maps of the Amazon region in this country are in the Congressional Library and a NEW YORK TIMES correspondent examined them carefully to-day. While there is cartographical variation in the mapping of that region, the map which was regarded as the best contained nothing to bear out the assertion of The London Daily News correspondent that Col. Roosevelt must have discovered a river "which flows up hill as well as down dale."

Col. Roosevelt claims that he embarked on the new river in 12.1 south latitude and 60.15 degrees longitude west of Greenwich. The London Daily News correspondent, who tells of a recent traveler on the Madeira River to a point nearly 1,000 miles above the place where Col. Roosevelt embarked from his trip down the new "river of doubt" quotes him as saying that the starting point given by Col. Roosevelt would place the finding of the new river "on the Rio Camarare, the headwater of the Tapajos, one of the great tributaries of the Rio Grande."

This statement by The Daily News correspondent does not appear to fit the mapping of that region as set forth on what is considered the best chart on the Brazil jungle in the Library of Congress. This is what is known as the "Olavo Freire" map, published about five years ago, by Ailland et Cie, of Paris, for Francisco Alves et Cia of Rio de Janeiro. This is one of the maps that explorers take with them when they go up the Amazon or its tributaries. It is a very large chart, so arranged that it can be easily folded, and gives greater geographical detail regarding the region traversed by the Roosevelt party than any other map in the library.

The Olavo Freire map does not picture the Camarare River as being anywhere west of the 60th degree. According to this map the Camarare River in the vicinity of 60 degrees west and 13 degrees south longitude, flows north almost to the 11th parallel then northeastward to the Alto Tapajos River, which continues eastward to about 58.8 degrees west and 10.5 degrees south, then runs northward and flows in that direction many miles until it crosses the 8th parallel when it swings northeastward and emerges in the Amazon at Santarem, much further north of the point where Col. Roosevelt claims to have emerged on the Madeira River.

It was pointed out here to-day that Col. Roosevelt's critics are not in agreement among themselves as to what he may have done. While The Daily News correspondent seems to think that Col. Roosevelt was in reality passing down Tapajos, a well-known tributary of the Amazon. Sir Clements Markham, ex-President of the Royal Geographical Society of London, who expressed himself as somewhat incredulous as to the Roosevelt discovery, seems to think it just possible that Col. Roosevelt from a southerly direction reached one of the fifteen or twenty rivers flowing into the Madeira, not improbably the Canuma, "adding that Col. Roosevelt may have traced the Canuma further south than it has hitherto been explored." The Canuma is many miles west of the Tapajos River, which Col. Roosevelt's other critics thinks he has mistaken for a new river.

The Olavo map shows that seventeen rivers flow into the Madeira from the southeast side, south of and not including the Canuma River. It shows four rivers flowing into the Madeira from the northwest bank. Between the villages of Manicore and Tabacal, where it seems more probable from Col. Roosevelt's preliminary announcement, that his new-found river entered the Madeira, the Olavo map shows four rivers flowing into the Madeira from the direction that Roosevelt came down his alleged new river.

These four rivers are the Uatininga, the Mataura, the Dos Aras, and the Aripuani, the last named entering the Madeira near Tabacal, a short distance southwest of the intersection of the fifth parallel of latitude and the sixtieth degree of west longitude; the Uatininga near Manicore, and the other two rivers in between the two indicated with the Dos Aras River and the Aripuani River, nearest to the point just south of the fifth parallel of latitude, where Col. Roosevelt claimed to have come out of his new river into the Madeira.

The Olavo map, which appears to be the most accurate as to detail, only carries the course of these four rivers up to the edge of the "Zona Pouco Explorada." Sir Clements Markham suggested that some of these rivers might be in the way of the Roosevelt "river of doubt," and that they might have to be crossed by it.

Bars Autos on Nantucket Island.

BOSTON, May 8.—A bill excluding motor vehicles from all roads on Nantucket Island passed the House to-day and was sent to the Senate. A town ordinance forbidding automobiles did not apply to the State highway crossing the island, and the holder of a mail contract operated his automobile from the end of this road to the steamboat wharf by having it towed by a horse.

'MOURNERS' GROWING GLUM.

Wavering in Picketing 26 Broadway —Marie Ganz Back to Cell.

In spite of cheering words from the founder of the Free Silence League, written upon the eve of his departure for Colorado, the league members yesterday seemed on the verge of throwing over entirely the public mourning they have carried on for ten days at 26 Broadway.

Two mourners appeared on the regular beat shortly before noon, but they soon found the work of marching to and fro rather wearisome, and they retired indoors to the league's headquarters, at 8 Trinity Place. There they carried on a heated discussion as to their rights as pickets and mourners, but none cared to demonstrate his rights during a downpour of rain.

Arthur Caron, who has been one of the chief mourners, recalled that he was once a leader of meetings of the unemployed in Rutgers Square, and he departed for his old stand with a bundle of books under his arm, which he proposed selling during a speaking tour of the east side. He said he would soon have the unemployed organization, which was abandoned upon the formation of the Free Silence League, in working order again. He did not say, however, that he or any of his associates would go to work.

Frank Shay, Secretary of the Free Silence League, received a communication from the Executive Committee of the Socialist Party, but it did not cheer him or the remaining Free Silence Leaguers in the least, as it served notice on the mourners that the Socialist Party wanted nothing to do with them, and would not give them even moral support to say nothing of financial help in case of arrest.

A long letter from Sinclair notified the mourners that Mrs. Thomas Seltzer, the Rev. Henry Frank, and Grace Potter, a writer, would be on hand to lead them as he had done in the past, but none of the persons mentioned appeared, for which reason several of the marchers had to go without supper, they having formerly subsisted on little donations from friends of the picketing movement.

Marie Ganz, who was sent to the workhouse for sixty days for threatening to shoot John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was brought before Supreme Court Justice Lehman on a writ of habeas corpus. Justice Lehman heard arguments to the effect that her rights had been violated in her arrest and conviction, but he sent her back to the workhouse after announcing that he would reserve decision in order to consider briefs, which both sides asked that they might submit. Miss Ganz was taken to the Queens County jail last night, where she was assigned to work as a laundress, floor scrubber, and potato peeler.

CALL WASSERMAN 'GRAFTER'

Jacob Hertz and Other East Siders Tell of Paying Money.

Jacob Hertz, former owner of several disorderly houses on the east side, was a witness yesterday at the trial of the $100,000 libel suit brought by Joseph A. Wasserman, a former policeman and a candidate for Sheriff of Bronx County, against The Bronx Home News. He said he made payments steadily to Wasserman for eighteen months, and that during part of this time he acted as a collector for the policeman from eleven other houses.

"I paid him a couple of thousand dollars during this time," Hertz said.

According to Hertz, Wasserman said, when he first demanded protection money: "Jake, you're getting away with murder here. Where's mine?"

On one occasion, Hertz swore, he met Wasserman in a restaurant on Grand Street, and gave him $600 in $100 bills. Another time, Hertz testified, he gave Wasserman $550.

"Why did you pay this money?" he was asked.

"Because he was a policeman," he said.

Four other witnesses testified that they had seen money passed to Wasserman. One of them, John L. Costello, a saloon keeper, swore that Wasserman got $50 a month for more than a year for allowing him to keep open after hours. Costello said the policeman told him that other saloon keepers were paying $100 for the same privilege. According to Costello, Wasserman came into the saloon after hours, when it was open, and collected his money. Several months after he gave up his saloon, he said, he met Wasserman and asked him where he was stationed.

"I am out of the department now," Costello quoted him as saying. "I got mine."

When Wasserman ran for Sheriff on the "Rising Sun" ticket in the Bronx last Fall, The Home News said in effect that "an independent candidate for Sheriff was chased out of the Police Department as a bribe-taker and grafter, and is now posing in the Bronx as a public-spirited business man." Wasserman sued on that statement.

TO EXPLAIN CONLEY NOTES.

Woman Witness in Frank Case to be Examined To-day.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 8.—Solicitor Dorsey will spring another sensation in the Frank case to-morrow morning when he will order Annie Maud Carter before Judge Ben Hill for a rigid examination in reference to her testimony to the effect that Jim Conley confessed the murder of Mary Phagan to her. Mr. Dorsey will demand a complete explanation of her evidence and insist upon learning the source of the letters purported to be from Conley.

Solicitor Dorsey asked Judge Hill today to grant a continuance until next week on the John Tye motion to upset the verdict of guilty in Frank's case on constitutional grounds, as he will not be able to prepare his counter showing by to-morrow morning.

It is stated by a member of the solicitor's staff that he has much evidence to combat the Tye motion, including testimony to the effect that Frank, on the day the verdict was rendered, was aware that his attorneys had waived his presence in court.

CROWDS BARE HEADS AT SICKLES FUNERAL

Military Cortege Marches Up Fifth Avenue to Services in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

VETERANS TRUDGE IN RAIN

Mgr. Lavelle Preaches Sermon After Mass—Body Taken to Washington for Burial To-day.

Between lines of watchers who bared their heads as the flag-covered coffin passed, a military funeral procession marched up Fifth Avenue from Ninth Street to St. Patrick's Cathedral yesterday morning. On a gun caisson amid a guard of honor, composed of his old comrades in the civil war, was the body of Major Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, commander of the Third Army Corps and one of the last of the heroes of Gettysburg.

On top of the coffin lay the blue and gold-braided war cap of the General, his sword, his golden epaulettes. These and the bent, white-haired old soldiers of Phil Kearny Post, who marched as honorary pallbearers beside the bier, touched with a sentiment of reverence the workaday thousands lined up along both sidewalks and leaning from the windows of the stores along the avenue. So they bared their heads as the coffin passed, and told one another in many varieties of English and foreign dialects that it was Gen. Sickles's funeral, and that he had been a famous warrior.

Long before 10 o'clock the military procession began to get ready for formation in the side streets and on the avenue near the Sickles home at 23 Fifth Avenue. The parlor where the General's body lay was banked with flowers, tributes of many friends of the dead soldier. There was a great cross of white roses sent by the State Senate, and a wreath from the Assembly. There was also a large triangle of white lilies of the valley, said to have been sent by Harry K. Thaw, who admired Gen. Sickles greatly.

Members of the Twelfth Regiment of the National Guard carried the coffin from the house to the gun caisson, where the honorary pallbearers formed in line at either side of it. These were all members of Phil Kearny Post of the Grand Army: Commander Edward Hetherton, Senior Vice Commander John Rudmen, Senior Vice Commander H. G. Kopper, Quartermaster T. M. Valleau, Chaplain John Dwyer, Past Commander George H. Stevens, Past Commander John H. Davis, Surgeon William Neary, Col. Michael Donavon, Color Sergt. C. W. Carpenter, and Quartermaster Sergt. James Breese. The Color Sergeant took his stand just back of the gun caisson and the coffin, carrying one of the tattered flags that had felt the leaden hail of Gettysburg on the day Gen. Sickles lost his leg and gained enduring fame.

Members of various Grand Army posts fell in line behind the Phil Kearny men, and the funeral procession closed with carriages containing members of the General's family and friends. Mrs. Sickles, the widow, with her son Stanton, was in the first carriage; Mrs. Thomas C. Denham, a sister of the General, and her husband in the second. Others in the carriages were Gen. Henry L. Burnett, Roland Kirby, the architect of many of the monuments on the Gettysburg battlefield, who made a death mask of Gen. Sickles; Mrs. Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel P. Hays, Gen. James R. O'Beirne and several comrades of the Third Army Corps, Prince Pigniatelli and the Spanish Consul, friends of Mrs. Sickles, and George Gardner Fry.

The bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral tolled a funeral march as the head of the column came into view of the hundreds crowded on the Cathedral grounds and in the avenue there. The mounted policemen and the troops drew up in salute before the Cathedral, leaving a clearing for the funeral cortége of pallbearers and relatives and friends of the dead.

The funeral cortége was received at the centre aisle of the Cathedral by Mgr. M. J. Lavelle, who, assisted by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Sinnot, the Rev. William B. Martin, and the Rev. John J. Byrne, officiated at the high requiem mass.

Mgr. Lavelle, after celebrating the high requiem mass, delivered the funeral sermon.

As the coffin was borne out of the cathedral and placed again on the gun caisson in the street, rain was falling heavily. All the military escort except the squad of mounted men and the gun squad of the field artillery drawing the caisson, had disbanded. The aged pallbearers of Phil Kearny Post, however, would not yield to the cold and heavy downpour, and insisted on taking their places in marching order beside the bier. And they kept in line under the drenching rain, all the way down Fifth Avenue to Thirty-sixth Street and thence to Seventh Avenue and the Pennsylvania Station, where the body was placed aboard a special train, which at 3:34 o'clock took it and the funeral party to Washington.

In Washington, where the funeral party was received by a company of regular troops detailed by Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, the coffin was placed under a guard of honor in the Union Station to remain until this morning. Then it will be escorted by a military guard, consisting of a firing squad and a chaplain, to the National Cemetery at Arlington, Va., where it will be buried.

A Detailed List Is Impossible

because in the lot of over 60,000 volumes there are very few instances of quantities; it is practically a case of no two books alike. A great quantity is second-hand books, but that more often makes a book more valuable than otherwise. And every book, aside from its intrinsic value as a book, is a positively sensational bargain.

TRANSATLANTIC CABLE DISPATCHES TO THE TIMES

TO MAKE A POLAND OF ALSACE-LORRAINE

Systematic Plan to Drive Out Prosperous French Residents Alleged.

AFFECTS 11,000 CITIZENS

Paris Government May Retaliate by Expelling Germans from Eastern France.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 8.—On the strength of information derived from a highly authoritative quarter it is possible to sketch the origin of the present position and general ramifications of the extraordinary scheme of the German Government to purge Alsace-Lorraine of all undesirable Frenchmen.

So far official denials have been confined to contradicting statements that Frenchmen have been expelled or evicted from Alsace-Lorraine, and that general measures looking in that direction have been enforced or contemplated.

It is possible that the putting forth of such denials is in formal good faith, as the evictions and expulsions are taking the form of a refusal to renew permits to remain in Alsace-Lorraine. These must be obtained from year to year by all foreigners.

Evictions Proceed Systematically.

The eviction process, however, is being carefully carried out in widely isolated cases. It is desired to put it into effect gradually and with as little noise as possible, individual reasons being assigned in each particular case, so that nothing savoring of a plan may be apparent. THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is assured, nevertheless, in quarters well informed, that enough has happened and is happening to establish beyond a doubt the fact that a systematic programme exists. His informants assert that the plan unquestionably originated in military quarters. It is thought to have been under consideration for a long time, and to have been hastened by recent events which resulted in the army becoming almost autocratic masters of the situation in Alsace-Lorraine and reducing the civil authorities to helplessness.

The first manifestation of the eviction policy came to light last year, when the army authorities suddenly decreed that no permits should henceforth be issued to foreign sportsmen, even those who for many years had owned shooting boxes in the imperial provinces.

The next symptom was the withdrawal of all permits to French officers who were formerly accustomed to visit friends and relatives in Alsace-Lorraine and had had no difficulty in obtaining permission to remain for periods of several weeks.

A few weeks ago French citizens in various parts of Alsace-Lorraine began to receive notice that their permits to remain in German territory were not to be renewed when they expired. Some of them had been told to prepare to leave within ninety days. The French residents of the two provinces number about 11,000; of these 6,000 are women and girls, 5,000 males, and about 4,000 either young boys or youths and men who live and work so close to the French frontier that the Alsace-Lorraine authorities do not take them seriously into consideration. There are about 1,000 Frenchmen in comfortable circumstances, such as merchants, manufacturers, and well-paid employes in offices or factories. It is these Frenchmen, it is said, at whom the eviction scheme is aimed and who have so far been its victims. Their friends assert that it is desired to supplant them with patriotic Germans, in order that no lucrative post in the economic life of Alsace-Lorraine may be held by "the foe."

No diplomatic representations by the French Government are likely, but reprisals may be taken against the numerous German subjects who live in the eastern departments of France, if not in other districts.

News Depresses Stocks in London.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 8.—Reports of the evictions in Alsace-Lorraine, taken in connection with the news of the precarious condition of the Emperor Francis Joseph, depressed international stocks to-day, while the threatening complications in the Mexican situation and the news of the burning of Tampico oil wells increased the weakness.

Disclaimers issued in Berlin and Strassburg of any intention to pursue a settled policy of eviction of French residents in the conquered provinces have not removed the anxiety caused here by the Paris dispatches cabled to THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday.

Many observers of international affairs believed that some development of the sort was more than likely to follow the resignation of Count von Wedel, the conciliatory Statthalter, because of the Zabern affair. Count von Wedel's policy was designed to obtain for Alsace-Lorraine the status of a federated State within the empire. A step in that direction was the Constitution which he and Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg succeeded in obtaining for the provinces from the Reichstag, with the aid of Socialist votes and in face of the opposition of Prussian Conservatives. Unhappily, the new Alsace-Lorraine Diet assumed an attitude of hostility to the Government, which led the Kaiser to inform the Mayor of Strassburg that if the Alsace-Lorrainers did not behave well he would incorporate them with Prussia. Other German States resented the Kaiser's assumption that he could incorporate an imperial possession with his own royal dominions, and for the moment Alsatian irritation was lost sight of in the storm of German protest.

It is believed, however, that the resultant annoyance in the conquered provinces was aggravated by special laws enabling the Government to suspend French newspapers and other forms of French activity and created a situation which to statesmen of the Prussian tradition may seem to call for a policy of coercion.

The new Statthalter represents a reaction from Count von Wedel's conciliatory methods, and he has a disposition to follow in Alsace-Lorraine the policy which has been carried out in German Poland.

The danger of the situation, of course, lies in France's sentimental interest in her "ravished provinces."

GERMANS FEAR REPRISALS.

Those Living in Paris Anxious Over Alsace-Loraine Expulsions.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 8.—The leading Parisian newspapers to-day publish dispatches from Berlin indicating that the new Governor of Alsace-Lorraine has received summary instructions to be careful in his treatment of French residents of those provinces.

The Berlin correspondent of Le Temps points out that the Strassburg denial of knowledge of wholesale expulsions is worded in a manner too absolute to be convincing. He adds that, according to irrefutable testimony, several Frenchmen have been notified that their permits of residence will not be renewed.

To-day the German Embassy in Paris was invaded by Teutons of all classes residing in this city and its suburbs, anxious to know what steps they ought to take to be able to remain here in the event of France resolving upon reprisals. The embassy staff assured them that the reports from Berlin had been greatly exaggerated.

FAVORS COLOMBIAN TREATY.

Buenos Aires Journal Calls on Congress to Show Its Sincerity.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 8.—La Prensa says that Pan-Americanism accentuates two tendencies—the intellectual solidarity of Root and Bacon and the commercial interest shown by American organizations which have been visiting Latin America.

It urges the American Congress to ratify the treaty with Colombia, and thus affirm in solemn diplomatic form the ideas of ex-President Roosevelt that the United States should treat with Latin America on a basis of equality. The ratification of the treaty, it says, will show the sincerity of the United States.

WAGNER FAMILY FIGHT NOW IN COURT

Frau Beidler Seeks to Compel Recognition as Composer's Daughter.

MONEY QUESTION FIGURES

Says Her Mother and Brother Siegfried Wish to Deprive Her of $7,500 Annuity.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 8.—Legal proceedings to establish whether Frau Isolde Beidler, the wife of the Munich conductor, is the daughter of Richard Wagner or of Hans von Bülow began to-day at Baireuth, the famous Wagnerian shrine.

Frau Beidler is prosecuting her mother and her brother Siegfried for seeking to deprive her of the right to call herself a daughter of Wagner, alleging that they are actuated mainly by financial motives, as the composer settled an annuity of $7,500 on each of his children.

The prosecution demands that Frau Wagner declare under oath whether Isolde is Wagner's or von Bülow's child. The mother has expressed her readiness to do so, alleging that Isolde was born on April 10, 1865, while she was still living with von Bülow and five years before she was divorced from him. She dismisses as irrelevant the fact that she had already given her heart to Wagner at the time of Isolde's birth, and says that the latter is actuated by a desire to extort money from her mother.

Isolde retorts that her main interest is that her twelve-year-old son shall be recognized as the grandson of Wagner. She offers in support of her contention the statement that Wagner dedicated a poem to "my little daughter Isolde" on her fifteenth birthday; that the original text of "Rheingold" was inscribed, "completed on the birthday of my daughter Isolde"; that Wagner once said to her: "You know you are my daughter, not von Bülow's, though, I suppose, you would rather be noble"; that the biographer of Wagner, Glasenapp, wrote: "Cosima bore Wagner two daughters, Isolde and Eva"—the latter now the wife of the English author, Houston Stewart Chamberlain—"after she became his"; that Herr Beidler was assured by his mother-in-law that he was marrying Wagner's daughter, and that the official notice of Wagner's death described Isolde, Eva, and Siegfried as his children.

The proceedings have been adjourned for the production within ten days of testimony as to whether Cosima and von Bülow lived as man and wife between June 12 and October 12, 1864. Evidence on this point will be given by a woman who was housekeeper in the von Bülow home.

CARDINAL FARLEY IN ROME.

To See the Pope Soon—Says Wilson Is Opposed to Conquest.

ROME, May 8.—Cardinal Farley arrived in Rome to-day on a visit to Pope Pius. When his Holiness learned that the American Prelate had reached the city he expressed a desire to see him soon.

Several members of the College of Cardinals and other Church dignitaries visited Cardinal Farley at his hotel this afternoon. When asked concerning the situation in Mexico, the Cardinal expressed a hope that the mediation programme undertaken by the South American powers would prove effective in bringing about a settlement. He said he was convinced that President Wilson was a sincere advocate of peace, and did not desire to add to the territory of the United States by conquest.

MANUEL'S WIFE TO GO HOME

News Revives Rumors of Unhappy Royal Wedded Life.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 8.—The reports, which became current soon after his wedding, of the unhappy married life of ex-King Manuel and his wife are revived by the official announcement that Prince William of Hohenzollern is coming to England to take his daughter home.

Berlin dispatches definitely state that she will return to her father's castle for a long stay. Inquiries made in London confirm the report of Prince William's coming visit and of his daughter's return with him to Germany; but it is not known here if her visit will be of long duration or if Manuel will also go to Germany.

For some time it has been asserted that the Vatican had been approached with a view to the nullification of the marriage. This report has been denied on behalf of Manuel by a French Royalist newspaper.

Irrespective of the alleged estrangement which followed the marriage, it has been observed that the ex-King's recent life in London was calculated to arouse suspicion that his domestic relations were not all they might be. He is seen very frequently without his wife and is an assiduous frequenter of certain night clubs whose leading lights are queens of musical comedy and vaudeville.

NOTED OIL EXPERT COMING.

Dr. Edelmann Will Study the American Petroleum Industry.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 8.—One of Europe's most famous oil experts is due in New York on the Imperator to-morrow. He is Dr. L. Edelmann, who became celebrated by inventing a process for converting unrefined Rumanian petroleum into illuminating oil, said to be equal to the best Pennsylvania oil of the same sort. He has also perfected inventions for converting the by-products of Rumanian oil into aniline dyes.

Dr. Edelmann plans to make an extended trip through the oil fields of the United States with a view of studying the American petroleum industry and looking into the possibility of employing his various inventions there.

ADMITS MURDERS TO ORDER

Argentine Slayer Says Killing Peons Is All in the Day's Work.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 8.—A man who has been arrested in connection with the finding of sixteen bodies of men murdered on the upper Parana River is reported to have confessed committing some of the murders as a matter of business. He says he was only acting under orders and for the account of others.

It is known that slavery in a vicious form exists among the laborers of the maté (Paraguayan tea) plantations and timber-cutting companies. The Argentine Government is sending detectives to investigate the case. Conditions are said to be even worse in Paraguayan and Brazilian labor camps.

WESLEY RELICS SOLD.

Many Interesting Letters and Portraits Dispersed at Sotheby's.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 8.—Only two prices worth mention were realized at to day's sale at Sotheby's of the Wright collection of Wesleyana.

A series of autograph letters of the Wesley family, including seventeen by John Wesley, in one of which he refers to his wife as "my best friend (such she undoubtedly is, in a sense)," was sold to Smyth for $405; the second bidder being the Rev. Mr. Sharp of the Methodist Publishing House.

Smyth also bought a collection of upward of 550 engraved portraits, drawings, &c., embracing practically all the known portraits of John Wesley, for $210.

The amount realized by the sale was $1,295.

CUBAN LOTTERY SCANDAL.

Counterfeiters of Tickets Said to be Making $600,000 a Month.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 8.—The charge that counterfeit tickets in Cuba's National Lottery were being printed thrice monthly and sold in Porto Rico and other countries was made in the lower house this afternoon, when Representative Sagaro showed photographs of supposedly legitimate tickets found in Porto Rico. He asserted that the fraud netted the perpetrators $600,000 monthly.

The discovery of the frauds caused a sensation in all circles. The Government became cognizant of them yesterday, and searched various places where the tickets were thought to be concealed, the police giving the excuse that they were hunting for stolen jewels. This afternoon President Menocal called the Director and principal officials of the Lottery Bureau and Secretary of Government Hevia to a conference, at which Representative Ferrara said that so many public employes were involved in the frauds that Congress, regardless of political affiliations, should investigate them and turn over to the courts all the evidence obtainable.

It is said that these tickets have been extensively sold in Key West, Tampa, and other Florida towns.

No arrests have yet been made, as the authorities have been unable to fix the blame.

The Chief of the Secret Police reports that the duplicate tickets were used by persons conducting a private lottery throughout the West Indies and paying prizes on drawings made in the Cuban Lottery, but only paying $40,000 as the first prize, instead of $100,000, the amount of the Cuban capital prize.

The Seen and Unseen at Stratford-on-Avon
By William Dean Howells

A book full of sprightly fantasy and wise fun. It is a merry telling of merry doings in which the present and very-much-alive Mr. Howells spends a week with the gay ghost of Mr. Shakespeare. The latter talks to Mr. Howells about what he did with New Place when he bought it and finally settled down in Stratford, what became of it after he died. Bacon joins Shakespeare and Howells, and they have a joyful time together. This new book is not only for Mr. Howells's regular readers, but a book for everybody.

What Will People Say?
By Rupert Hughes

This is what they DO say: "The biggest book ever turned out by any modern author. I was more interested than I have been in any story since I read 'Ben Hur' at the time I was about twelve years of age. Distances anything in years. I was in a cold sweat when I finished. It is your cycle now." "Frankly, I consider it just about the finest piece of writing I have ever seen in the English language. I had not been disappointed in one whom I consider the literary artist of to-day. For has not the literary artist of the past decade (one Rudyard Kipling) said: 'For surely Accuracy is the touchstone of all Art'?"

Social Forces In England and America
By H. G. Wells

The New York Times says that "in this book Mr. Wells has evidently put his house in order. He has set forth clearly and consecutively his thoughts upon human society, what it is now and what it promises to be, or may, by careful guidance, succeed in becoming. He has come to certain decisions, and has cleared away a lot of vague fancies. Looking about him at the modern world, he has measured what appear to him the significant things, both in men's minds and in the machinery by which man conducts the business of living."

The Marryers
By Irving Bacheller

"It's a ticklesome kind of a book," says one man who has read the story. "A journey of about a thousand laughs will land one at the climax of the story a wiser and better American. Laugh by laugh he gathers wisdom in its pages." Like "Keeping Up with Lizzie," it provokes the laughter of conviction. You get something more than fun out of such books. You get your mental house jacked up and plumbed and leveled. "The Marryers" is Socrates Potter at his best. This time he gets after the Europe-mad and the title-crazy. He points the way to the only asylum for the sane in a time of general insanity—in a time when people are wasting their poverty and honor in wild commercial dissipations.

Novel Ways of Entertaining
By Florence Hull Winterburn

Here are suggestions—practical and interesting—for the perplexed housekeeper who seeks to give a touch of novelty to her entertainments, the latest ideas in the world of social amusements. New ways for giving teas, dinners, house-parties, and card parties are described, as well as outdoor amusements such as picnicking, beach-teas, dining on the roof, etc. Nor are the children forgotten. The mother who is at her wits' end to know how to amuse them is sure to appreciate just the kind of help these pages offer.

The author shows systematically and scientifically, though with the same clearness and simplicity which mark his earlier work, the nature of those forces which are transforming the relationship of states, and indeed, to some extent, the mechanism of organized society as a whole.

A large proportion of the work is devoted to showing the interaction of material and moral forces in politics, the relation of nationality and political idealism to those theories with which the author's name is so strongly identified.

COUNCIL RE-ELECTS LADY ABERDEEN

Women's Congress in Rome Almost Unanimous for Former Head.

MRS. SEWALL ALSO CHOSEN

Promises to Devote More Time to International Duties—Queen Mary a Patroness.

ROME, May 8.—The Countess of Aberdeen was to-day re-elected President of the International Council of Women by an almost unanimous vote. Lady Aberdeen will hold office for five years. Mrs. Wright Sewall of Eliot, Me., was re-elected Honorary President.

Among the other officers chosen today are: Mme. Jules Siegfried of France, First Vice President; Mme. Henni Forchhammer of Denmark, Second Vice President; Mrs. Henry Dobson of Tasmania, Third Vice President; Fräulein Dr. Alice Salomon of Germany, Corresponding Secretary; Mme. Alpen Salvador of France, Recording Secretary, and Mrs. W. E. Sanford of Canada, Treasurer.

Committee Presidents were elected, as follows: Mrs. Willoughby Cummings of Canada, finance; Mrs. George Cadbury of England, peace and arbitration; the Rev. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw of New York, suffrage and rights of citizenship; Dr. Van Dorp of Holland, laws concerning the legal position of women; Mme. Avril de Sainte-Croix of France, equal moral standards and traffic in women; Mme. Girard Mangin of France, public health; Mrs. Ogilvie Gordon of Scotland, education; Countess Danieli Canozzi of Italy, emigration and immigration.

When the announcement of her re-election was made, Lady Aberdeen delivered an address to the assembly. She said she had hoped a woman of another nationality would relieve her of the responsibilities of the office of President of the council. The members of her family, she added, desired her to abandon the trying post, and she had consented to be a candidate for re-election only when she had been unanimously requested to do so. The Countess said she doubted if the council had done the best thing it could have done by re-electing her, but that nevertheless she would continue her work, putting her whole heart into it. In concluding, she expressed her thanks for the confidence that again had been reposed in her.

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett of Washington, President of the American section, created a laugh by moving a resolution that a telegram of condolence be sent the Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, on the re-election of his wife. When the laughter had subsided the assembly adopted a motion to send to the Earl a telegram of thanks for the services of the Countess.

Mrs. Sewall also addressed the assembly and thanked the council for her re-election as Honorary President. She held the attention of the officers and delegates as she dwelt on the international character of the work being done by the national council, which, she said, was gradually making for an era of international sisterhood. Mrs. Sewall apologized for what she termed seeming neglect in her work for some time past, which had been due to absorbing service in the cause of woman suffrage. She added, however, that others now were sharing this work with her, and that henceforth she hoped to give more of her time and energy to international questions.

American methods of rural life were the subject of an address delivered this morning before the council by Miss Janet Elizabeth Richards of Washington. The success of these methods, she said, had been proved by the fact that foreigners were sending their sons to America to study them. Miss Richards was the bearer of greetings from the Daughters of the Revolution, from the United States Daughters of 1812, and from the Federation of Women's Clubs of the District of Columbia, which are not represented officially at the congress.

Mrs. A. H. Proudfoot of Chicago brought greetings to the congress on behalf of Baroness Bertha von Suttner, who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1905 and for whom Mrs. Proudfoot is acting as proxy.

Queen Mary of England has consented to become patroness of the English Council of Women, according to an announcement made to-day by Mrs. Creighton, one of the British delegates. Mrs. Creighton, who was greeted with great applause, added that the English Union was in favor of woman suffrage, but not of militancy, which was advocated by only an insignificant minority of the women of England.

LONDON TIMES'S BIG JUMP.

Cut in Price Sends Circulation Up from 53,000 to 170,000 Copies.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Saturday, May 9.—An interesting development in London's newspaper war is the publication in The Times this morning of the circulation figures of the "Thunderer" for the last fifty years.

In 1903 its circulation was 25,000. In 1866, the year of the Austro-German war, its circulation was 70,000, the highest point touched until, with the reduction in price to 2 cents, the figures jumped to 170,000. The figures of the average daily circulation given are: 1864, 65,000; 1866, 70,673; 1876, 62,975; 1880, 56,942; 1890, 40,568; 1900, 38,176; 1910, 44,841. In 1913 the figures were 53,130.

The Times points out that its circulation to-day is practically five times larger than it was eleven years ago. The average daily circulation for the first six days of May is given as 170,825. It is to be noted that these figures refer to the gross circulation, which is subject to reduction by the return of unsold copies. The paper speaks of them as showing its "unquestioned supremacy among journals issued at its own price." The Times goes on to say that in future its actual net sales will be announced, as was formerly the custom of The Times and all other newspapers.

The recent change in price of The Times has completely revolutionized the position of the penny morning newspapers in London. With the exception of The Times, however, it is not likely that any of them will venture on a disclosure of that which Mr. Delane so consistently urged—the number of copies actually sold to the public.

JILTED GIRL SUES; GETS A JUDGMENT

Miss Derryle Law Recovers $3,000 Damages Against Estate of Capt. Hamilton.

REJECTED BY TELEPHONE

Engagement Broken Because Captain's Family Learned Miss Low Was Not an Heiress.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 8.—Mr. Justice Warrington, in the Chancery Court today gave judgment for Miss Derryle Law, an Atlanta girl, who sued the executors of the late Capt. Hamilton.

The plaintiff, wearing a gray costume and a black hat trimmed with roses, gave evidence in support of her claim that Capt. Hamilton executed a settlement agreement to pay her $3,000 to prove his high esteem for her. The postponement of the wedding and the eventual breaking of the engagement, according to her counsel, showed that Capt. Hamilton had been overborne by his mother and sister, who at first had consented to the engagement because they believed his fiancée to be an heiress.

Miss Law said that her last word from Capt. Hamilton was a telephone message, in which he told her that they were no longer engaged. She replied that they were most certainly engaged, and he answered that they could not possibly be married, as they would have only "a bucketful of debts" to live on. She laughingly replied that she would like the novel experience, but did not take him seriously. "Good-bye, dearest," were Capt. Hamilton's last words over the telephone.

His Lordship gave judgment for the plaintiff for $3,000 and the costs of the action, holding that the consent of the plaintiff to the postponement of the marriage formed a proper legal consideration for Hamilton's promise to settle $3,000 on her.

TO FIGHT THE BEEF TRUST?

Government of Australia to Investigate Its Operations There.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MELBOURNE, May 8.—The Federal Government has announced its intention of appointing a commission to inquire into the operations of the so-called Beef Trust in Australia.

This decision is a victory for the enemies of the American trust and vindicates the campaign of The Age and other newspapers. The commission must report before the end of the year and submit recommendations for improving the administration of the anti-trust laws.

Approval of the Ministry's action is expressed throughout the Commonwealth.

DUKE DIVORCED AMERICAN.

Former Husband of Countess Gasquet-James Now in This Country.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 8.—Duke Heinrich Borwin of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, whose visit to America is receiving notice here, is the cousin of the Crown Princess Cecilie and was recently involved in divorce proceedings with an American woman in the English courts.

The Duke married the Countess de Gasquet-James at the Registrar's office in Dover, England, in 1911. A short time after the marriage was solemnized at a religious service in the chapel of one of the Countess's castles.

The Countess was Miss Elizabeth Tibbetts Pratt of Prattsville, N. Y., and her first husband was the Count de Gasquet-James, a Papal nobleman who died in 1903. At the time of her marriage to Duke Heinrich she was 55 years old, and he was 27.

In March, 1913, the Duke brought suit in Germany to have his marriage annulled on the ground that it was contracted without the consent of his guardian. The court, sitting at Rostock-on-the-Baltic, upheld his contention, and the marriage was declared void.

The Countess brought suit in England to have the marriage declared valid in February of this year. Sir Samuel Evans, presiding Judge of the Divorce Court in London, ruled that the court had no jurisdiction and dismissed the case, and the Countess was forced to pay the costs of the action.

THE NAVY AND THE ARMY.

To place our navy, within a reasonable time, in the relative position it should occupy among the navies of the world we should lay down more than two modern battleships every year. Yet the general feeling is that only the gravity of the Mexican crisis has induced the House of Representatives to vote for the building of two ships this year. Among the prominent Members who voted against two battleships were Mr. UNDERWOOD and Mr. MANN. It is difficult to understand the attitude of these gentlemen, whose patriotism is not to be questioned. There is no taint of jingoism in plans for the upbuilding of the navy in this very modest way. Already some of our largest warships are hopelessly out of date. The argument that preparedness for war is not necessary is assuredly not potent just now, when war threatens, and nobody can say what the outcome may be.

The permanent enlargement of the army is another matter, the popular theory being that in case of war we must always largely depend upon volunteer soldiers. But there is strong support for Senator CHAMBERLAIN's resolution authorizing the President to increase the strength of the army to 110,000 men. Under the law now the maximum strength is 100,000, but there are not more than 85,000 men in the service all told. It is expected that Mr. CHAMBERLAIN's plan will be accepted by the Senate and will also receive the approval of the House. Two brigades in Texas are now ready to board the transports for service in Mexico on short notice, and it is not unlikely that they will soon be called for. The landing of reinforcements at Vera Cruz, a port already in our possession, will not imply any disregard of either the letter or the spirit of our agreement to refrain from hostilities while the representatives of the South American republics are endeavoring to find a peaceable solution of the Mexican problem.

REGULATION OF COMPETITION.

Everybody is for the regulation of railroad rates, but few perceive that the regulation of rates involves the regulation of many other things. For example, the regulation of railway rates has slipped almost without remark into the regulation of railway profits. The regulation of railway profits results in the regulation of all investments, since there can be no separation of railway investments from other investments except through the relation of their prices and yields. Nobody proposes this result, yet it is at the moment embarrassing both the regulation of rates and the investment market. An even broader extension of regulation was announced yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Ostensibly it is a construction of the long and short haul clause, whose intended purpose is to prevent the railways from charging more for a short haul than for a long haul, taking less for the longer haul if the business could not be got otherwise. That was competition for traffic, but the Commission rules that it must stop, except accordnig to the Commission's permission to compete.

Even more unexpected than this is the fact that it is not a railway decision primarily. The Commission does not rule that rates are too high or too low in themselves. It rules that the competition between markets is unfair when it is created by discrimination in the rates between them. That is something different from discrimination in rates between shippers. It is a prohibition of discrimination between cities when the railways cut rates in order that the competition may be created. The decision is a prohibition of the reduction of rates under the conditions specified. To that extent it saves the railways from themselves, by protecting them from rivalries in reductions such as are forbidden by combinations for the restraint of competition. Evidently it is better for the railways than for the buyers of [illegible] cheapened by the reductions now forbidden. Evidently, also, the cities whose commerce as distributing centres is checked by the loss of the lower rates will not be among the admirers of this unexpected regulation of the competition of cities as the result of the regulation of rates.

Incidentally, it may be remarked that the decision is described as affecting "the whole basis of ratemaking in the Southeast." But the Commission is said to be embarrassed about making a general ruling regarding the advance of rates asked for by the carriers of the East. It would seem to be another case of the Commission being able to find reasons for what it thinks ought to be done. This is far from being the sole example of general decisions establishing rates by great classes and on broad principles instead of by consideration of special cases. As rates run up to millions, it would seem an absurdity to expect the Commission to rule regarding individual rates. The declaration of principles and the establishment of rules would seem the better way. In that case rates established accordingly would have the presumption in their favor, and it would seem might be allowed unless complained of and the complaint established. In that way rates might be allowed pending disapproval, instead of disallowed pending approval. The present method is the latter, and it has relegated a large part of the nation's commerce to the investigation and suspension docket.

LABOR PROSECUTIONS.

In this State there have been now three decisions, by Judges MAYER, WARD, and HOUGH, that the so-called secondary boycott is a violation of the penal law of New York. Yet the Judges are so careful of the interests of labor that they refuse a preliminary injunction for the protection of the interests damaged by these criminal conspiracies. It is necessary to approve the decision of the Judges both regarding the conspiracy and the refusal of the injunction against damage through it. It is not right that the criminal law should be invoked in private litigations, or that an equity process should be invoked in proceedings which should be undertaken by a public prosecutor.

These points are mentioned for two reasons. The refusal of the injunction shows that it is unnecessary to deprive the courts of the power of injunction. No case has ever been cited of damage to labor by the wrongful issue of an injunction, and it is sure that if the courts were deprived of this aid to equity damage would result to private interests. In the second place it is worth while to notice that private interests have been repeatedly successful in prosecuting labor conspiracies in cases where the public officials have been inactive. It was so also in prosecutions under the Federal anti-trust law.

The accumulation of three judicial decisions procured by private interests against criminal conspiracies of labor which have not been challenged by the public prosecutor in New York shows conditions that call for attention—and action. Private prosecutors cannot enforce the criminal law, and when such laws are violated with impunity a license is given to offenses against public interests. In these three cases the evidence has been given, the law has been declared, and those who profit by the violations of law are a mere fraction in number of those who suffer by the neglect to enforce the law. This makes the law a farce.

A BLOW AT ENLIGHTENMENT.

The action taken by the Senate, forbidding co-operation between the Agricultural Department and private endowments such as the General Education Board, is worthy of very serious consideration. It was argued in the Senate that the Government could not enter into partnership arrangements with Mr. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER or with any other individual, for fear that such partnership might be an indirect way of influencing Governmental policy in some direction or other; and the Senate thereupon went to the length of expressly prohibiting co-operation between the Department of Agriculture and the General Education Board.

The Senate overlooked the fact that money surrendered to a philanthropic corporation controlled by men of the highest integrity and of national reputation for great public services is no longer the money of the individual who made the gift. Mr. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER has given thirty or forty millions of dollars to the General Education Board, but Mr. ROCKEFELLER is not the board; he is not even a member of the board. The board consists of men of prominence, known to the country. It is plainly absurd to pretend that President ELIOT, President JUDSON, President GILMAN, President ALDERMAN, Dr. CURRY, Mr. STOKES, Dr. FRISSELL, Mr. PAGE, and Mr. SHAW are rubber stamps for any person, whoever he be. Whatever "partnership" has existed has existed with the General Education Board, represented by the men above mentioned.

Waiving the point just considered, is it in the interest of sound public policy to forbid co-operation between Governmental agencies and bodies endeavoring to promote the public good? A society which is earnestly endeavoring to make the most and the best of itself cannot leave everything to Government. Private organization, endowed and unendowed, is the democratic way of not leaving everything to the initiative and control of the State. The society that wishes to improve itself must feel its way by experimentation. But Governments are ill-adapted to social and educational experimentation. The Peabody Fund and the Southern Education Board have rendered splendid public service in the Southern States. The farm demonstration work, which may prove the most momentous contribution ever made to Southern agricultural development, has been worked out on educational lines by the General Education Board, a development that would probably never have taken place had not a private organization, with adequate funds, piloted the work through its experimental stages. The Senate has entered upon a policy which, if consistently pursued, will forever stop all such enterprise.

It was urged in the Senate that co-operation of this kind has its dangers. Much of the discussion was bombast and need not be taken seriously; but one or two thoughtful men participated in the debate and appeared to share these feelings. They were apparently of the mind that the dangers in question did not attend co-operation limited to local bodies; but this is, of course, a futile distinction. If Legislatures can be debauched by national organizations they can just as readily be influenced by local bodies. The truth is that safety in either case depends on the character and purpose of the men who are offering to co-operate; and when, as in the present case, the men offering to co-operate are such as President ELIOT, President JUDSON, and Mr. PAGE, the real enemies of the country are the men who place obstacles in their way. The sufferer is the poor farmer whose agricultural demonstrations are threatened, the poor negro whose industrial education may be cut off, the rural schoolboy whose opportunities for education may be lessened by this folly.

It ought to be seriously considered whether such action as has just been taken by the Senate does not defeat its own intention to the extent that it is calculated to obstruct the socialization of great fortunes through intrusting their management to disinterested, independent trustees, representing the best thought of the country.

THE LORDS AND SUFFRAGE.

We should say that the suffragists, as distinguished from the suffragettes, in England would regard the vote in the House of Lords with a good deal of satisfaction. That even sixty members of that venerable body should be willing to vote for unqualified equality of suffrage at this time is a result that could hardly have been expected. And it is noteworthy that among these sixty there are four Bishops and the Archbishop of Canterbury, representing certainly the most conservative of the intelligent classes in the United Kingdom. The support of Lord MORLEY is not so surprising, as that distinguished philosopher has never entirely cleared his mind of the à priori tendencies of his younger and more radical days when the "right" to vote seemed to him approximately a dictate of natural law.

There does not appear to have been a very noteworthy debate of the matter. The chief argument in opposition, as reported, was that of Lord ST. ALDWYN, who based his opposition on the fact that women were in a majority in the United Kingdom, and to grant them the Parliamentary suffrage would be to hand over the destinies of the country and the empire to a female electorate, a step fraught with peril. On the face of it the logic of this argument is unanswerable. But obviously it rests on the assumption that the "females" would vote as a class, which is a very broad assumption indeed, and one not in harmony with experience. As a mere matter of logic chopping the argument is no better than the one used fifty years ago, and often since, as to the extension of suffrage among men. It was then said, and it was true, that the ignorant in the reformed electorate would be in the majority. But it has been found that they did not vote in a solid mass of ignorants, but divided up about equally between the different parties. It is safe to infer that the women would do the same.

The strongest argument against a grant of suffrage to women in Great Britain, as here, is that all sweeping changes in the organic law and in the essential conditions of public action are necessarily dangerous. That argument we think will prevail among reasonable people, but we are not at all sure that it will prevent the change for which the forces of sentiment and emotion are at present working with remarkable energy.

THE LEGISLATURE.

If the Assembly passes the Appropriation bill without providing for the Department of Efficiency and Economy and the Fire Marshal's office, its conferees with the Senate should have the common sense to arrange for the support of those regular instruments of the State Government until next February, when the question of retaining or abolishing them can be decided.

It cannot be decided now. The laws creating the departments are on the statute books. It is the Legislature's plain duty to support their enforcement. Only factional reasons can be given for the denial of this support by the Assembly.

The conferees of the Senate can accomplish another good stroke, which will prevent that body from seeming to shield thieves and grafters. Investigators, both Democratic and Republican, have reported losses of tens of millions of dollars by the State at the hands of a gang of political conspirators, who exacted contributions from contractors of public works in return for cheapening the works below specifications and increasing their costs. These investigators have not been clothed with the full powers now possessed by the Sullivan Investigating Committee of the Assembly. Senator FRAWLEY is striving frantically to withhold the appropriation of $40,000 for its support. The committee will be supported, anyway, from private funds if not from public funds. The Democratic Senate has already its share of obloquy. It should virtuously approve this appropriation.

The Legislature should have another chance to repeal the "joker" in the election law that makes it easy to colonize "floaters" by defining a resident as one having a "place of stay." It should have another chance to say whether the direct primary law is to be safeguarded with bi-partisan watchers, the application of the signature law to identify voters, and provisions for the sending of sample ballots in advance to facilitate deliberate choices, and the holding of the primaries on the first day of registration. Gov. GLYNN may save the Fall elections from corrupt practices by repeating his special message of the regular session urging these reforms.

COMPLAINTS OF THE REFUGEES.

There is no lack of sympathy for the unfortunate men and women who have been brought out of Mexico since the occupation of Vera Cruz. There is not the slightest disposition to criticise them harshly for not heeding the warning of the United States Government and abandoning their business and their homes in Mexico before circumstances compelled them to seek safety in flight. Many of them have lost all their possessions. All have suffered hardship. Some have been subjected to the most brutal treatment at the hands of ignorant Mexican soldiers.

But it is well to bear in mind that their testimony against Mexico and the Mexicans is inevitably prejudiced, that their judgment, in the circumstances, is not infallible, and that the complaints those of them who were brought out of the desolate land by way of Tampico have made against Admiral MAYO, for removing his warships from the harbor at that port before all his compatriots were rescued, are especially short-sighted and ill-judged. The Admiral's explanation of his action was perfectly satisfactory. As a matter of fact, the ships left the harbor under orders to join Admiral FLETCHER's fleet at Vera Cruz, and when the order was countermanded Admiral MAYO did not reenter the harbor because he received information that if he did so there would be attacks on the Americans in Tampico by the populace. Satisfactory arrangements were made for the removal of American refugees by German and English ships.

There is nothing to prove the contrary in the wild manifesto signed by the refugees on the Esperanza. With the afflictions of these persons we must have the largest sympathy, but we cannot accept their angry denunciations of their country and its naval officers as important contributions to history. Similarly, the condemnation of American policy by certain refugees at New Orleans is interesting but not important. The foreign policies of any country are always open to criticism, but we cannot accept as sound international law the idea of persons who have suffered privation in foreign lands that their country's first duty is to help them and punish with fire and sword all who have misused them.

The Mexican question as it confronts the President of the United States is much deeper and more intricate than such judges are able to comprehend. They have been brought out of danger, and they were duly warned of its existence months ago. We do not blame them for holding on to their possessions and running the risk, but they are mistaken in supposing that we maintain an army and navy for the sole purpose of enabling American citizens to live safely in countries in which enemies of their own country abound. The comments of Secretary DANIELS on the complaints of some of the refugees, spoken to a delegation on Thursday, were quite to the point. He received them expecting an expression of gratitude for their rescue. The rebuke he administered to them was merited.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

His River Must Be All Right. None of the really big men among the English geographers—those who rank with or near Sir CLEMENTS MARKHAM—has done much more in the way of throwing doubt on Col. ROOSEVELT's new river than to express gentle wonder how it could be where he says it is without their knowing it. To anonymous correspondents and editors, who may or may not be high authorities on the Amazonian system of water courses, have been left the risks of saying that the Colonel was certainly wrong and of more than hinting that his announcement was merely a characteristic advertising dodge.

How great these risks are was shown by the statements made yesterday by American scientists who, if not as famous as some members of the Royal Geographical Society, yet are of deserved eminence in this field, and have, besides, as a basis of judgment, knowledge covering many years of the Colonel's record as an observer of wild nature, animate and inanimate. This record, they unite in saying, is that of a man able and eager to be scrupulously accurate, and every one of them rejects as even a possibility that he and his even better trained associates, with the equipment their expedition had of maps and instruments, could have been mistaken as to the quality of their discovery or would have put in a false claim for fame.

The favorite English theory—that what the explorers "discovered" is either the Tapajos or the Canuma, both rivers fairly well known and long ago mapped—the American experts dismiss as incredible in the circumstances, and this opinion carries vastly more weight than do those of critics who fail, as nobody over here not blinded by prejudice does, to distinguish sharply between ROOSEVELT the politician and ROOSEVELT the naturalist. In the latter rôle, whatever may be thought of him in the other, the Colonel has never given reason or excuse for distrust. Of "nature faking" and "nature fakers" his denunciations have always been vigorous and effective—how effective there is many a hide nailed on his barn to show—and the likelihood that he has put a river where it would have to run up hill will not seem measurable to anybody who knows the man at all as he is.

Evil Days Out in Illinois. Sad indeed is the fate of those Illinois towns where, the thirty days of grace allowed by law having expired, all the dispensers of "wet goods" have shut up shop and left the thirsty—for the time being, at least—with no more satisfactory assuagement than they can find in "soft" drinks.

Some 1,100 more or less flourishing gin-mills are no more as a result of votes ascribed with bitter reproach "largely to women," and in the mournful summing up of the new situation we read of single cities—one of them Decatur—where several hundred men have been deprived of employment and a hundred buildings till now well rented stand tenantless and unproductive. And in these hard times, too!

To make a bad matter worse, the implacable Prohibitionists are grinning over the awful scene and telling those whom they have reduced to idleness that other trades in which their previous training will serve them well stand open to them. Porches, they say, abound all through Illinois, and with a little practice they can be quietly climbed in the dark, while doormats innumerable all through the deep mud region promise reward for the industry of those less enterprising or agile. Pocket-picking, though an art not to be instantly acquired, opens still wider vistas equally congenial, according to these kill-joys, to the retired bartender, and they actually go so far as to suggest that safe-breaking, while attended with certain dangers, is more reputable than the dispensing of strong waters!

And the advocates of aridity haven't a tear even for owners of real estate whose incomes they have shut off, and, as for the serious decrease in municipal revenues, they dismiss complaints on that score by declaring that the contributions of saloons to the public funds never paid half of the expenditures necessitated by the criminality and pauperism which those establishments everywhere create.

Arguments like these are of course best met with dignified silence. That is the proper answer, also, to statistics apparently showing that "dry" towns get along fairly well and even prosper. Everybody knows that anything can be proved by figures.

Another Appeal by Higgins. A new advertisement by the indefatigable person who seems to be the Anti-Vaccination League of America vehemently advises those in charge of private and parochial schools that the law compelling the protection of children from smallpox applies only to public schools and that they should resist with determination—or desperation, if necessary—any attempt to subject their innocent charges to an operation which he calls always dangerous and often fatal.

While the remarkable Mr. HIGGINS states accurately enough the law as to vaccination, he decidedly underestimates the powers of the Board of Health to take any measures in its judgment essential to the preservation of public safety. Those powers are so nearly limitless that those who accept his advice as sound are in for some rude surprises should real danger of a smallpox epidemic arise here.

Why Mr. HIGGINS assumes that the managers of private and parochial schools are less well informed as to the value of vaccination than anybody else, or that, if not coerced, they will neglect a precaution the value of which is beyond sane question—these are mysteries which he permits to remain as "vaporous and unaccountable" as the poet—who was not up in the new psychology and had never read Freud—said that Dreamland was. Both the poet and Mr. HIGGINS are mistaken.

THE MUFFLER CUT-OUT.

It Saves Very Little Power at Ordinary Running Speeds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If your correspondent, Mr. Hallock, had read my recent letter on the muffler cut-out question with a little more care he would have noticed that I distinctly stated that "for ordinary running speeds the saving in power is not sufficient to warrant the use of the cut-out."

I merely asserted that a difference in power does exist, but it is also true that it does not become of sufficient importance until a pretty high speed is reached. Since Mr. Hallock appears to question my knowledge of the subject, I beg to submit figures proving my contention.

In a recent test of a six-cylinder motor of well-known American make it was found that the maximum speed obtainable with a given load was 1,540 revolutions per minute, at which point 65 horse power was developed. After the muffler was removed the speed increased to a maximum of 1,780 revolutions per minute and the output reached 80 horse power. Below 1,000 revolutions per minute the difference was found to be negligible.

My letter was not a brief in favor of the cut-out. I expressly qualified its indiscriminate use as a nuisance, and advocated that its use as a signal be forbidden. But I also stated that it should not be banished from cars altogether. The caption which the editor placed at the head of my letter could not better have been chosen to convey my meaning.

The fact that the cut-out is frequently used as a signal is due not because it is "easier to press down the foot than to take the hand off the wheel," (which is not quite true, by the way,) but because pedestrians, and especially children playing ball in the street, simply will not heed any other signal.

London's Omnibus Traffic.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In connection with the discussion on the busiest terminal, which I have followed with interest, it may not be known that the London General Omnibus Company, which controls London's vast motor omnibus service, carried over 60,000,000 passengers in a month, on a mileage of nearly 9,250,000.

The total mileage covered by these buses last year was 53,131,618, and the traffic three-quarters of a billion passengers a year—a figure that seems almost impossible, yet which is true, for the buses serve Greater London, which has a population of about 10,000,000.

ART ALLIANCE FORMED.

New Organization for the Aid of Artists and Art Buyers.

The Art Alliance is an organization that follows the tendency of the times in bringing together producer and consumer in as direct a relation as possible. It has been decided, somewhat late, it must be admitted, that art has an economic importance which has been underrated, that there is economic waste in permitting young artists to go about with portfolios peddling their wares for lack of organization and effective direction, and that there should be a central depot where designers could have their drawings on exhibition or in portfolios, and where buyers of art could find a wide range of selection.

Hence the Art Alliance, which is to have its headquarters in the Millbank Building in Forty-second Street. For artists seeking employment a classified register and directory will be maintained, containing the names and addresses of artists and of publishers, periodicals, manufacturers, advertisers, and others. The Board of Directors will include representatives of the leading art organizations, schools, artists who are in touch with the various means of public exhibitions throughout the country, and business men who have to do with the purchase of art products. There will be a permanent exhibition room where the work of registered artists will be on view and from which examples can under proper conditions be sent out for examination.

The alliance is the result of much study of the economic aspect of the arts in actual practice by a group of New York men and women interested not only in art but in vocational training and industrial betterment, and advice to intending artists will be given as well as opportunites for advanced students to dispose of their work.

The Committee on Organization are Mrs. Ripley Hitchcock, Temporary Chairman; Mrs. Stephen Baker, Mrs. Joseph Corrigan, Miss Constance Curtis, Miss Grace Schuyler De Luze, Miss Elizabeth Dodge, Miss Elizabeth Grimball, Mrs. John Henry Hammond, Mrs. Montgomery Hare, Miss Malvina Hoffman, Mrs. Archer M. Huntington, Miss A. Evelyn Newman, Mrs. Clarence C. Rice, Mrs. Charles Cary Rumsey, Miss Mary Van Kleeck, Miss Mary L. Willard, and Miss Julia Wickham, Secretary.

COLORADO'S MINE OWNERS.

The "Concessions" They Granted Were All Required by Law.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

To any one interested in the strike situation in Colorado the statement of J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., published in THE TIMES on Wednesday, April 29, is worth studying. Under the caption "Concessions Already Granted" are enumerated five points that he claimed were generously given by the Fuel Company to the striking miners: The eight-hour day, semi-monthly pay, check weighmen, trading at the company stores not compulsory, and wages. He forgot to put in wages to be paid in United States currency and not in scrip.

These five "concessions" were made, he says, "some time ago," a skillfully ambiguous term. But does the general reader know that every one of those "concessions" was a law on the statute books of Colorado? They were laws put there by the voters of Colorado for the protection of our miners, but ignored by the operators until Mr. Rockefeller and his associates decided to grant them as "concessions."

This, however, he decided to do "some time ago." When was this indefinite date? At a conference between the strikers and operators called by Gov. Ammons on Nov. 7, 1913, the Governor at that time "urged that the operators guarantee the employment of check weighmen, abolish the scrip system, observe the regulations of the eight-hour law, permit employes to trade where they pleased, insure the observance of the semi-monthly pay day, and observe to the letter all the provisions of the coal mine inspection law."

Here we have on Nov. 7, 1913, the Governor urging the operators to observe the laws of the State. Therefore, it would seem that Mr. Rockefeller's "concessions" must have followed this date. Why had they not been observed before? Because the miners unorganized could do nothing.

Many of them were content, it is said. Perhaps they were, for they were ignorant of the laws made to protect them. They took it as part of the day's work that thirty-nine of their number should be killed as they were in New Castle, through indifference to the law of mine inspection. They patiently allowed themselves to be cheated, not knowing how to get the law for check weighmen enforced. They submitted hopelessly, or in ignorance, until Mr. Rockefeller's representatives decided to concede to them things that were already theirs by law.

The open shop and "the right of every American citizen to work on terms satisfactory to himself" makes a strong appeal to the fairminded man, but when one finds that the company hiding behind that appeal has ignored the laws of the State and trusted to the weakness and ignorance of their workmen to exploit them for their own profit, the appeal loses its strength and becomes an empty bit of rhetoric.

THE LONG, LONELY WAY.

Three hundred thousand children died from neglect and want during last year.—Report of the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.

A tired little army, three hundred thousand children,
They creep along together in the middle of the night;
And their shadows, white as sea-foam, can be seen throughout the forest,
Where the trees are thin and shaken and the stars send down their light.
Oh! the little faces tearful, and the baby hands so tiny,
And the dimpled feet that falter as they walk through ice and snow!
Ah! the world is cold behind them, and the warmest moonbeams blind them,
For the little hearts are broken, and the way is long to go.

There are rivers, fierce and roaring, caked with icy bits that sparkle,
There are beasts that roam the woodland dales, and snakes that fill the plain;
There are owls up in the treetops, and the whip-poor-will is calling,
Calling to the souls that wander and will ne'er come back again.
There are pitfalls sharp and sudden, in the darkness of the highway.
There are rocks that bruise the little forms that stumble as they creep;
And the starlight's faded glory is reflected red and gory,
On a sunken well of poison that is cruel, wide, and deep.

Oh! the world is selfish, thoughtless; so the little souls must wander
To another place more beautiful—the paradise of love.
See, they creep along together, and their shadows white are reaching
To the angel wings before them, and the Father up above.
But the sound of weeping, wailing, can be heard o'er empty cradles,
And the mothers back upon the earth are praying soft and slow;
For the little hearts are tender, and the little limbs are slender,
And the way, O God, is terrible, and long indeed to go.

THE PUBLIC WORKS.

Can Constitutional Revisers Order Them Better?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A matter of great public importance has not been mentioned among those demanding consideration by the Constitutional Convention to be held at Albany in May, 1915. That matter is the status of the present systems for the design, construction, and operation of public works of the State.

These systems are now in a condition about as discordant and ill co-ordinated as they could well be. Charged with the administration of the public works and the utilities which the State itself administers are the Department of the State Engineer and Surveyor, the Department of Public Works, the Highway Department, the Department of Health, the Conservation Commission, the State Architect, the Superintendent of Public Buildings, and the Bureau of Weights and Measures. In the exercise of the duties of these several departments there are striking cases of wasteful duplication and of uneconomical differentiation of duties and responsibilities, thus:

Certain bridges are designed and built by the State Engineer's Department and others by the Highway Department, though the total amount of bridge work and the character of this work are not such as to warrant two independent bridge divisions.

Certain public buildings are designed and built under the direction of the State Architect; certain under the State Engineer, and a few by still other departments.

While all canal construction is planned by the Department of the State Engineer, all construction work, repairs, and operation, except the construction of the Barge Canal, is vested in the Superintendent of Public Works, notwithstanding that the construction, repairs, and operation of the canals are quite as much, if not more, engineering functions as is the preparation of plans for this work.

The Department of the State Engineer includes an engineering force trained and experienced in the design and construction of dams, yet at the same time the Conservation Commission is vested, by the act creating it, with the duty of inspecting and passing on the safety of all dams. This is clearly an engineering function and should be transferred to the Department of the State Engineer.

All plans for sewerage and sewage disposal works have for years been required by law to be submitted by cities and towns to the State Department of Health for inspection and approval before being constructed by the municipalities submitting them, but parallel and independent authority to inspect and approve is now vested by law in the Conservation Commission so far as relates to sewer outlets and effluents into streams, and similar parallel authority so far as relates to outlets and effluents into the canals is vested in the Superintendent of Public Works.

The Department of Health maintains a completely organized Division of Sanitary Engineering with a force of five or six specialists in the matters of water supply, sewerage, sewage disposal, &c., and at the same time the plans for these special features of all State institutions are planned by the State Architect's Department. This work, as well as the sole authority to pass on and approve plans for all systems of sewerage and sewage disposal, now divided with the Conservation Commission and the Superintendent of Public Works, should, on the grounds of efficiency and economy, be vested in the Department of Health.

The sources of public water supply for municipalities are now under the control and protection of the Department of Health, in part, and in part under the Conservation Commission. Consolidation of this function in the Department of Health would conduce not only to economy, but to much better protection and control, and would greatly simplify the duties and procedure of municipal officials having charge of such sources of water supply.

The gauging of streams in the State has for many years been performed by the State Engineer's Department, either independently or in organized co-operation with the United States Geological Survey Hydrographic Division. Recently, however, the Conservation Commission has secured authority and appropriations for similar work which it is carrying out.

These and other cases of illogical duplication and differentiation and of imperfect co-ordination of functions are the frequent cause of confusion, friction, annoyance and divided responsibility, and result in delay, inefficient service, and waste.

In general, theoretically at least, the public policy of minimum constitutional limitation and maximum legislative discretion is most desirable as being favorable to the development of a high state of legislative wisdom and responsibility. In this matter of public works and public utilities, however, this doctrine has not brought effective results but rather quite the contrary, and it is hard to escape the conclusion that, at present at least, we would derive benefit from a somewhat closer degree of constitutional provision in determining how our public works systems shall be created and administered. If the coming convention shall reach this or a similar conclusion, it will then be its duty to study and adopt a form and degree of direction and limitation which it will impose on future Legislatures in framing laws relating to public works and utilities.

Since the duration of the convention will at best be short in proportion to the many matters which will claim attention, the opportunity for extended study and deliberation will be difficult to obtain for any except the most important matters. It should therefore be the duty of public-spirited men who are interested in this particular division of the State's activities—viz., its public works—and particularly engineers interested in public works, to give attention and study to this topic pending the convening of the Constitutional Convention so that the State may receive the benefit of their suggestions and opinions through the delegates to be elected in November.

THE HOBOKEN TERMINAL.

More Than 35,000,000 Passengers Use It Each Year.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The publication in your issue this morning of Mr. Compton Miller's letter revives the subject of your recent editorial, "The World's Busiest Terminal."

In my previous letter on this subject, which you published, in giving the figures of 17,000,000 per annum which the Lackawanna Railroad handles through its Hoboken Terminal, I restricted my statement to apply only to the same class of passengers as those using the Charing Cross Terminal, that is, commutation and long distance railroad travelers.

As a matter of fact, the Lackawanna Railroad handles through its Hoboken Terminal under one roof, in addition to its railroad commutation and long-distance travel, some 18,800,000 local ferry passengers per annum between Hoboken and New York, who do not use the trains at all. This makes the total for this station 35,800,000, surpassing any other figures so far given in communications which you have published by approximately 20 per cent.

Possibly this may be surpassed by some other terminal, but it would be interesting to learn just where.

ST. JOHN CATHEDRAL ECHO FOILS EXPERTS

No Hope for Clear Acoustics Until Nave and Transepts Are Completed.

MAKES SOUNDS INDISTINCT

Curtains Over Openings Give No Relief—Seven-Second Reverberation Found.

There is an echo in the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine on Morningside Heights which makes the words of pulpit speakers and the music of the choir indistinct at times. Within the week another unsuccessful effort has been made to correct this reverberation, and it is now feared that there will be no improvement until the main auditorium of the cathedral is completed.

The echo has been carefully tested and it has been found that with the full organ in use the sound continues to reverberate for seven seconds after it should cease. Under these conditions worshippers do not get the best effect from the choir and organ. Under certain conditions the music is not heard correctly, so greatly is it obscured by the clash of sounds.

The same effect is noticeable when the clergy are at the altar. Their utterances often become a confused jumble.

The parts of the cathedral now finished and in use for regular services are the choir and the crossing. The ground plan of the cathedral is in the shape of a cross. The choir is that portion corresponding to the upper arm. The transepts are the side arms and the nave, the main body of the structure, is the longest arm, which will stretch toward Amsterdam Avenue. The crossing is that part at the centre where the choir, transepts, and nave come together. This is now walled in on all sides.

Under the present arrangement the congregation sits in the crossing, which is to be surmounted by the principal tower of the structure. This furnishes a gigantic resonance chamber under a vast dome, a condition which accounts for the echo. The sounds which come out of the choir are caught in the dome and continue to be reflected among its walls long after the source of the sound has ceased giving the impulse.

The choir itself has a dome construction and there are high passages on each side and at the rear, an ideal condition for dispersing sound. As a result of this the choir has its own echo. The sound does not come from it, concentrated to the crossing in one direction, but broken up.

After several experiments it has been decided that no relief can be expected until the completion of the structure. The theory is that when the nave and transepts are finished the sound waves will have a long and direct course from the choir and will not be reflected into the dome by the present walls of the crossing, which will be open spaces on the completion of the building.

There are four great recesses in the masonry at the corners of the crossing running the full height of the walls. It was decided last week that these might be partly responsible for the echo and they were closed with hangings. This experiment was not a success, and no appreciable difference was noticed.

When St. Patrick's Cathedral was first opened its acoustics were marred by a similar fault, though much less pronounced. The difficulty there was overcome by stringing wires, which served to prevent reflection. This method has been considered by the cathedral authorities, but it was doubted whether it would be efficient in overcoming so pronounced an echo, and the test was not made.

MRS. A. D. RUSSELL'S GIFT.

To Provide $500,000 for Sanctuary of the National Cathedral.

Mrs. Archibald Douglas Russell of 34 East Thirty-sixth Street has given funds to erect the sanctuary of the National Cathedral of the Episcopal Church, in Washington. The cost of the building will be about $500,000, and it is expected to be finished within the next five years.

"We have known of this gift for some time," said Bishop Greer, last night, "but have not been at liberty to speak of it until to-day. The National Cathedral was started about twenty years ago and has been building ever since. The sanctuary will about complete the edifice. The National Cathedral is called National only because it is at the National capital. It has no other significance, and is not the headquarters of the Episcopal Church, as the Vatican in Rome is of the Catholic Church. The National Cathedral is a diocesan cathedral, just like St. John the Divine here in New York."

Mrs. Russell is the wife of Archibald Dougless Russell, who is a Trustee of Princeton University, and has a country place near Princeton. He is a Trustee of the Fulton Trust Company, the Greenwich Savings Bank, and the Title Guarantee and Trust Company; a Director of the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, the Astor Trust Company, the Commercial Trust Company, the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad, and a member of the Board of Managers of the Delaware & Hudson Company.

Mrs. Russell was Miss Albertina T. Pyne, a daughter of Percy Rivington Pyne, a former President of the National City Bank. The late Moses Taylor was her grandfather. Her brothers are M. Taylor Pyne, a Director of the National City Bank, the Farmers Loan and Trust Company, and many other corporations, and Percy R. Pyne, a Director of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad, the Mexican Telegraph Company, and other corporations.

HOLYOKE ALUMNAE TO MEET

Dr. Katharine B. Davis to be a Guest at Annual Luncheon.

President Mary E. Woolley and Commissioner Katharine B. Davis are to be guests at the annual luncheon of the Mount Holyoke College Alumnae Association, to be held at the Hotel Martinique to-day at 1 o'clock.

President Woolley will speak on present day tendencies at Mount Holyoke. There is likely to be discussion of the recent action of the Trustees in abolishing the time-honored institution of "domestic work." For seventy-five years students at Mount Holyoke have had a part in the household tasks. Paid servants did only the heavy work, each student giving about half an hour a day, in recent years, to such duties.

The alumnae are eager to hear President Woolley's defense of the attitude taken by the Trustees in voting to abandon this custom. It is believed that a large majority of the alumnae are not in sympathy with the action of the Trustees.

Five of the New York Trustees of Mount Holyoke are to be at the meeting, the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Stimson, Alfred R. Kimball, William H. Button, Charles B. Hubbell, and Mrs. Edmund O. Hovey.

Dr. Hall's Peace Sermon.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

May I commend the sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. Frank Hall, at the Church of the Divine Paternity, on "Is It Peace or War?" The preacher makes a forcible and most human appeal to our better nature against war with Mexico. Dishonor, he says, lies in the sentiment that the American flag, having been raised on Mexican soil, must never again be hauled down. The preacher's pronouncements are in accord with the published utterances of President Wilson, and he adds to them by his exhortations. War, he says, not only destroys wealth, but the wealth producers. His words are worth bearing in mind.

WON 96 CASES AS PRIZE

The Virginia Was Voted the Most Popular Business Women's Hotel at Vacation Fund Ball.

The Virginia Hotel for young business women, at 228 East Twelfth Street, and named after Virginia Potter, a niece of the late Bishop Potter, is all astir over the dance which the girls have arranged to give to-night at the hotel. About 250 guests are to attend, including some society folk, for there are many prominent society women among the officers and Directors of the hotel.

The girls have engaged two professional dancers, who will give an exhibition of modern dances at midnight. General dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Of course refreshments will be served, and cooling soft drinks. The principal non-alcoholic beverage to be served will be grape juice. When the Vacation Savings Fund Ball, organized by Miss Anne Morgan and others, was held a fortnight ago in the Grand Central Palace, a prize was offered for the most popular business woman's hotel in New York. The Virginia Hotel was voted the most popular, and won the prize, which consisted of eight dozen cases of unalloyed grape juice. Just what to do with so much grape juice the girls could not quite decide, until somebody suggested a dance, and serving the juice.

Arrangements were then completed for the dance. Meantime, a letter was sent to Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan, at Washington, D. C., telling him of the superabundance of grape juice, and inviting him to attend. Incidentally Mr. Bryan was told something about the success of the hotel, and how the grape juice was won.

Several days ago a reply was received from Mr. Bryan, written by his private secretary, to the effect that Mr. Bryan regretted his inability to attend the dance, but giving his promise to visit the hotel in the near future, when he will address the young women guests of the hotel. The girls are all now on the top note of expectancy, and are planning to give Mr. Bryan an enthusiastic reception when he finds time to visit them. By that time, however, all of the grape juice will, no doubt, have disappeared.

The Virginia Hotel, since it opened three years ago, has been so successful that the managers have determined to build another on the south side of Thirtieth Street, between Eighth and Ninth Avenues, which is within easy walking distance of the large department stores.

Mrs. Richard Irvin is President, Mrs. William Herbert, Vice President; W. Fellowes Morgan, Treasurer, and Charles H. Strong, Secretary. Among the Directors are Mrs. J. Howland Auchincloss, Mrs. S. P. Blagden, Mrs. James Speyer, Miss Anna Sands, Mrs. Myron I. Borg, and Miss Virginia Potter.

McADOOS AT HARLAKENDEN.

Secretary and Bride Spending Honeymoon at Summer White House.

CORNISH, N. H., May 8.—William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury, and his bride, who was Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, daughter of the President, arrived to-day to spend their honeymoon at Harlakenden, the Summer White House.

They had come by train as far as West Deerfield, Mass., where they were met by an automobile. Part of the journey along the banks of the Connecticut River to Cornish was made with the bride on the front seat giving the chauffeur road directions, and with Mr. McAdoo sitting alone behind.

Three servants preceded them here by only three hours, and the great house, which had not been occupied since last Fall, had been hardly opened when the couple entered its doors.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The following announcement card was issued from the White House this morning to all official Washington, personal friends of the President and Mrs. Wilson, and members of the press:

> The President and Mrs. Wilson have the pleasure of announcing the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Randolph, to Mr. William Gibbs McAdoo on Thursday, May the seventh, nineteen hundred and fourteen.

Although the words White House do not appear, the note bears the crest of the United States at the top of the page, while the envelope is stamped "The White House" on the upper lefthand corner.

'VARSITY SHOW MADE $3,000

Columbia Broke a Record with "The Merry Lunatics."

The managers of the Columbia University 'Varsity show made a substantial profit this year in the production of "The Merry Lunatics." The financial report of Manager Hyland of the 1914 'Varsity show was read last night at a meeting of the Columbia 'Varsity Players' Club, and to the surprise of all the net profit reached $3,000. The report showed receipts amounting to $7,300 and disbursements of $4,300.

This record surpasses any that has been made in many years. Last year the show, "The Brigands," ran up a big deficit, and it was thought that the authorities would forbid any further productions on such a high scale. Several of the Alumni, however, got together and spent months in working out new plans for making the 'Varsity show a financial success. In former years the profit from the shows has been put into a fund for the Columbia 'Varsity athletics, but the surplus this year will be applied on the back debts.

The election of officers and committees for 1914-1915 of the players resulted as follows:

President, A. L. Graham, '14; Vice President, J. H. McDonnell, '15, F. A.; Secretary, R. O. Du Bois, '15; Treasurer, H. Content, 'IIL. Play Committee: J. S. Butler, '01, Chairman; K. Webb, '06; L. Ehret, '08; Executive Committee: V. Cutting, 'IIL, Chairman; A. L. Broe, '04; J. M. Blackwell, '14.

FRANK CRAVEN MARRIES.

Actor and Playwright Weds Former Wife of Arnold Daly.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., May 8.—Frank Craven, an actor and playwright, who is appearing in his own play, "Too Many Cooks," in New York, was married here this afternoon at the residence of Leo Ditrichstein by a Justice of the Peace to Mrs. Mazie B. Daly. Mrs. Craven was twice married to Arnold Daly, the actor, and twice divorced him.

The first marriage with Mr. Daly was in 1900. Three years later she obtained a divorce and the custody of her little daughter in New York. In 1904 Mr. and Mrs. Daly were again married in California, but soon separated, and Mrs. Daly obtained another divorce.

Mr. and Mrs. Craven returned to New York immediately after the ceremony today. Mrs. Craven, who was an actress when she first married Arnold Daly, has not appeared on the stage in several years.

Invitations have been sent out for the wedding of Miss Emma L. Webster and John Wallace Young, in the Church of the Covenant, 310 East Forty-second Street, New York. The ceremony will take place on the evening of Wednesday, May 28. Miss Webster is the daughter of the Rev. Dr. George Sidney Webster, pastor of the Church of the Covenant. Mr. Young was graduated from Yale in 1912 and is in the Columbia Law School. Charles L. Larkin, a college classmate, of Waterbury, Conn., is to be the best man. There will be no reception.

SOCIETY WOMEN POSE AS PORTRAITS

Appear in Fairy Tales Tableaux at the Morris County Golf Club.

CHILDREN ALSO POSE

Speedwell Society's Treasury Gets Hundreds of Dollars from the Performances.

Society appeared in fairy tales and Shakespearean characters yesterday afternoon and evening at the Morris County Golf Club at Convent, N. J., for the benefit of the Speedwell Society and its home.

In the afternoon children were posed in tableaux by Miss Elizabeth Fisher. Cinderella and the Fairy were represented by Frieda Frelinghuysen and Elinor Bushnell; Sir Joshua Reynolds's "The Age of Innocence" was posed by Priscilla Jenks, and Raeburn's "The Children of Sir John Heath" was done by Mary Davis and Georgie Schmidt. Other children taking part included Betty Ballard, Elizabeth Hyde, Malcolm McAlpin, Douglas Hopkins, Harvey Williams, and the Watts boys.

Women posed in the evening, and Mrs. George Vietor was Ophelia; Mrs. Josiah Macy, Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew"; Mrs. Morgan Smith and Mrs. C. M. Fleischmann were Rosalind and Celia in "As You Like It," and Miss Mildred Eddy was Juliet.

The portraits were Le Brun's Marie Antoinette, posed by Mrs. Dudley Grey; Leonardo da Vinci's Catrina Sforza, by Miss Motley; Mrs. George R. D. Schieffel was Holbein's Duchess of Suffolk, and Mrs. Richard H. Williams, Jr., was Titian's Elena d'Este.

There was a large attendance, and in the evening a supper and dancing followed the tableaux. Several hundred dollars were raised for the home.

The patronesses who were present included Mrs. James I. Waterbury, Mrs. George G. Frelinghuysen, Mrs. Richard H. Williams, Mrs. Charles Scribner, Mrs. William V. S. Thorne, Mrs. William L. Letchford, Mrs. Otto H. Kahn, Mrs. George Fraser, Mrs. Albert Swords, Mrs. E. A. Day, and Mrs. Rudolph Kissel.

PILGRIMS GREET EXPLORER.

Col. Younghusband Hears Mr. Choate Say We Stumbled in Mexico.

One hundred persons attended the luncheon given yesterday by the Pilgrims of the United States in honor of Col. Sir Francis Edward Younghusband, K. C. I. E., the explorer who led the British expedition to the sacred city of Lhasa, the capital of Thibet, and was the first white man in many hundreds of years to enter that city. The luncheon was at the Whitehall Club in the Whitehall Building.

Joseph H. Choate, former Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, President of the Pilgrims, acted as toastmaster. In introducing Sir Francis, Mr. Choate said:

> This is the first public function I have attended since my illness, lasting two months, following a period of unbroken health of eighty-two years. The way for a man to cure himself after being disabled in New York City is to attend no dinners and stay out of every public thing absolutely.

Mr. Choate said that Sir Francis's mission to Lhasa was to strengthen a treaty. He then said that the United States is going to stand by her treaties, and added:

> If we had had a man such as Sir Francis in Mexico six months ago there would have been little trouble there. We have stumbled into trouble in Mexico; we have now to stumble out of it.

Among those who attended the luncheon were George W. Burleigh, Henry Clews, B. Tappen Fairchild, George P. Hotaling, A. Barton Hepburn, W. Fellowes Morgan, Frank Presbrey, Herbert L. Satterlee, Melville E. Stone, and George T. Wilson.

TO AID ARMY RELIEF SOCIETY.

Garden Party to be Held on Governors Island on May 28.

The garden party at Governors Island on Wednesday, May 28, for the benefit of the Army Relief Society and under its auspices is to begin at 8 o'clock and end at 9 o'clock. Heretofore, it has opened much earlier and has officially ended at 6 o'clock. A hot army supper will be served at 6 o'clock. The dancing will be held not only in Corbin Hall but in the open air.

"The Mikado" for Magdalen Home.

Under the patronage of the Board of Managers of the New York Magdalen Home, Dyckman Street and River Road, a performance of "The Mikado" is to be given by the members of the home this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. James Bronson Reynolds is President of the home, and Mrs. George Ely is the Vice President.

New Zealanders Here.

New Zealand is the farthest away from anywhere of any civilized country, but recent travelers from there told that things had been so prosperous that many of the inhabitants were starting on trips around the world. At least ten of them arrived yesterday at different New York hotels. At the Waldorf were F. W. Thorne and Miss Jean Thorne of Auckland, while at the Imperial were Mr. and Mrs. W. Perry, Miss Pruce, Miss Tiffin, Mrs. Kilgour, and John Herlop of Wellington, and John McLennan, Miss G. Gordon, and Mrs. McLennan of Masterton.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., May 8.—Jacob Riis, who for several weeks has been ill at a local health resort, has so far improved that an effort will be made to move him to his Summer home near Springfield, Mass.

Bullard Book Sale Ends.

The two days' sale of rare books from the library of Dr. W. M. Bullard of this city, and from other collections, was concluded by the Anderson Auction Company yesterday. The grand total was $3,249.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Miss Constance Collier sails on the Olympic to-day with Mrs. Bernard Shaw and Miss Lena Ashwell. Miss Collier is going to Stratford-on-Avon, and at the end of the season will play with Sir Herbert Tree, at his Majesty's Theatre, London.

Interpolations of dialogue and songs relative to the forthcoming Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco were given by Sam Bernard and Gaby Deslys at the performance of "The Belle of Bond Street," at the Shubert Theatre last night, as a special feature for the 400 Masons of the Mystic Shrine of California, who attended in a body. The visitors from the Coast marched from the Hotel McAlpin to the theatre at 8 o'clock.

Henry E. Dixey will open a brief vaudeville season at Hammerstein's Victoria next week, appearing in a new act.

A Spring festival and card party will be given under the auspices of the Stage Children's Fund, at the Cayuga Club House, 2,043 Seventh Avenue, on May 18. Mrs. J. H. Van Tine and Mrs. Frances H. Abrahall have charge of the arrangements. After this affair, the stage children will have one more social gathering, an outdoor party on June 13. Under the auspices of the Stage Children's Fund, a fifteen-piece orchestra has been organized, in which only the youngsters participate.

Sixty-two uniformed Nobles from Al Bahr Shrine, San Diego, Cal., with twice as many guests, attended last nights' performance of "H. M. S. Pinafore," at the Hippodrome. The party occupied the entire frontage of loges in the balcony. At the close of the first act the Nobles visited the stage.

The Lyric Theatre will reopen this afternoon with the Mutual Film Corporation's picture, "The Battle of Torreon and the Life of Gen. Villa." This picture is in seven reels and requires two hours to run. There will be four performances each day, two in the afternoon and two in the evening.

BILLS TO BE EXPEDITED.

Blanket Rule Decided On at White House Conference.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Administration's legislative programme looking to early passage of bills carrying Democratic platform demands, was gone over fully at a White House conference to-day. In addition to President Wilson, those attending it were Representative Henry of Texas, Chairman of the Committee on Rules, and Representative Adamson of Georgia, Chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

The President is anxious that preferential action shall be given to the Clayton Anti-Trust bill, the Rayburn bill regulating the issuance of stocks and bonds by Interstate Railroads, the Covington Trade Commission bill, and the prospective Rural Credit bill.

The policy of advancing these measures is a part of the programme for adjournment of Congress early in July, which the President went over with House and Senate leaders several days ago.

Following to-day's conference Representative Henry announced that the Rules Committee would be convened at an early date with a view of reporting a blanket rule for the three bills that have been reported by committees, so as to put them before the House for automatic action. It is proposed to establish a proper limit for debate, with unlimited freedom in offering amendments. The programme also contemplates putting through the general Appropriation bills in the quickest manner.

The prohibition and woman's suffrage amendments are not being considered as part of the Administration programme. Before the Rules Committee will report a rule promoting these matters it will, according to the leaders, seek the judgment of the Democratic caucus.

HAMLIN FOR BANK BOARD?

President Considering Treasury Aid to Head Reserve Body.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Reserve Bank Organization Committee announced to-night that while this was the last date on which subscriptions of stock to Federal reserve banks could be made by the banks listed as members of the system, it would receive subscriptions forwarded to-day, although they may not reach Washington for several days. The penalty for not completing subscriptions is forfeiture of the charter of the bank.

The committee's mail to-day was heavy and included hundreds of subscriptions of stock, but no official statement of the receipts was made. The minimum capital for each of the twelve reserve banks had been subscribed yesterday.

President Wilson is considering several men for the place on the Federal Reserve Board left vacant by the declination of Richard Olney to serve, among them Charles S. Hamlin, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, now Acting Secretary, who is from New England, the section from which the selection is to be made.

While it is not known that the President has reached a decision as to the appointment, it was said authoritatively to-day that his choice would not fall upon any member of his present Cabinet.

CALLS TOLLS REPEAL WRONG

Canal Act Abrogated Treaty, Goff Tells Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Quoting from members of the Platform Committee of the Baltimore Democratic Convention, Senator Goff, West Virginia, Republican, told the Senate to-day that President Wilson's action in "discarding the Panama tolls exemption plank" was indefensible. The Senator upheld the exemption.

Senator Goff asked why the President was controlled by the silence of the platform on woman suffrage and not by its express declaration on tolls.

"Oh, Consistency, thou art a jewel!" he declared.

Senator Goff further argued that the exemption law was not in conflict with the treaty, and suggested that Great Britain had forfeited the right ever to use the canal by reported announcements that she would not abide by the rules established by the United States for the canal.

WOMEN AT CAPITOL TO-DAY.

Thousands to Ask Congress to Act on Suffrage Amendment.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—With delegations from nearly every State in the Union already here, and with more arriving hourly, everything was in readiness to-night for the Women's Suffrage demonstration to-morrow.

Between 5,000 and 10,000 suffragists will then march from the White House to the Capitol and demand the passage of the Bristow-Mondell resolution proposing a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote. It was raining here to-night, but the suffrage leaders said that they would march, rain or shine.

GREET C. M. DEPEW AT 80.

Friends Give Party for Him at Union League Club.

Congratulating Chauncey M. Depew on his recent eightieth birthday some 250 of his friends gathered at the Union League Club last night. William D. Guthrie said he hoped the guest of honor would soon see a reunited and triumphant Republican Party.

Senator Root was detained in Washington by official business, and Joseph H. Choate was forbidden by his physician to leave his house to attend the dinner. Other speakers were Samuel W. Fairchild, President of the Union League Club; Mr. Depew, Gen. Horace Porter, George R. Sheldon, J. Van Vechten Olcott, Gen. Benjamin F. Tracy, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, and George T. Wilson.

MUSIC NOTES.

The Zuro Opera Company presented "La Traviata" at the Grand Theatre last night, an American singer, A. Carett, making her first appearance in the role of Flora. This evening Alice Gentle will be heard in "Carmen."

Silvio Burkenroad, a young bass baritone from Omaha, Neb., has been engaged by the Metropolitan Opera Company for French and Italian roles, making the fourth American singer to be added to the company next season.

The Hoadley Musical Society, one of the oldest amateur orchestral organizations of Brooklyn, will give its twenty-sixth annual concert at the Teachers' Training School Auditorium, Park Place, near Nostrand Avenue, on Tuesday evening.

FIFTH AVE NEW YORK

RACE TRACK NOT FOR FORD.

Report That Automobile Man Bought Sheepshead Bay Denied.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., May 8.—Officials of the Ford Motor Company to-day denied a report from New York that Mr. Ford had purchased the Sheepshead Bay race track to be used as a factory site with the race track as a course for testing cars and tires.

"Absolutely nothing to it," said James Couzens, Treasurer of the company and next in authority to Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford himself was "not in."

It is the policy of the company to build no manufacturing plant elsewhere than in Detroit. The plants that have been erected in a dozen or more cities, East and West, are simply assembling plants, the completed cars being shipped from here in parts.

Schuyler L. Parsons, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Coney Island Jockey Club, which owns the Sheepshead Bay track, said last night that the property has not been sold, but two concerns had it under consideration, and its sale might be announced soon. According to Mr. Parsons, the Ford Company was not one of those considering the purchase of the land

OPPOSED TO DUKE OF TECK.

Prominent Canadian Legislator Protests Against His Appointment.

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ontario, May 8.—There was much excitement in the House of Commons this afternoon when the Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Minister of Railways and Canals in the late Liberal administration, and formerly Premier of New Brunswick, referred to the announcement in the press that Prince Alexander of Teck, brother of Queen Mary, had been appointed Governor General of Canada, and remarked that he hoped the report was not true.

Afterward, in the lobbies, Mr. Emmerson said to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent:

"My objection is to royalty, and foreign royalty, being brought to Canada. We have gone the limit with the Duke of Connaught. If necessary, I would be prepared to move a condemnatory resolution."

The incident is the chief topic of discussion here, and to ascertain the views of the rank and file of the Members of Parliament on the subject THE TIMES correspondent interviewed a number of them. In many cases sympathy with the attitude of Mr. Emmerson was expressed, although the members hesitated to be quoted as opposed to the appointment. Others resented the criticism.

WIRELESS AT 8,500 MILES.

Messages Exchanged Between Boston and a Pacific Mail Liner.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Officers of the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia, which is in port from the Orient, announced yesterday that on the night of April 21 the ship's wireless operator picked up a message from Boston, 8,500 miles away.

Several messages were exchanged. This is said to eclipse all previous distance records.

REPAIRING THE CAMERONIA.

To-day's Sailing Called Off, as Liner Is Now in Dry Dock.

While the Anchor Line steamer Cameronia was being overhauled in port on Thursday the chief engineer discovered that she had a defect in her stern post, and the vessel was sent to the Erie Basin dry dock to be repaired sufficiently for her to return to Glasgow. She had passengers booked to sail at noon to-day. The majority of them will be transferred to the Cunard liner Caronia, sailing at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning for Liverpool.

Any passengers who did not receive the notification sent out in time, it was said, would be taken care of by the company when they arrived at the pier to-day.

BUTLER ESTATE $100,000.

Director in Grocery Company, Who Died in Glen Cove, Left No Will.

Thomas Butler, a Director of the James Butler Company, grocers, who died at his home in Glen Cove, L. I., last Saturday, left no will. Yesterday his widow, Mrs. Kate Butler, applied to Surrogate John J. Graham of Nassau County, for letters of administration. The application filed in Mineola stated that Mr. Butler left about $100,000 in personal property, but no real estate.

Besides the widow, the heirs to the estate are Patrick Butler, a brother of Ballynimiery, Ireland; Mary Butler of Huntington, Johanna Butler of Tarrytown, and Margaret Fitzpatrick Butler of Jamaica, sisters; John Butler of Glen Cove, James Butler of New Rochelle, and Joseph Butler of Manhattan, nephews.

G. WALDO SMITH'S ESTATE.

G. Waldo Smith, who was at one time President of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation and also of the New York Chamber of Commerce, who died at Bayside, L. I., on June 28, 1913, aged 81 years, left $81,905 personalty and $100,860 in real estate, according to affidavits filed yesterday with the Transfer Tax Appraiser in Queens County.

This property is to be divided between the children, G. Waldo Smith, residing at the New York Athletic Club; Lillian L. Weeks of 255 Central Park West, Wilmot H. Smith of 13 West Thirty-sixth Street, and a granddaughter, Ella S. Johns of Bayside. The widow gets an income and the use of the homestead.

His Six Sons His Pall Bearers.

The funeral of Sergeant Edwin Geary, a veteran of the Indian Mutiny of 1857, who died Monday, was held Thursday from his home, 2,690 Briggs Avenue, the Bronx. Sergeant Geary's six sons, four of whom are in the New York National Guard, were the pall bearers. Sergeant Geary was in the Eighty-fourth British Infantry, which was part of Gen. Havelock's brigade that made the famous march to the relief of Lucknow in September, 1857. Of the 1,000 in the Eighty-fourth Regiment only a few more than 100 survived the campaign. As a result of the part he played in the fighting in India, Sergeant Geary received three medals. Sergeant Geary came to New York twenty-five years ago and settled in the Bronx. He remained a British subject, but his six sons became American citizens.

MRS. JAY DIES SUDDENLY.

Wife of Dr. John C. Jay Left Home Yesterday to Visit Relatives.

Mrs. Harriette A. Jay, whose husband, Dr. John Clarkson Jay, is a great-grandson of John Jay, the famous Statesman, died suddenly last night in Worcester, Mass. Mrs. Jay left her home at 106 East Seventy-ninth Street yesterday morning to visit relatives in Worcester, apparently in perfect health. Her husband received only the news of her death last night, the cause not being mentioned in the telegram. He left at once for Worcester.

Before her marriage, in 1872, Mrs. Jay was Miss Harriette Arnold Vinton. She came of an old New England family. The late Alexander Hamilton Vinton, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Western Massachusetts, was her brother. Her father was Major Gen. David H. Vinton, U. S. A. She was 65 years old and, besides her husband, is survived by two children, Miss Edith Van Cortlandt Jay of this city and John Clarkson Jay, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Miss Catherine Church Cruger.

Miss Catherine Church Cruger died on Thursday at her home on Cruger's Island in the Hudson River. Miss Cruger was a member of the well-known Cruger family, being the daughter of John Church Cruger and the sister of Col. Stephen Van Rensselaer Cruger. The Cruger family trace their ancestry back to Sir Philip de Cruciger, who was a Crusader with King Richard the Lion-Hearted of England. John Cruger, who came to this country in 1700, founded the American branch of the family. He was an Alderman and Mayor of New York, and his son, John Cruger, wrote the Declaration of Rights and Grievances of the Stamp Act Congress. He also organized and was the first President of the New York Chamber of Commerce. John Church Cruger was born in 1807 and Miss Cruger was his child by his marriage to Euphemia White Van Rensselaer, who was his second wife.

William Vanamee.

William Vanamee, 67 years old, a well-known lawyer, died on Thursday at his home in Newburg, N. Y., of heart disease. Mr. Vanamee was born in Albany and was a descendant of the old Dutch families that first settled that city. He became a lawyer at Middletown, N. Y., in 1868, and then went into politics. Mr. Vanamee was a Democratic delegate to State and National Conventions. In 1896 he became a Republican, basing his change of party on the money issue, and subsequently became a Republican delegate to two conventions. Mr. Vanamee was retained to plead the case of the Rosenthal gunmen before the Court of Appeals, but his fatal illness overtook him, and he retired from the case. He is survived by his two sons and daughter and his widow, a prominent suffragist of the State organization, who made an appeal to Gov. Glynn to stay the execution of the gunmen until after the second Becker trial.

Obituary Notes.

JOHN RODENBURG, 91 years old, of 428 West Forty-fourth Street, a retired coal dealer, died Thursday at his home. Mr. Rodenburg came to New York from Germany seventy years ago, and founded the firm now known as J. Rodenburg & Son, of which his son, J. Rodenburg, Jr., is the present head. He retired eight years ago.

Mrs. DOMETILLE BECAR DENISON, widow of Abel Denison, a dry goods merchant and the oldest communicant of Christ Episcopal Church in Clinton Street, Brooklyn, died Thursday at her residence, 21 Clinton Avenue. She was born eighty-eight years ago in the Becar homestead, now the site of St. Peter's Hospital, and was the daughter of Noel J. Becar, a leading dry goods merchant and one of the organizers of Christ Episcopal Church. Mrs. Denison is survived by her son, William B. Denison, a real estate operator of Manhattan, and two daughters, Josephine B. Croger and Mrs. C. L. Gagnebin.

Mrs. HELEN E. YOUNG MILLER, wife of Dr. Francis H. Miller, is dead at her home, 310 Cumberland Street, Brooklyn, aged 42 years. She was the daughter of Robert K. Young, a prominent Brooklyn builder.

Mrs. ELIZA C. SEABURY, 74 years old, died on Thursday at her home in Hempstead, L. I. She was the widow of Albert H. Seabury and sister-in-law of Robert Seabury, formerly County Judge of Nassau County.

Mrs. MARY A. CASSIDY GLYNN, widow of John J. Glynn, died yesterday at her residence, 828 Greene Avenue, Brooklyn, after a short illness. Her husband, who died in October, 1912, was at one time a member of the Brooklyn Board of Education, and for many years the New York representative of Holland & Co. of England, varnish manufacturers. She is survived by four daughters.

Mrs. MARY E. BIRDSALL COHEN of 1,352 Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, died on Thursday from heart disease. She was the widow of Benjamin Cohen, formerly proprietor of the Albemarle Hotel at Coney Island, and was born in Westchester County, N. Y., in 1841.

MARY ELIZABETH GELSTON, daughter of the late James H. Gelston, a real estate operator, is dead at her home, 306 Clinton Avenue, Brooklyn. She was one of the oldest members of the Second United Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. JANE LITTLE WALLACE CORNELL, born in Scotland in 1830, and a resident of Brooklyn for sixty-three years, died at her home, 68 Woodbine Street, on Thursday. She was the widow of Peter J. Cornell, a Custom House Inspector.

J. B. SMALLEY, Assistant General Manager of the Second District of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, died in Topeka, Kan., yesterday, from a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Smalley began his railway career forty years ago as a station helper on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

YANKEES' BATTING LIGHT IN BOSTON

Three Hits and No Runs Their Portion of Game Played in Rain and Mud.

BOSTON, Mass., May 8.—This afternoon in a drizzling rain and on a field over which the players slipped and slid all through the game, the Red Sox shut out the Yankees again, this time 3 to 0. The game was the fourth between the teams this season in which the loser has been blanked. Considering the wretched weather and field conditions, Ray Keating and "Dutch" Leonard pitched wonderful ball.

All of Boston's three runs came in the eighth inning and after seven sessions of absolutely air-tight ball on the part of the pitchers. Prior to the eighth the teams made only two singles apiece, only one Yankee having seen second base, while for Boston Bill Carrigan had reached second and also third base. In the eighth the rain was falling hard and Keating was unable to keep up his splendid aim for the plate corners, and Boston, doing just a little hitting, was helped out by a wild throw or two and still more by the fortunes of the game, that broke altogether its way.

In the eventful eighth, Carrigan started off with a single and took second on Leonard's sacrifice to Williams. Engle then hit a slow one to Maisel, who slipped just as the ball reached his hands, then arching a throw over Williams's head, on which Carrigan scored and Engle romped to second base. Hooper was safe when Keating failed to dig his bunt out of the mud in time to throw to first base, and then Tris Speaker put Engle home with a run and Hooper on third with a clean hit to centre. Hartzell at this juncture made a hair-raising catch of Lewis's fly, coming into the diamond for the ball, but when Gardner hit to right, scoring Hooper, Hartzell laced the ball past Maisel and the Red Sox had runners on second and third bases. Both were left though, as Yerkes's fly traveled to Holden.

It was in this manner that the Red Sox got their three runs, but the home team was due for a bad scare in the ninth. Reynolds was sent in by Frank Chance to bat for Keating, but he fanned, and then Engle fumbled a grounder from Maisel. Hartzell's slam was smothered by Leonard for an out, and then Walsh was passed. Williams hit savagely through the box and Yerkes got the ball, but tossed it to Janvrin too late for a force out. Thus the Yankees had three men on the corners, but Holden was not equal to the emergency, fanning on three pitched balls, and for the third time in the game.

Until the last moments the match was as pretty a pitchers' battle as any fan could desire. The Yankees, after the first inning, when Maisel was passed and advanced to second on Hartzell's sacrifice, did not see second base again until after two men were out in the ninth. In the meantime the only two visitors who reached first base were Hartzell and Walsh, who singled in the third and fourth innings, respectively, and both of whom were thrown out by Bill Carrigan when they essayed to steal second base.

Keating was equally effective, though. The home team did not make a hit against Ray until the sixth inning, but in the third Carrigan drew a pass, Leonard sacrificed, and the Boston manager reached third, while Sweeney was making a fast play to first on Engle's foozle. Hooper then passed up his chance to put over a run by lining the ball straight to Walsh. In the sixth Hooper's single, the first against Keating, came with two out, and Speaker followed with a bounder to Truesdale, and in the seventh Lewis's hit was wasted.

Keating pitched his usual corner-cutting game until almost the end of the battle, but Leonard's left-hand heaves were bothersome. The Boston pitcher fanned eleven of the Chance men, getting some one in each inning and doubling up in the seventh and ninth sessions. Both pitchers did some pretty work covering first base on grounders to Engle and Williams, aside from which features, however, Hartzell's great running catch of Duffy Lewis's fly in the Red Sox's eighth inning was the only thriller. The score:

CHICAGO, May 8.—Detroit played an uphill game to-day, and by heavy hitting defeated Chicago 10 to 8. The game was replete with stolen bases and errors. The locals took a four-run lead in the first inning on two hits, two errors, three bases on balls, a sacrifice fly, and two double steals. The visitors took every advantage of the errors by the locals, and by bunching hits overcame Chicago's lead. Chicago used three pitchers, but each was hit hard. Score:

Athletics and Senators Tie.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Philadelphias and Washingtons battled for ten innings to-day to a 9 to 9 tie in a game featured by heavy hitting and erratic fielding. The Athletics used three pitchers and the locals four in an attempt to stop the scoring. Plank started for the visitors, but retired at the end of the fifth inning, after the home team had scored four runs on a triple, two singles, and a wild pitch. Pennock pitched for three innings, and then gave way to Bush after three runs had been scored against him. Bush was in fine form and allowed but one hit in two innings. Philadelphia pounded Johnson hard, getting seven hits off his delivery in three innings. A triple play by Henry and Gandil, with the bases full, in the ninth, the second executed on the home field this week, prevented Philadelphia from winning. Score:

Coombs May Pitch Again.

PHILADELPHIA, May 8.—John Coombs, pitcher for the Philadelphia American League Baseball team, who was injured in the World's Series of 1911, may be able to take his turn in the box in six or eight weeks, according to physicians who examined him. The famous pitcher, who received the returns of last year's world's series games while lying in a hospital cot, arrived here on Wednesday from Palestine, Texas. He had been wearing a specially made brace to support his back until about three weeks ago, and wanted a thorough examination of the old injuries before attempting to don his baseball togs again. The physicians said they found that Coombs is in fine condition and weighs 188 pounds. They gave him permission to start exercising next week and told him that he could gradually work into playing shape. He will begin by assisting in the work of coaching the young pitchers.

Ball Games at Olympic Field.

This afternoon at Olympic Field, 136 Street and Fifth Avenue, the Danbury team will play the colored champion Lincoln Giants. "Cannonball" Redding will pitch for the Lincolns. To-morrow afternoon at the same grounds the Cuban Stars, coming from their string of victories in Havana, will make their only appearance in New York in three years against the Lincoln Giants. Padrosa and Pareda will pitch for the Cuban players, while Gatewood and "Cyclone" Joe Williams will occupy the pitchers' mound for the colored champions. A double-header will be played, the first game commencing at 1:30 P. M.

Giant Subs to Play Cadets.

A squad of Giants' substitutes will go to West Point to-day under the management of "Hooks" Wiltse, to play a game with the team of the military academy. McGraw found some trouble in making up a team, as he did not want to leave himself without enough substitutes in case of need in the game against Boston, but made out a makeshift aggregation so as not to disappoint Sammy Strang, the former Giant, who is coaching the West Point team. The cadets and officers will dine the New York players.

ON GILMORE'S TRAIL.

Internationals Charge Federal Head with Tampering with Players.

When President James A. Gilmore of the Federal League comes to Brooklyn on Monday to attend the opening of the Federal League at Washington Park his path will be strewn with thorns. The International League attorneys are after Mr. Gilmore, and have not been able to locate him. So, when he reaches this city next Monday he will find a reception committee of lawyers awaiting him.

The International League has several cases against the Federal League President for alleged tampering with players under contract. The papers in these cases have not been served, because the lawyers have not been able to locate the leading spirit of the Federal League.

President Barrow of the International League yesterday refused to go into details over the situation between his league and the "Feds.," but he did state that he had just returned from a visit to his clubs in the North and had found them all in flourishing condition.

Sunday Baseball in Jersey.

NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—The Newark and Bloomfield teams of the new Atlantic League are going to show themselves for the first time to the fans to-morrow and Sunday afternoons. The Newark team, which last year represented Long Branch in the organization and is composed of Cubans, will play a game against the Philadelphia Giants, a semi-professional team. On Sunday they go back to Long Branch, where they play the Boston Nationals, while at the local park the Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Athletics play an exhibition game. The Bloomfield leaguers, are going to play the Bloomfield Field Club, a semi-professional team of that town on Sunday afternoon at the Harrison Oval.

PICKS COLUMBIA TO WIN BOAT RACE

Dr. Spaeth, Princeton Coach, Sees Victory for New Yorkers Over Tigers and Penn.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 8.—Twenty-four brawny oarsmen had a strenuous day on Lake Carnegie to-day, and they are all on edge for the triangular regatta to-morrow afternoon. Pennsylvania's eight oarsmen arrived late last night, completing the three crews, Columbia having had their first dip in the lake yesterday morning. All stiff work ended this afternoon. Dr. Spaeth took his Princeton charges out first at 4:30 o'clock for a brisk row, sending them through several racing starts and finishing up with a race past the dock with the freshmen, whom they passed easily with a fast stroke.

Coach Vivian Nickalls of Pennsylvania took the Red and Blue shell out then and went through the same programme, excepting the race at the end. Coach Rice of Columbia finished up the work of the afternoon, concluding with a light workout at 6 o'clock. All the oarsmen are in good shape, according to the coaches, and are ready for the fray. The Pennsylvania and Columbia crews will go out for light paddles to-morrow morning, but all work for the Princeton eight is over until the race starts.

The loss of Shoemaker at stroke for the Pennsylvania necessitated a shift which coach Nickalls covered up by sending A. Littleton from four to stroke in the 'Varsity boat and moving Madeira up from the junior shell to take Littleton's place. The shift worked with satisfaction to Coach Nickalls. There has been no change in the seatings of the other crews.

While the 'Varsity boats were working out the Princeton and Pennsylvania freshman eights went out for practice also, preparing for their race to-morrow. The second Princeton freshman eight had a light row, getting ready for the third event to-morrow with the eight from West Philadelphia High School.

The order of the races to-morrow afternoon will be as follows, starting with the first at probably 5:45 o'clock: First—Princeton freshman seconds and West Philadelphia High. Second—Triangular regatta between Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Columbia at 6 o'clock. Third—Princeton freshman fours and Pennsylvania freshmen at 6:20 o'clock.

The 'Varsity and freshman races will be rowed over the one-and-seven-eighths-mile course, starting at the Kingston Dam and ending near the Harrison Street bridge. The drawings for the courses this afternoon resulted in giving the canal bank course to Pennsylvania, the middle to Princeton, and the Princeton boathouse track to Columbia.

To-morrow the three crews will have lunch together at 1 o'clock at the Cottage Club, where the visitors are staying, and after lunch the Columbia and Princeton oarsmen expect to go to the Cornell-Princeton baseball game before the race.

The coaches, with the exception of Dr. Spaeth of the Princeton crew, would not issue statements this evening, claiming that they had not seen enough of the other crews to make a comparison. In conversation, though, there is decided optimism in all camps. All coaches watched the other eights very closely as they pulled away and back to the dock. The betting among the students makes Columbia a slight favorite, at odds of 7 to 8, but very little money is in sight.

Dr. Spaeth's comment was as follows: "Without doubt Columbia has the most finished crew entered in the regatta for to-morrow. I have rarely seen better or cleaner blade work. The Columbia men seem to me to easily excel both the other eights for polish, but I am sure they cannot equal our men for power. I have not had much opportunity to watch the Pennsylvania boat and do not care to pass any critical judgment on it, but I am very sorry to learn of the absence of Shoemaker, for I hoped to have a race in which all contestants would be absolutely in their best form.

"The Princeton eight is only an average one for Princeton in spite of its unusual power, for it is not fully developed. We got a late start this year, which has retarded us by about a week or ten days, and the crew cannot be said to have the same polish as the one which rowed Harvard last year. I can be sure, however, that Princeton is going to pull a race which will make both of her opponents row some to beat them."

The seating of the boats will be as follows:

Princeton 'Varsity.—Bow, McKibben; 2, Pyne; 3, Heffron; 4, Gadebusch; 5, Robinson; 6, Quinby; 7, Briggs; stroke, Putnam; coxswain, Dunn.

Columbia 'Varsity.—Bow, Naumer; 2, Rothwell; 3, Williams; 4, Sanborn; 5, Pitt; 6, Bratton; 7, Hadsell; stroke, MacCarthy; coxswain, Wood.

Pennsylvania 'Varsity.—Bow, Watrous; 2, Butler; 3, Gotham; 4, Madeira; 5, Garvin; 6, Merrick; 7, R. Littleton; stroke, A. Littleton; coxswain, Foster.

Referee of the regatta, Clem Wood of Harvard.

Princeton Freshman Eight.—Bow, Reinders; 2, Savage; 3, King; 4, Hogg; 5, Humphreys; 6, Ingersoll; 7, Hilliard; stroke, Sturges; coxswain, Sparks.

Change in Harvard Eight.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 8.—Another change was made in the Harvard 'Varsity eight to-day. Murray, who has been rowing at three, was dropped to the second boat, and Curtis was again given a place in the first shell. Lund was tried out at stroke for the first time, but Sargent finished the day in the position.

Scores of Other Games.

At Andover—Phillips-Andover, 5; Princeton Freshmen, 0.

At Madison—Wisconsin, 4; Northwestern University, 3.

At South Bethlehem—Lehigh, 2; University of Pittsburgh, 0.

At Boston—Boston College, 7; Colby, 6, (six innings, rain.)

At Lafayette, Ind. — Purdue, 10; Ohio State, 5.

SHAKE-UP HELPS CORNELL.

'Varsity Crews Show Improvement —Coxswain Dismissed.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 8.—With a new bow oarsman and a new coxswain, the Cornell eight went down the lake to-day in a desperate effort to make a better showing than last night, when the freshmen beat the 'Varsity by a full length in a two-mile race for the second time in ten days. The 'Varsity crew showed a slight improvement, but there was no time test, and the crew faces the Yale-Princeton race two weeks away in the worst condition that a Cornell crew has been in years.

Coach Courtney has dropped Adler, 'Varsity coxswain of last year's boat and of this year's crew up to this time. Failure to live up to Courtney's regulations is the real reason behind the dismissal of the little coxswain. Ellms was transferred from the junior 'Varsity eight and put at bow in the 'Varsity, Eddy going to No. 3 from bow, and Allen apparently being dropped out of the boat. It is said that Allen is considered to be too heavy by Courtney, and that he will not row in the 'Varsity boat again this year. Courtney has recast his 'Varsity boat probably for the last time before the Yale-Princeton-Cornell race, and the crew is rowing as follows: Ellms, bow; Butts, 2; Eddy, 3; Gilman, 4; Welles, 5; Bird, 6; O'Brien, 7; Spransick, stroke; Rand, coxswain.

YALE 'VARSITY CREW WINS.

But It Is Hard Pressed by Freshmen Boat in Annual Regatta.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 8.—The Yale 'varsity eight won the principal race of the annual university regatta on the Harbor Lake to-day, but was hard pushed by the first freshman eight.

The second 'varsity shell, in which Capt. Denegre rowed, came in third. The 'varsity boat led all the way down the course, finishing a quarter of a length ahead of the freshmen. The winning time was 6 minutes and 38 seconds. The second 'varsity boat was barely nosed out by the freshmen.

The juniors were winners of the interclass championship race, and will later race the Harvard sophomore crew. The juniors finished two lengths ahead of the sophomores.

The second freshman crew defeated the Springfield High School eight by two and a half lengths of open water in the one and one-third miles course. The schoolboy oarsmen started their stroke at 41 to the minute, a pace which they found impossible to maintain.

The single scull race, an innovation here, was won by Gaillard, with Droege second and Caesar third.

A crowd of a thousand undergraduates and rowing enthusiasts braved the rain to witness the regatta. Old Yale oarsmen were much impressed with the showing of the 'varsity and freshman eights.

Jersey City Gets Shortstop Murphy.

President Thomas Fogarty of the Jersey City team has secured Herbert Murphy of the Philadelphia National League team to play shortstop. Murphy has joined the Skeeters in Montreal. Baxter, who covered the position for Jersey City since the start of the season, has been sold to the Portsmouth team of the Virginia League. Murphy broke into fast company from the Thomasville, Ga., team of the Cotton States League. He has been erratic with the Philadelphia team.

Lehigh Player Breaks Leg.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Penn., May 8.—"Babe" Twombly, Lehigh's fast left fielder, to-day suffered a cracked or completely fractured bone in the left leg below the knee in to-day's game with University of Pittsburgh. The accident occurred when Twombly, whose home is at Medford, Mass., bumped into Gaw in sliding to second base.

Nelson F. Royal of Lynchburg, Va., was to-day elected manager of the Lehigh University basket ball team, and Edgar C. Hummel of Hummelstown, Penn., assistant manager.

The college Athletic Committee also met to-day and awarded the 'Varsity "L" to these wrestling men: Kirkhuff, Martin, Woeful, Thomas, Sawtelle, Bailey, and Manager Graham. Weber, Levin, McCarthy, Good, and Wills received the "L. A. A."

BRITISH APPEAL FOR POLO RALLY

"Sink Spirit of Cliqueism and Help Hurlingham Tide Over Crisis."

LONDON, May 8.—The situation in regard to the polo team which is to go to the United States to play for the Westminster Polo Cup occupied considerable attention to-day. It was pointed out in polo circles that the fact of Baron Wimborne giving up his responsibility for the selection of a representative team and handing over the task to the Hurlingham Club did not apparently mean the withdrawal of his financial support from the enterprise. It was said that without such support Hurlingham would not at this late hour be able to accomplish anything.

From the gossip prevalent in the clubs it seems undoubted that personal differences militated against Baron Wimborne from the moment of the launching of his scheme, and an appeal is now being made to all supporters of polo to sink their spirit of cliqueism and come forward to help Hurlingham to tide over the crisis.

The Contest Committee of the Hurlingham Polo Club to-day appointed a special sub-committee consisting of Major Gen. Henry Hughes Wilson, Major Gen. Sir Henry Seymour Rawlinson, Major F. Egerton Green, and Lieut. Gen. Sir Douglas Haig to form a new challenging team for the international polo cup.

The Daily Telegraph to-day, in reminding the American Polo Association that there is a precedent for the withdrawal of a challenge—that of the old Etonians in 1910, when Francis Grenfell, one of their players, was injured—makes the suggestion that the association, which, it says, made a large profit out of the plucky enterprise of English polo players, should enter into an agreement by which the losers should get one-quarter of the gate receipts. The Daily Telegraph contends that such a course would obviate a repetition of the 1910 fiasco, and probably enable an international rubber to be played every year.

Holy Cross—Fordham To-day.

Two old rivals meet in baseball to-day at Fordham Field, when the Holy Cross and Fordham nines clash in their first game in three years. Three hundred Holy Cross alumni have reserved the east stand, and will entertain the visiting team at their annual dinner to-night in one of the prominent hotels. The Worcester collegians have a wonderful aggregation of ball tossers this season, and have a long run of victories. Fordham, under the coaching of Jack Warner, has just hit its stride. A string of four wins over strong teams within the last week has encouraged the Maroon nine, and has led its admirers to provide for a regimental brass band to make things lively this afternoon. Martin and Conway will be Fordham's battery choices, with Capt. Billy Walsh as a reserve.

Many Double-Headers Coming.

Yesterday's postponed game brought the Giants' total of coming double-headers up to nine, five of which will be on the home grounds. The Dodgers have been equally unfortunate and also have nine postponed games on their hands, six on their own field and three on the road. The Yankees have only eight postponed games, as it was found possible to play yesterday's game against the Red Sox in Boston. The Giants had only twenty-two games scheduled, so the number postponed by rain or wet grounds figured out to nearly fifty per cent. of the total.

Holy Cross Beats Tuft's in Rain.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 8.—Holy Cross defeated Tufts at baseball this afternoon 3 to 1 in a downpour. The game was stopped during Holy Cross's half of the seventh inning on account of darkness. McManus had Tufts helpless throughout and Whittaker was invincible after a bad first inning. The score:

									R.	H.	E.

Batteries—McManus and Murphy; Whittaker and Bennett.

Rochester Gets Shortstop Walsh.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 8.—A hitch in the deal by which Shortstop Walsh of the St. Louis Americans was to be sent to the Rochester International League team was smoothed out to-night when Manager Ganzel of Rochester conferred here with Walsh and Manager Rickey of St. Louis. Walsh balked and was reported to be in touch with Federal League agents, but after the conference agreed to Ganzel's terms.

Cup Defenders to Race at Newport.

BOSTON, May 8.—The first meeting of the cup defense yachts, Vanitie, Defiance and Resolute in a race that will count in the selection of the America's Cup defender, will be the feature of the annual regatta of the Eastern Yacht Club off the Southern New England coast. The race will be held off Newport, July 7, three days after the close of the preliminary racing of the three candidates in Long Island Sound.

Resolute Tests at Newport.

BRISTOL, R. I., May 8.—The Resolute, candidate for the defense of the America's Cup, will go to Newport to-morrow for her first open-sea trials. Thus far the sloop's cruising has been confined to Bristol Harbor and the neighboring part of Narragansett Bay. She will now be tested in rougher water in the vicinity of Brenton's Reef Lightship. It is expected that she will remain in Newport several days.

FRED HERRESHOFF HURT.

American Golfer Sprains Ankle and May Be Out of Championship.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 8.—Fred Herreshoff, the American amateur golfer, sprained his ankle to-day. It is possible that he will be unable to play for the British golf championship.

Chick Evans, another American, played his first game over the Sandwich course to-day, and did remarkably well, considering he had not touched a club during the Winter. Jerome Travers was also in good form.

OLYMPIC GOLF PLANS.

Young German Players to be Coached by George Duncan of England.

A sidelight on the thoroughness with which Germany is preparing for the Olympic Games of 1916, which are to be held at Berlin, is provided by a step which the Golf Association of Germany has just decided to take. While golf is rapidly growing in popularity in Germany, no player of anything like championship class has yet been produced. Determined to remedy that condition of affairs, the German Golf Association has resolved upon an elaborate plan of coaching promising players in the hope of securing a side capable of winning the Olympic contest.

With that object in view, George Duncan, the famous Scottish professional who won the leading European tournaments last year, has been asked to go to Hamburg for a month to act as "coach and trainer," as the communication to him defines his duties.

It is understood that the idea is to select a number of young players who show a natural aptitude for the game, and for Duncan to coach those players so that they may learn the right methods and have two years of practice and development prior to the tournament. If a suitable date can be arranged Duncan will probably accept.

This is the most systematic attempt ever made in golf to produce young champions. The United States has hitherto led in promoting the sport along systematic lines, and in England the spirit of international rivalry has never prompted the taking of any special steps for the maintenance of the supremacy which Great Britain has enjoyed, save in connection with international golf, but the new scheme is so practical as to suggest that the condition of affairs may be changed two years hence.

The Olympic tournament was held at St. Louis in 1904, when George S. Lyon of Canada triumphed. An attempt was made to repeat it at Sandwich, England, in 1908, but the leading British amateurs declined to support, and the affair was a fiasco. It is to be revived at Berlin in 1916. Whether the feeling of British golfers will have altered by then is problematical, but America and other countries will send entries.

Columbia Golfers Lose to Dartmouth

Playing in a driving rain, Dartmouth smothered Columbia in one of the intercollegiate team golf matches yesterday over the links of the Nassau Country Club at Glen Cove. One point was counted for each match, and not a single Columbia man was successful. The summary:

DARTMOUTH.		COLUMBIA.
Giles	1	Johnston	0
Welsh	1	Crampton	0
Cutler	1	Wilcox	0
Llewellyn	1	Faison	0

Princeton and Cornell Tie at Golf.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 8.—Princeton and Cornell tied in golf this afternoon by a score of 3 to 3. The Tigers won the first three matches, Cornell taking one of the others and tying in the remaining two matches. On the play-off Cornell succeeded in winning both matches, evening up the score. The summary:

Princeton.—Stearns, 0; Douglas, 0; Washburn, (5 and 3,) 1; Rose, (2 up,) 1; Peacock, 0; Fay, (5 and 3,) 1. Total, 3.

Cornell.—Matthews, (1 up, 21 holes,) 1; Prindle, (2 up,) 1; Newman, 0; Snively, 0; Lansing, (1 up, 20 holes,) 1; Cooke, 0. Total, 3.

CRADLE FOR DEFIANCE.

Cup Defender Will Go in the Kennebec River on Monday.

BATH, Me., May 8.—The cradle for the cup defense candidate Defiance was completed to-day, and to-morrow she will be allowed to slide down the ways to the water's edge, where she will be held until released Monday afternoon for her plunge into the Kennebec River.

Uncertainty as to the method of christening the yacht was settled to-day, when it was announced that the sponsor, Miss Frances Clark of Philadelphia, would stand on the deck and not on a temporary launching stage. As there is a probability that the yacht will dip sharply when released from the ways, the spot chosen for the sponsor will be safeguarded as much as possible against the splash. She will be accompanied by her father, E. Walter Clark, Treasurer of the owners' syndicate.

A steel mainmast 112 feet long and a forty-foot topmast of spruce will be stepped as soon as the Defiance takes the water.

TRAVIS WINS TWO MATCHES AT GOLF

Partridge, McAlpin, and Behr the Other Survivors at Garden City.

Survivors in the tournament of the Garden City Golf Club yesterday turned their attention to the first and second rounds of match play so that to-day in the semi-final contests the contenders in the chief division will be Walter J. Travis, of the home club, versus his club-mate and the former Yale player, Dwight Partridge, and D. H. McAlpin, 2d, of Morris County, versus Max Behr of Baltusrol.

Travis's first opponent yesterday was Cornelius J. Sullivan of Baltusrol, who captured the medal in the qualifying round. Travis won by 1 up. Going to the eighteenth, Sullivan's tee shot was pulled sharply to a deep trap, and he took 2 to get out, whereas Travis, with a par 3, won the match. Later on Travis put out Charles Hitchcock of Fox Hills, an old opponent, by 6 up and 5 to play.

Behr advanced by defeating first Gardiner W. White of Flushing, although the latter carried the match to the twentieth green. White might have won the match at the home hole if his tee shot had not been weak. This permitted Behr to square matters, and after they halved the nineteenth, White performed similarly at the next, so that Behr came out ahead. In the afternoon the former New Jersey champion won easily over Charles E. Van Vleck of Baltusrol by 6 up and 5 to play. The summary:

First Sixteen.—First Round—D. H. McAlpin, 2d, Morris County, beat E. A. Thomson, National, 3 up and 2 to play; Hugh Willoughby, Jr., Philadelphia Country, beat W. L. Richard, St. Andrews, 6 up and 5 to play; Max H. Behr, Baltusrol, beat Gardiner W. White, Flushing, 1 up, (20 holes;) Charles E. Van Vleck, Jr., Baltusrol, beat Maurice Molloy, Huntercomb, 5 up and 6 to play; Hamilton K. Kerr, Ekwanok, beat Chisholm Beach, Fox Hills, 6 up and 5 to play; Dwight Partridge, Garden City, beat Dr. A. H. Wylie, Garden City, by default; Charles Hitchcock, Fox Hills, beat James A. Tyng, Baltusrol, 5 up and 4 to play; Walter J. Travis, Garden City, beat Cornelius J. Sullivan, Baltusrol, 1 up.

Second Round—McAlpin beat Willoughby, 1 up; Behr beat Van Vleck, 6 up and 5 to play; Partridge beat Kerr, 6 up and 4 to play; Travis beat Hitchcock, 6 up and 5 to play.

COLLEGE ATHLETES IN DUAL MEETS

Columbia at Syracuse, Princeton at Yale, Harvard at Cornell, Dartmouth at Penn.

With all of the big university teams in dual competition for the first time this year, the intercollegiate season throughout the East opens in real earnest to-day.

Interest in the meets centres in the clashes between Yale and Princeton at New Haven, Dartmouth and Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, Cornell and Harvard at Ithaca, and Columbia and Syracuse at Syracuse.

These games should furnish the first true line on the probable winner in the intercollegiate championships, which take place the last Saturday in this month.

From a competitive standpoint, the Harvard and Cornell meet should prove the most interesting to-day. Few critics of collegiate track and field sports venture to predict a winner, but there are many inclined to believe that "Pooch" Donovan's Crimson athletes will triumph by a small margin. However, there are just as many supporters of Jim Moakley's men who expect to hail Cornell the victor.

The Dartmouth and Pennsylvania clash should be productive of some sterling competition, but with the prospects of a slow track, Penn's chances of winning are somewhat diminished. Depending on its short-distance men to capture the meet, the Red and Black will naturally be handicapped by slow going. Last year Harry Hillman's Dartmouth team startled Penn's adherents by downing the late Mike Murphy's squad, considered then a certain winner. This season George Orton has a well-balanced aggregation, and, provided the going is not very slow, his team may land the honors. Hillman's weight men undoubtedly have the preference over the Quakers, and the pole vault seems destined to be won by the Hanoverians. But on the cinder path Pennsylvania is in the ascendancy. Madeira in the mile and McCurdy, who gave Jackson of Oxford a sensational race in the recent international four-mile relay, have the distance events apparently at their mercy. Marceau of Dartmouth is always a dangerous man, and may surprise the talent by beating Madeira in the mile, for he has been hitting a 4:20 clip in late practice.

Ferguson, who several times this year has beaten 25 seconds in the low hurdles, should land in his favorite event, but may be upset by Brawn, last year's winner of the high and low hurdles, who is now rounding into championship form after a poor start. Dartmouth has no one to cope with Lippincott and Patterson in the sprints, but the same can be said for Whitney in the shot put and Buck and Hurlburt in the pole vault for Dartmouth.

Whichever way the meet results it is bound to be hard fought, with the victor not having a large margin.

Yale's supporters are happy in the thought that old Eli may even an odd score with Princeton by romping away with their dual meet at New Haven. The more loyal Blue adherents expect Yale to score twice as many points as the Tiger representatives, but their calculations are probably too liberal. Outsiders expect Yale to win, but by a much smaller margin.

McKenzie, the veteran distance runner, appears to be the star of the Keene Fitzpatrick team, but in the face of the performance of Poucher of Yale last Saturday, when he lowered the Yale record by winning a mile in 4 minutes 25 seconds, the title of the Tigers to the event is not clear. Benton, the Princeton broad jumper, and Fiske, the pole vaulting star, are reported not quite up to their form. Whether they are as good, or even better than last year, they will face bitter competition, for three Eli jumpers, Hampton, Clawson, and Matthew, bettered 21 feet in the Spring games on Saturday. Fiske is considered good for a pole vault of 12 feet 5 inches, but Carter and Johnstone of Yale are consistently equaling that figure.

Yale has a genuine hammer thrower in Paul Loughbridge, who is believed to be almost as good as the famous Tom Shevlin.

Oler and Douglas, Yale's best nominees for the high jump, will have their hands full with Davy, but one of them should leap to the high honors. Potter and Sheddon are in superb condition for the two timber-topping events, both of which Potter won last week with the fast marks 15 4-5 and 24 2-5 seconds. Sheddon pushed him hard in both races. Tommy Cornell, the sprinter, is slow in coming around to form, but Knight Cowles should uphold Yale's end in the 100 and 200 yard dashes.

Yale's greatest loss this season in the short distance is Aleck Revell, who wrenched his knee tangoing, and is out of athletics for the season. Revell won three events from Princeton, 1916, last year, Spring, the 100, 220, and 440 yards, and two from the Harvard class teams.

Wilkie's return to his best form after an illness of a month is attested by his recent performance 48 4-5 seconds. Payne and Chaplin of Princeton probably will be runners up to him.

Capt. George Brown in the half mile, Young in the two-mile, and Poucher in the mile are a trio of consistent distance starters, good enough on their Spring form, to be close contenders for first places. Frost, Smith, and Scotten should pick up odd points in the distance events for the Blue.

The result should be more satisfactory than last season, when the Bulldog won by the score of 50½ to 56½.

Columbia has played second fiddle to Syracuse for six years now, and unless a startling reversal is recorded the up-State boys should reap their past performances to-day.

No Hope for Harvard Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 8.—When the Harvard track team of thirty-five men reached here to-day for the dual meet with Cornell to-morrow, Coach "Pooch" Donovan said that the Crimson could not win from the Ithacans to-morrow. He said that several of his best men had been left behind at Cambridge, and without them he could not hope for a victory over Cornell. The Harvard team is quartered at two fraternity houses on the campus instead of going to a hotel as is often the case with visiting teams. The Harvard team looked over the field this afternoon, but did no work of consequence. A close meet is expected tomorrow, with many persons picking Cornell to win in spite of the fact that Harvard has many veterans.

Engineers' Games To-night.

Two special attractions have been added to the programme of the games of Company F, Twenty-second Regiment Engineers, which will be held at the new Armory to-night. Manager "Hop" Odell has arranged to have Harry Smith run against a two-man team consisting of Jim O'Connor and Jack O'Neill of the New York A. C., in a special match relay race of three miles. Both runners pitted against Smith are reported to have done better than 4:30 for the mile, and Smith will have to be at his best to lead them home. The other added event will be a match relay race between the teams of the Knights of St. Anthony and the New York A. C. Another feature will be the special events closed to members of the newly formed Life Insurance Company League. Many of the local insurance companies have entered full in the medley relay, in which such well-known runners as Homer Baker, Jim Rosenberger, and Harry Smith will toe the marks.

Princeton Club Games at Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., May 8.—The track team of the Central High School is expected to win the point trophy at the annual Newark-Princeton Club games to be held here tomorrow afternoon at the Newark Academy Field. The games are a feature of the outdoor interscholastic season in New Jersey every year. Great rivalry exists, especially among the high and "prep." schools of this city. John B. Gardner of the Central High team, New Jersey interscholastic champion sprinter, will be called on to defend his title against Burtis Goldberg of the Newark Academy.

N. Y. U. Athletes' Engagements.

Thirty-six New York University students, memebrs of three athletic teams, left yesterday and early this morning for out-of-town contests. Nineteen of these accompany the track coach, Herman E. Mantel, to Clinton, N. Y., for a dual track and field meet with Hamilton College this afternoon. The baseball and tennis teams go together to New Brunswick, N. J., where Rutgers will be their rivals on the diamond and the rectangular courts respectively.

CROTONA FIELD NUISANCE.

Residents Want Playground Moved Further Into Park.

After three hours' discussion last night in Bronx Borough Hall on the question of whether the athletic field and grand stand in Crotona Park shall be allowed to remain, be removed to another location in the park, or shall be abolished entirely, Thomas W. Whittle, Commissioner of Parks for the Bronx, decided that he will take the matter under advisement and, in conjunction with the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, come to a decision in the best interest of all concerned.

Apparently great pressure will be brought to bear in securing the necessary $40,000 to $60,000 appropriation, which, if had, will mean the removal of the field and stand to a point several hundred feet removed from Crotona Avenue into the park as it was, because of the noise and the unsightly back of the stand so close to the residences opposite that the protest came about. During the hearing it developed that 60,000 school children use the athletic fied and running track.

Principals of three public schools, athletic instructors, and some of the parties residing in the vicinity of the field spoke in favor of retaining the place under all circumstances. Some other residents either in person or represented by attorneys voiced contrary sentiments, but were willing to agree to have the field and stand continue in existence if removed to a point where the noise and crowds would not annoy the near by residents.

The city spent $51,000, several years ago to establish the field, track, and stand, and its transferrence to another point will entail an equal outlay.

BOXERS WANT A "RAISE."

Game in France Not as Profitable as in America.

The commercial phase of boxing has come forward most prominently in France with the popularity of the sport. The boxers have taken up the eternal struggle to gain higher prices from the managers who are forced to pass the extra fees on to the public.

The Frenchmen feel that they do not get the money of the American boxers. Hugh D. McIntosh started the trouble by giving large purses to Billy Lang, Sam Langford, and Billy Papke. He did not, however, increase the admission fees which average less than fees for similar exhibitions in the United States.

The money brought out a horde of small promoters who ran shows all over Paris. Many boxers were taken under contract for a certain number of matches. Were these men defeated, their drawing power would cease, so it became important to so arrange that they could not be beaten until at least the contract had expired. Therefore, the average match was a pretty poor contest. Other promoters engaged boxers at a fixed wage and took all of the purses and side bets for their own account. Both schemes have proved profitable, but the game itself has suffered.

Local Boxing Bouts To-night.

The most interesting boxing match this evening will be that between Louisiana, the Philadelphia bantam, and Walter Nelson of Brooklyn at the Irving Athletic Club in Brooklyn. The Philadelphia boy showed well recently with Eddie Campi and Kid Williams. Eddie O'Keefe, also of Philadelphia, will box Young McGowan of Brooklyn.

At the Faimont Athletic Club will appear a collection of Kennys. Roy Kenny will box with Al Weinert, who recently defeated Battling Levinsky, and Frank Kenny has Tommy Robson as an opponent. There are two more of the family in the six round contests.

Young Kansas, the Buffalo featherweight, will box in New York for the first time on Monday next at the Stadium Athletic Club in St. Nicholas Rink, against a boxer not yet announced. Young Kansas has a decision over Johnny Dundee.

Al McCoy Knocks Out Pearsall.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., May 8.—Al McCoy of Brooklyn, the middleweight who recently knocked out George Chip, to-night knocked out George Pearsall of Chicago in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout. Pearsall was knocked down in the first few seconds of fighting. Amid cries of fake from the crowd, he arose, to be knocked down again, this time for the count.

Adverse Report on Boxing Bill.

BOSTON, May 8.—An adverse report on the bill to legalize boxing bouts under the supervision of a State Athletic Commission, was presented in the House to-day by the Committee on Ways and Means. The bill, which had been favorably reported by the committee on local affairs, was vigorously opposed by several ministers' associations.

MOTOR CYCLE REGIMENT.

Members of F. A. M. Fully Equipped for Service in Mexico.

The Mexican crisis furnished immediate proof that there are no more loyal citizens in the country than motor cyclists. Among the first to offer their services to the United States to aid in defending the honor of their country were members of the Federation of American Motor Cyclists.

"I can furnish 1,000 motor cyclists, all mounted on the latest models of motor cycles, within thirty days, for service in case of war with Mexico," wired President Patterson of the F. A. M. to Washington.

The plan of President Patterson in organizing this motor cycle-mounted regiment contemplates that the riders should either be formed into a single regiment or divided into small companies to be used as dispatch bearers, scouts, and patrols.

Members of the Short Grass Touring Club would form the nucleus of this organization, supplemented by other F. A. M. riders from all over the country. Should this regiment be called into service, it is the plan of Dr. Patterson that the cyclists should travel in pairs, each couple carrying tentage and complete camping outfit.

"Nothing would please me more in case of war," says President Patterson, "than to have command of a regiment of men mounted on motor cycles, either for actual fighting or for dispatch and aid work. And there are many seasoned Captains in the F. A. M. who are capable of commanding a company of riders."

Bayside's New Clay Courts.

The newly organized Bayside Tennis Club formally will open its new courts to-day.

The grounds, which occupy an elevated plateau on Seventh and Eighth Streets, Bayside, overlook Little Neck Bay on the north, Douglaston on the east, and command a fine view of the Oakland golf course on the south.

There are four clay courts, and the membership includes about a hundred prominent business and professional and theatrical folk, who make their homes in the vicinity.

The club has joined the Queens Borough Tennis League, which is composed of the Elmhurst, Great Neck Hills, Jamaica Estates, and Whitestone Tennis Clubs, and will be represented by a strong combination of players in the league's interclub tournaments.

The officers of the club are: President—William C. Rossman; Vice President—T. H. Dunkerton; Secretary and Treasurer—Frederick Bement. Board of Governors—A. M. McKnight, L. W. Barnette, A. H. Cushman, and George Barmeyer.

Schoolboys in Games at Brooklyn.

The schoolboy athlete will have his inning this afternoon in track and field athletics when nearly 500 pupils representing all the New York schools, in addition to at least two score teams from out-of-town, compete at Commercial Field, Brooklyn, in the interscholastic athletic carnival to be conducted under the auspices of the Brooklyn Amherst Alumni Association. Judging from the entries, which include nearly all the best performers of their respective teams, several new records may be established. One of the features will be the one mile open interscholastic relay race. Teams representing De Witt Clinton, Morris, Stuyvesant, Manual Training, and Polytechnic will be among the starters for the title which will decide the outdoor championship. Du Tremblay, the noted schoolboy athlete of Poly Prep will make his first appearance in competition since he broke his collarbone two months ago while vaulting. He is entered in the pole vault for which event he holds the Amherst record of 10 feet, 3 inches. He will also compete in the 120 yard hurdles.

TO MEASURE AUTO PARTS QUALITY

Company Formed to Examine Units of Motor Car Manufacture—Auto Insurance.

Recently the records of the State of Illinois showed the incorporation of a new company under the title "American Efficiency Survey of Motor Car Units." No one knew quite what this title meant. It now develops, however, that the plan of the concern is to make a comprehensive and exhaustive examination and analysis of every unit that enters into the building of an automobile, such as axles, radiators, oils, magnetos, carbureters, wheels, motors, tires, brakes, spark plugs, speedometers, &c., and to make complete reports on the result of these examinations. No officer of the company is connected with the automobile industry and the members of its board of expert engineers are said to be foremost in their respective lines. It is believed that through the company the buyer of automobiles can obtain knowledge concerning the quality of automobile parts which will be of value to him. The officers of the company are Harry Newman, President; Kenyon W. Mix, Vice President; David Minard Shaw, Vice President and Secretary, and Charles S. Castle, Treasurer. Its offices are in Chicago.

⁂

The rate war in automobile liability insurance which was started by a cut of 25 per cent. by the Travelers' Insurance Company because the members of the Workman's Compensation Service Bureau had been extending their automobile coverage beyond a point of which that company approved, has been settled. Through the mediation of the Insurance Department of the State, the members of the bureau have agreed to charge additional interests as prescribed in the rules of their manual, and, in consequence, the cut in rates has been withdrawn. In order to ascertain the conditions underlying the automobile rate, the Insurance Department has addressed a letter to all the companies writing automobile liability and property damage insurance in this State, asking for the following information:

Rates in force in New York State for automobile liability and property damage insurance, on private cars, Jan. 1, 1914.

Rates adopted for the same class of insurance and in force prior to May 5.

Rates on these risks in force subsequent to May 5.

Changed conditions justifying or requiring a change in rates before and after both these dates.

A complete list of all risks written or bound between May 1 and 5 and on May 5, 6, and 7.

Statistics giving the entire amount of premiums and losses paid on this class of risks, separately for New York State and for the United States for the year 1913 and for the first four months of 1914.

BEESON'S JUMP PROTESTED.

Clubmate Asserts He Did Not Make Record Over the Bar.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., May 8.—A protest against allowing Edward Beeson a new world's record in the high jump was filed with President John Elliott of the Pacific Athletic Association to-day by C. S. Morris of the Olympic Club, a teammate of Beeson.

Morris states that when Beeson jumped 6 feet 7 5-10 inches at the Pacific Athletic Association conference meet at Berkeley last Saturday his body touched the crossbar, which would prevent a record. He argues, further, that the event was a closed one, since two men from the same club—Beeson and George Horine, the former record holder—were the only ones to compete, the event itself being a special.

Free Racing on Whitney Farm.

The Meadow Brook Steeplechase Association will hold its annual Spring meeting on the estate of Harry Payne Whitney at Westbury, L. I., this afternoon. It is to be a sporting meeting in every sense of the word, as no admission is to be charged. Everybody is invited to be present. It will be a big day for the farmers from the country around Westbury. They have all been invited, and will be the guests of Mr. Whitney at luncheon. The first race is to be run at 3 o'clock. The card consists of five well-filled races. The entries:

Western Bowlers Win.

The team of the Western Division of the Bell Telephone System easily won from the Manhattan-Bronx five last night in a novel long-distance bowling contest to decide the tie in the match of April 18. The winners had 339 over the local men. The Western team rolled at Buffalo and the local men on the alleys at their new clubhouse. Communication was had by long-distance telephone kept constantly connected so that the result of the frames as they were rolled could be announced. The highest score was that of Carritt of the up-State team, who rolled 659 in his three games, with a top game score of 258. The score:

English Cricket Results.

LONDON, May 8.—Hampshire started their cricket season against Leicestershire at Southampton, and recorded a fine win. Batting first, they put together the score of 302, Mead and Brown being the chief scorers, with 76 and 64 respectively. Leicester only managed to make 134, and following on, 168 behind, went all to pieces before some splendid bowling, and at their second attempt were put out for the poor score of 60, leaving Hampshire winners by an innings and 108 runs.

M. C. C. opened their programme at Lords, having Nottinghamshire as opponents. The Notts men had first knock on a perfect wicket, and, giving a fine account of themselves, were not disposed of until they had run up the big score of 474, the chief scorers being Lee, 126; Whysall, 112; John Gunn, 67, and Iremonger, 62. M. C. C. replied with 280, to which McIver contributed 65 and Tarrant and Thompson 62 each. Being 194 in arrears, they followed on and managed to play out time with their score 187 for 7 wickets, and drew the game.

Schaefer Wins Twice with Cue.

Young "Jake" Schaefer contested in two exhibition matches of 14.1 balk line billiards last night at Schreiner's Billiard Academy in Brooklyn and won both games. In the first contest Dr. H. D. Jennings, the Brooklyn amateur, opposed Schaefer, and the latter won by the score of 300 to 64 in nineteen innings. Schaefer made high runs of 62, 66, and 33, with an average of 15 16-19. Jennings's best high runs were 17 and 14. J. Ferdinand Poggenberg, formerly holder of the National Class A Championship, opposed Schaefer in the second match, which resulted in another one-sided victory for Schaefer, the final score being 300 to 87. The winner made an average of 33⅓, with high runs of 96, 83, and 69. Poggenberg's highest run was 16.

WASHINGTON RELICS SOLD.

Pastel Portrait, the Last Taken from Life, Brings $1,650.

A pastel portrait of George Washington, painted for Oliver Wolcott, then Secretary of the United States Treasury, by James Sharpless of Philadelphia, was bought for $1,650 by James F. Egan of this city at a sale of Americana by the Merwin Company last evening. This was an important portrait, pronounced the best likeness extant, and possessing the additional attraction of having been the last portrait of Washington taken from life.

Sharpless painted several portraits of Washington, and none of them ever before realized so much. Ten years ago one brought only $110. Last night's example was consigned by a descendant of Secretary Wolcott.

Mr. Egan also obtained for $250 a lock of Washington's hair and a lock of hair of Martha Washington, his wife, preserved behind glass in a miniature gold slab, the two locks being encased in little oval receptacles, underneath which are the initials "G. W." and "M. W." Below is an engraved inscription on the gold, saying that the two locks were presented by Mrs. Washington to Mrs. Oliver Wolcott in 1797.

The Rev. W. H. Burk of the Valley Fore (Penn.) Memorial Association gave $280 for a Kentucky flintlock rifle made by James Golcher of Philadelphia, the most noted gunmaker of America in his day, and presented by J. Kahn to Washington at Mount Vernon, Va., on July 4, 1790.

A large armchair presented to Abraham Lincoln by the Illinois Central Railroad, whose counsel he was, went to George D. Smith for $71. A beautiful miniature portrait of Gen. Andrew Jackson, painted on ivory by George Augustus Baker, was obtained by Mr. McBeth for $112.50. A fine complete set of the Reuben G. Thwaites's edition of the "Jesuit Relations" brought $132.

The Times and Season, a rare Mormon periodical, published at Nauvoo, Ill., 1844-45, and containing an account by the editor, John Taylor, as an eye-witness, of the murder of Joseph and Hiram Smith, Presidents of the Church of Latter Day Saints, was knocked down to E. H. Wendell for $37. J. Clarence Davies paid $43 for a Trinity Church document dated 1724. Robert Fridenberg bought for $62.50 a rare colored "View of the Great Conflagration of Dec. 16 and 17, 1835, from Coenties Slip."

An official publication, Richmond, 1788, giving details of Virginia's Ratification of the Federal Constitution, went to Dodd & Livingston for $126. An autograph letter of Col. Seth Warner's, May 12, 1775, announcing the capture of Crown Point, was bought by J. F. Sabin for $60.

The total for the two days' sale amounted to $8,381.45.

SALVATION ARMY CONGRESS

Commander Eva Booth to Take 700 Delegates to London.

Commander Eva Booth, head of the Salvation Army in America, who with 700 Salvation Army delegates will sail on the Olympic on May 30 for the Salvation Army World Congress in London, received assurances yesterday from her brother, Gen. Bramwell Booth, that the next world congress of the Army will be held in New York, owing to the progress made by the Salvation Army in this country, which is second only to that in England.

In the delegation sailing from here every country except China has men and women represented, testifying to the cosmopolitan make-up of the Salvation Army in America. Fully 100 of the delegates will be sent from England to other countries to teach efficiency to the Army workers of the various lands.

The total attendance at the world congress, which is to be held in a great hall on the Strand, London, will be 50,000, of whom at least 5,000 will be bandsmen. The purpose of the congress is to gain momentum for a tremendous educational advance in the next ten years. In America the chief work will be done in New York and Chicago.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Recede Further—Missouri Pacific Developments a Considerable Factor.

A number of factors combined yesterday to increase pressure upon the market and a larger net decline was shown than on any one of the previous three days of reaction. The sustaining force of the brilliant crop outlook, which was so clearly defined in Thursday's Government report, was offset yesterday by some specific items of unfavorable news as well as by increased uncertainty regarding the course which Mexican affairs might take. The idle car statement for the second half of April, showing a further lessening in the demand for railway equipment during that period, and the copper trade statement revealing a decrease in domestic deliveries of the metal, and an increase in the stocks in the hands of producers, were two of the items bearing on trade conditions which were an influence in the market as a whole. The latter exerted more specific effect on the copper shares.

Another and important influence in the day's trading was the doubt which existed whether the banking house which had the Missouri Pacific financing under advisement would decide to go ahead with the matter or not. This was only a doubt during Stock Exchange hours, for it was not until after the close of trading that it was definitely announced that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had made known to the Missouri Pacific management that that firm did not see its way clear to financing the property. It was explained that the reasons for this decision were set forth in a letter to the Missouri Pacific, which it is proposed to make public on Monday. Wall Street was quick to draw conclusions from this announcement, but it was intimated that the situation was not really a bad one. It was thought possible that a better aspect might be put on the situation by the full statement made to the road by the bankers than was suggested by the bare statement made yesterday. It was reported in this connection that before making their letter to the Missouri Pacific public the bankers desired to give the Directors and management of the road ample opportunity to digest the communication sent to the company. Later in the day, after this news reached the Street, there was a revision in the quotations previously made for Missouri Pacific notes. They were then quoted at 85 bid and offered at 92 in contrast with sales on Thursday as high as 95½. It was expected that the result of yesterday's developments would be that a less comprehensive plan would now be resorted to by the Missouri Pacific and that renewed consideration would be given to the earlier proposal to extend the notes, which fall due on June 1.

Trade sentiment, according to the weekly commercial reviews, has improved under the stimulus of the highly satisfactory crop outlook, but it is noted that actual progress has been slow. This, of course, is due in part to the fact that there is often a wide gap between promise and realization in the crops, but in any reasonable view of this matter full weight must be given to the fact that up to this time instead of any impairment there has been actual improvement in the agricultural prospects. Another advance in foreign exchange, in conjunction with a further stiffening of discount rates at London, increased the likelihood of further gold engagements in this market. This prospect is not affecting money rates here at all. These are being held down by the steady strengthening of the cash position of the banks. Remotely at least they are also influenced by the impending change in the country's banking system, which will lead to increased opportunities for the extension of credit.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Safety First.

A banker who is so far removed from any of the pending reorganizations as to be in a position to regard the railroad situation impartially had his own view of the refusal of new banking interests to enter the Missouri Pacific situation. He explained it yesterday on the ground that in these days of investigations few houses are willing to undertake work that involves risks, with the possibility of subsequent charges by security holders, bringing them up before the Inter-State Commerce Commission, or a committee of Congress, to explain their profits. In his opinion, future reorganizations, as well as those now hanging fire, will have to be worked out very largely by the protective committees for security holders. Bankers are not likely to underwrite any scheme that involves a speculative risk, to be rewarded by big profits if successful. They prefer to make less money without taking the chances.

⁂

The Changing Times.

"If any one had told me five years ago that a time would come when I would do so small a day's business as to-day's," said a prominent member of the Exchange, "I'd have questioned his sanity. Times do change. I bought one bond this morning and twenty shares of stock this afternoon, and that was all." His plight was not the worst in a dull session, for another broker who overheard said that he had not done anything.

⁂

True to Form.

A favorite and bromidic observation of the Street is that the public keeps out of a rising market until stocks have advanced from 3 to 6 points above the low level established before the upturn began. Until declines began to be more pronounced in the past few days the market had enjoyed a substantial rise, and, true to precedent, many customers previously absent from the Street for several months began to drop into their brokers' offices early this week. A broker said yesterday that a number of his clients had appeared and were anxious to buy. He told them that prices had gone up far enough to indicate that a reaction might occur at any time, and advised them to hold off a day or so. When quotations began to ease off on Thursday he looked for an increased interest in the tape on the part of the clients. But he didn't find it. They had gone away, fully persuaded that it was certainly no time to buy stocks.

Preparing for What May Come.

Gradually the impression is growing in some quarters of the copper trade, where the continued exportation of the metal has been viewed with a coldly critical eye as largely representative of speculation, that there is sound reason for the movement. Advices from abroad have not given the impression that all the copper, by any means, was going into consumptive channels, although it was said that more metal was going direct to manufacturers than in this country. The observer of market conditions, who was persuaded that the exporting movement was, in part, intended to have a sentimental effect in advancing prices, is not so sure of his position as he was a few months ago. The impression has gained ground that European copper sellers have been taking the metal steadily to make good the inroad upon supplies which occurred in the fore part of last year, when surplus had to be drawn upon to meet the demand. Reserve stocks the world over are reported below a level to be described as "safe" in case a great expansion of business should appear.

⁂

The Movements of Specialties.

Several specialties moved contrary to the trend of the market yesterday, one being far weaker than the general list of prices and others considerably stronger. Vulcan Detinning preferred registered a sudden drop of 14 points on the sale of 100 shares, and these showed real vigor: Sears Roebuck, with a gain of 3¼ points, and Mackay Companies common with an upturn of 2½ points. Texas Company weakened to the extent of 3½ points, and was the most unstable of the semi-active group.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

London Slump Checked at Closing—Partial Recovery in Paris and Berlin.

LONDON, May 8.—Money was in good demand to-day. Discount rates were strong on the dearer money outlook.

Another wave of forced liquidation, particularly on Paris account, upset the stock market in the forenoon and caused sharp falls in home rails, Canadian Pacific and rubber and oil shares; but the decline was checked in the afternoon by the cessation of selling pressure. Paris sent more cheerful reports, and repurchases recovered a portion of the earlier losses and helped to make the closing steadier. Copper stocks were weak throughout.

American securities opened easy and declined during the forenoon under the lead of Canadian Pacific, which was sold by the Continent. Later Wall Street offerings further depressed the list, but the market rallied a fraction in the late trading and closed above the lowest. Chesapeake & Ohio was flat.

PARIS, May 8.—The Bourse opened heavy, but closed firm to-day.

Three per cent. rentes 86 francs 90 centimes for the account.

BERLIN, May 8.—The Bourse opened weak to-day. There was a partial recovery later, and the closing was quiet.

PRUDENTIAL STOCK VALUE.

Final Argument on Appraisal Begins at Newark.

Final argument was begun yesterday in Newark before the commission appointed to fix the value of the stock of the Prudential Insurance Company before its mutualization. The Commissioners have been hearing testimony for nearly a month. Argument was opened for the policy holders by Merritt H. Lane and ex-Gov. John W. Griggs. Mr. Lane argued that the stockholders could not properly place the value of the stock at more than between $600 and $700 a share.

He said that under decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States a life insurance company, and especially one doing an industrial business, should be considered by Legislatures as a public service institution. He argued further that any attempt by the stockholders or Directors to divert the $25,000,000 surplus, or in any way impair the financial capacity of the company, would not be permitted by the Legislature.

Thomas N. McCarter, representing the Fidelity Trust Company, and its President, Uzal H. McCarter, holders of a majority of the stock, argued that the mutualization should be carried on with due regard for all interests concerned. Mr. McCarter declared that unless the Commissioners fixed the value of the stock at a proper figure the appraisal proceeding would fail. He said that if the company was purely a private enterprise the stock could not be bought for $2,000 a share.

Richard V. Lindabury represnted the company. John R. Hardin appeared for the minority stockholders.

FAVORS NEW YORK CENTRAL.

Up-State Commission Order Affects Lackawanna Steel Company.

Word was received yesterday at the offices of railroads running from New York to Buffalo that the up-State Public Service Commission had issued an order which, it was said, would have the effect of putting the New York Central at an advantage in regard to the tonnage of the Lackawanna Steel Company at Buffalo. The order, it was said, required the abolition of charges for special services, such as spotting cars, which were recently put into effect, so far as concerned the South Buffalo Railway Company, owned by the Lackawanna Steel Company.

These charges were put into effect following the suggestion contained in the Interstate Commerce Commission's ruling in the tap line cases that such services should be charged for. The railroads filed tariffs with the Commerce Commission providing for such charges, but the commission suspended them, pending an inquiry into their reasonableness, except as to steel companies. The result is that the railroads generally are now making such charges to steel companies only.

The order of the Public Service Commission that these charges be abolished affects only traffic entirely within the State, and consequently applies solely to the New York Central, the only road between here and Bufalo that crosses no State lines.

EXAMINED ON U. P. SURPLUS.

Counsel for Stockholders Questions Secretary Millar.

Alexander Millar, Secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, was under examination all day yesterday by Delavan A. Holmes, counsel for a number of holders of the company's preferred stock, who have brought suit to prevent the distribution of $81,000,000 of securities and cash to the common stockholders.

The contention of the plaintiffs is that the company has no surplus nearly large enough to make such a distribution possible, and Mr. Millar was examined, by order of the court, in advance of the trial, which has been set for May 18, as to amounts that had been credited to the profit and loss account, resulting in the surplus shown by the company's books.

The examination, which was held in private, will continue to-day.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Brothers announced yesterday in behalf of themselves and Kleinwort Sons & Co. of London, that advance applications for the shares of the National Cloak and Suit Company had been largely in excess of the amount to be issued.

The Listing Committee of the Curb Association admitted to trading yesterday 350,000 shares of the United Profit Sharing Corporation, of a par value of $1, and 1,200,000 shares of the Sterling Gum Company, Inc., of a par value of $5. Both issues were listed on a "when issued" basis.

Fritz Brose, representing John Muir & Co., has been elected a Director of the Vulcan Detinning Company. Oswald Lamason has been made secretary of the company, to succeed Frank E. Spier.

A booklet containing information for travelers in regard to foreign coin, postal rates, and other matters has been prepared by Brown Brothers & Co.

ROCK ISLAND'S NEEDS SET AT $65,000,000

E. W. McKenna Reports to the Wallace Bondholders' Committee.

WOULD SCRAP 16,000 CARS

Prospects of the Property Materially Enhanced by Assurance of Unusual Crops.

The conclusions reached by E. W. McKenna, the railroad expert engaged by the Wallace committee of holders of Rock Island 4 per cent. collateral bonds, as to the financial needs of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway, were made public last evening, together with a supplementary report made after conferences with President Mudge and Chairman Schumacher and members of the Stockholders' Protective Committee.

Mr. McKenna estimates that $65,000,000 could be spent profitably in the next five years to produce substantial operating economies. In the supplementary report he reduces this estimate by figuring on the needs for three years, instead of five. He finds that 20,000 freight cars are in bad condition, and would scrap 16,000 of them. The remainder he thinks could be repaired to furnish a few years' more service. Mr. McKenna says in part:

"If the sum of approximately $65,000,000 is applied as per tabulation below, certain economies will be produced, and an improvement in the present property will be secured, which will put a stop to the deterioration, and place the property in such physical condition as to secure a great proportion of the traffic of the country it serves.

"There are about 20,000 cars which should be retired; possibly 4,000 of these cars will be found to be in such condition that their life can be extended for from two to five years. This would mean a retirement of 16,000 cars. The present cost per car for repairs averages about $79 per car per year. An investment of $15,000,000 in 15,000 new cars would produce an efficiency of equipment at least 50 per cent. greater than the cars retired, and the maintenance cost of these new cars for the first five years should not exceed $25 per car per year. It will be observed that in the tabulation of prospective capital requirements, which contemplates about $41,000,000, there is an estimated saving in operation of $4,400,000 per annum.

"It is assumed further that the improved conditions of the railway and its equipment would produce an increase of revenue over existing conditions of at least $5,000,000 per annum, of which 30 per cent. would be net earnings. The investment of this money would also enable the railway company to carry on its maintenance programme from January to July, which would yield a saving of at least $500,000 per annum.

"A statement of these matters would be about as follows:

16,000 cars retired at $79 expense for maintenance per annum	$1,264,000
Less maintenance of 15,000 new cars, $25 per annum	375,000
Net equipment maintenance saving.	$889,000
Saving resulting from investment of $41,000,000	4,435,494
Total	$5,324,494
Net earnings $5,000,000 new business at 30 per cent	1,500,000
Saving in maintenance cost due to applying expense of maintenance of way and structures and equipment during the Spring months.	500,000
Total	$7,324,494
The amount of money required to produce these results would be:
Account additions and betterments about	$41,688,209
Account of deferred maintenance to track and equipment about	8,896,159
Account of new equipment about	15,000,000
Total about	$65,584,368

This calculation applies to the lines of railway as at present constituted.

"The construction of the short line from Chicago to Kansas City by way of Peoria, Ill., and Keokuk, Iowa, will have the most potent effect in reducing transportation expenses, and, in addition to the other advantages discussed previously in the report, should reduce the ratio of transportation expenses to gross earnings to some point between 35 and 37 per cent. There is very little doubt that this improvement would place the whole property in a condition of such increased efficiency in its operations that sufficient earning power would be developed to restore the stock of the railway company to at least its par value, and it is within the possibilities that it could be raised to such a value, say, at the end of five years, as to enable the company to take care of some of its future financing through the sale of common stock."

In his supplementary report Mr. McKenna suggests that capital requirements be reduced to a three-year basis instead of five. As to expenditures for deferred maintenance he says:

"The prospects of the property are materially enhanced since the original estimate was made. At the time this estimate was prepared the crop prospects were excellent; in the intervening period these prospects, due to ideal weather conditions, are practically assured, and at this writing it seems certain that an unusual crop will be garnered in the southwestern territory covered by the Rock Island Lines.

"Localized prosperity, due to these conditions, produces a fair presumption that the railway company should have increased net income for the ensuing fiscal year approximating $2,000,000."

It is understood that the expert originally proposed the expenditure of $22,000,000 to build the short line from Chicago to Kansas City. The difficulty of raising money at this time made this project appear impracticable.

ENGLISH SYNDICATE IN OIL.

Earl Grey and Associates to Make Large Investments in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Earl Grey, former Governor General of Canada, before leaving last night for Los Angeles, made a public announcement of the personnel of a syndicate which will invest large amounts of British capital in the purchase of two of the largest oil companies in California. His associates are:

Lord Pirrie of the White Star Steamship Line, Sir Thomas B. Royden, Deputy Chairman of the Directorate of the Cunard Steamship Company; William Anderson, leading ship builder of Denmark; Sir William E. Garstin, who is famous for his work in Egyptian irrigation projects; Sir Edward W. D. Ward, former Secretary of the British War Office and head of one of England's large steamship companies, and Andrew Weir, President of the Weir Steamship Company.

Earl Grey will be the Chairman of the Directorate. "The British Government is neither directly nor indirectly back of the deal," said the Earl.

KUHN, LOEB WON'T FINANCE MO. PAC.

Bankers Make Public Their Decision While the Directors Meet.

STOCK FALLS AND RALLIES

Railroad Directors in Session Again This Morning to Find New Plan of Meeting $25,000,000 Notes.

Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who had been invited to finance the Missouri Pacific Railway, have decided not to undertake the transaction. This announcement was made after the close of the stock market yesterday. The road has $25,000,000 of three-year notes maturing on June 1, and other plans will now have to be laid for providing for this obligation. The notes are secured by collateral which bankers who have been associated with the Missouri Pacific estimate to be worth $5,000,000 more than the amount of the notes.

The Directors of the road are to meet at 11:30 o'clock this morning. At that meeting a new effort will be made to take care of the notes. One of the Directors said last night that the whole matter had been put up to George Gould as a personal matter.

Until yesterday forenoon it was considered probable that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. would decide to advance funds to carry the Missouri Pacific past its June 1 needs, after obtaining pledges that the road would be operated and financed in accordance with their ideas for several years to come. John F. Stevens, formerly Vice President of the New Haven, and before that in charge of the Panama Canal work, recently returned from an inspection trip over the road and submitted a report on the property's condition to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. The bankers studied the report and drew up their answer to Mr. Gould's invitation to become identified with the road.

This answer was delivered to the Directors yesterday in time for a special meeting called for 2 o'clock. Before that hour it became known that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. would make their answer public on Monday.

The financial district at once jumped to the conclusion that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. had refused to enter the Gould situation, on the theory that they would have left it to the Directors to make an announcement had they made a proposition to be acted upon. From 18⅜, the price touched by Missouri Pacific soon after noon, the price fell quickly to 16¾. From that point it rallied to 17⅜ at the close, at which figure it had a net loss of only ⅞ for the day.

Shortly after 3 o'clock, and while the Missouri Pacific Directors were still deliberating over the letter behind closed doors, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. announced that after careful consideration of the financial and physical condition of the system, based upon a report made to them by Mr. Stevens, they had decided not to do the proposed financing.

The meeting at 165 Broadway remained in session until 4 o'clock. When it broke up R. Lancaster Williams was the first to leave. He shook his head by way of reply to all inquiries, but finally said he would go back and ask some one else to see reporters. A moment later the door to the board room opened and Thomas L. Chadbourne of Chadbourne & Shores, counsel for George Gould, appeared. Behind him was James Speyer of Speyer & Co., who have been bankers for the Missouri Pacific.

"We haven't anything to tell you," said Mr. Chadbourne. "We meet again at half-past 11 to-morrow."

"Are you going to meet the notes?" he was asked.

"That," said the lawyer, "is to be the subject of our meeting to-morrow. We have received Kuhn, Loeb's letter, but we will not give it out. Come around to-morrow."

The selling of Missouri Pacific yesterday was the heaviest of any day on the Stock Exchange in years with 64,200 shares changing hands. The activity in an issue which has been so largely held by the Gould family was regarded as supporting the belief which has taken root in the financial district that part of the Gould holdings, amounting not long ago to more than 250,000 shares, have been liquidated.

In the maturing notes Gould is said to be largely interested still. Of the $25,000,000 sold three years ago George Gould himself is credited with owning $2,500,000. John D. Rockefeller is supposed to hold about $1,225,000. It was asserted yesterday by persons closely in touch with the Missouri Pacific situation that the "administration" can command 60 per cent. of the notes in support of an extension plan.

Such a plan is now being considered. It was understood several weeks ago that Speyer & Co. had a plan for meeting the maturing notes by an offer of an exchange of 6 per cent. notes, and a cash bonus of $20 a note. The success of such a plan would depend upon its being underwritten by some one willing to redeem at par any notes turned in by holders unwilling to accept the extension. After yesterday's developments the notes were quoted 85 bid, 92 asked, at which figure the yield to maturity would be well above 100 per cent. per annum.

The maturing notes are secured by the deposit of $22,000,000 St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern first and refunding 6s; $1,070,000 Iron Mountain stock; $1,972,000 Missouri Pacific first and refunding 5s; $9,800,000 preferred and $15,000,000 Denver & Rio Grande common stock; $828,000 Texas & Pacific Railway 5 per cent. gold notes; $525,000 Concordia Coal Company 5s, and various other securities. Bankers who have been associated with the Missouri Pacific have frequently asserted that the collateral is worth $5,000,000 more than the lien against it.

Yesterday's developments recalled the misunderstanding between George J. Gould and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. three years ago. At the annual meeting that year in St. Louis a contest was avoided by an agreement giving Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the Rockefeller interests three places on the Missouri Pacific board, it being expected that Mr. Gould would give up the Presidency in favor of a fourth man to be named by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. When the Directors met a month later to choose a new President Mr. Gould took advantage of his majority in the board to elect B. F. Bush of the Western Maryland over the protest of the bankers. Thereupon the Kuhn, Loeb & Co. representatives resigned, and Speyer & Co. took the place they were to have taken as bankers for the property.

RAILROADS' NEW BUREAU.

Information Office Takes Place of Conference Committee.

The permanent Bureau of Information organized some time ago by the Eastern railroads to take the place of the Managers' Conference Committee took possession of its quarters in Room 5,716 on the fifth floor of the New Haven Building, 70 East Forty-fifth Street, yesterday morning. The clerical staff of the old committee will be transferred to the new bureau, which represents more than forty railroads east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

Its objects are to keep in touch with all the Eastern railroads, and collect data from time to time as to the wages and general conditions on these railroads. John C. Walber, Secretary of the bureau, is now on a tour of inspection of the different railroads, and will return in about a week.

RESERVE BANK DIRECTORS.

Strong Names Mentioned for the Places Here.

With a prospect for the organization of the Federal Reserve banks in the near future by the selection of a third of the Directors by the Federal Reserve Board and the election of the rest by the member banks, the financial district has begun discussion of the available men for these places in the reserve bank here.

Among the names mentioned yesterday were those of Clark Williams, formerly Superintendent of Banks; James G. Cannon, President of the Fourth National Bank, about to be merged with the Mechanics and Metals; Julian M. Gerard, former Vice President of the Knickerbocker Trust Company and a brother of Ambassador Gerard, and Edmund D. Fisher, Deputy Controller of the city.

NEW SECURITIES CONCERN.

$2,500,000 New England Corporation Formed in Hartford.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 8.—A certificate was filed this afternoon with the Secretary of State incorporating the Securities Corporation of New England with an authorized capital of $2,500,000. The filing fee paid was $1,250.

The incorporators are Arthur L. Shipman and Alvan Waldo Hyde, of the Hartford law firm of Gross, Hyde & Shipman, and Theodore L. Herrman, of a New York City law firm. As a holding concern the new corporation has a broad scope.

Freak Styles Out of Fashion.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 8.—At the opening session of the twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association here to-day President John B. Hoveland of Chicago said:

"Thank goodness the time has passed for freak styles in women's clothes and the day of sane fashions has returned."

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

Prices early in the day advanced ¼ to ⅜c, and while the gain was lost under profit taking and final quotations were ⅛ to ¼c net lower, the undertone was steady. The principal supporting factor in the market was a continuation of the foreign buying which has been apparent throughout the week.

In the local cash market No. 2 hard Winter wheat was quoted at $1.02, cost, insurance, and freight, New York; No. 2 red, $1.03½, cost, insurance, and freight, to arrive; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.02½, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.02¾, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

News from the Argentine was of a rather conflicting nature, and in consequence the corn market was nervous, advancing ¼c early, but closing at a net decline of ⅛c.

In the local cash market No. 3 yellow corn was quoted at 76⅝c, cost, insurance, and freight to arrive.

COTTON.

The cotton market was very quiet yesterday and prices fluctuated within a range of 5 or 6 points. The generally favorable weather news inspired some scattered selling of new crop positions, but offerings were not heavy enough to cause any important break in prices. Closing prices were steady at a net decline of 1 to 7 points.

The world's visible supply of American showed a decrease of 134,000 bales for the week, comparing with a decrease of 146,000 for the same week last year.

Southern spot markets as officially reported were unchanged to ⅛c higher; generally unchanged. The local market for spot cotton was quiet and unchanged at 13c for middling upland; sales nil; delivered on contract, 600 bales.

STOTESBURY HEADS P. & R.

New Executives Also Selected for the Railway and Coal Companies.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 8.—Edward T. Stotesbury, of this city, a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, and of Drexel & Co., of this city, was to-day elected President of the Reading Company, the holding corporation of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Co. and Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company. Theodore Voorhees, Vice President of the railway company, was made President of that corporation and W. J. Richards, Vice President and general manager of the coal and iron company was elected President of that organization.

All three succeed in the Presidency of the different companies the late George F. Baer. At the same time Mr. Stotesbury was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of the railway company and also of the coal and iron company.

With the election of these Presidents to-day five men now fill five places in the Reading-Jersey Central system which were held by Mr. Baer. The Jersey Central Railroad Company last week elected Vice President W. G. Besler, head of that corporation, while C. F. Huber was made President of the Lehigh & Wilkes Barre Coal Co., a Jersey Central subsidiary.

Mr. Stotesbury has been a member of the Reading board for several years. He was not a candidate for the Presidency of the holding company, but took the place at the request of his fellow Directors. While no announcement was made, it is said Mr. Stotesbury will follow closely the policy of Mr. Baer.

COPPER OUTPUT IN APRIL.

Aggregate Production Exceeded March and Surplus Increased.

The country's copper refineries established a new high record for monthly output in April, according to the figures of the Copper Producers' Association, with an aggregate production of 151,500,531 pounds, as compared with 145,651,982 in March and 135,333,402 pounds in April of last year. At the close of the month the stocks of unsold metal amounted to 70,337,001 pounds, a gain since March 31 of 5,627,682 pounds.

The increase of surplus copper was about what had been expected in the trade, but there was some disappointment expressed because domestic deliveries were not greater. Consumers in the United States took 63,427,633 pounds, an amount 6,424,716 pounds smaller than in the preceding month. Foreign deliveries totaled 82,342,216 pounds, a decrease of 7,216,950 pounds, but a large aggregate of exports in comparison with the corresponding months of other years.

BUSINESS IS IMPROVING.

Dun's Review Says Iron and Steel Show Least Progress.

Commenting on the condition of trade and the business of the banks, Dun's Review says:

"There is an improved sentiment in commercial and industrial channels, even though actual progress is slow. The brilliant outlook for the Winter wheat crop inspires confidence in the future, and the splendid agricultural prospects, generally, constitute the best feature of the situation. Some encouragement is derived from reports regarding the leading trades and industries; the weather has militated against a full distribution of seasonable merchandise, yet there is a wider movement in certain lines. Least satisfactory news is received as to iron and steel, where conditions are slow to improve.

"Bank clearings continue in moderate volume, the total this week at all leading cities in the United States, amounting to $3,017,203,976, thus showing contraction of 1.6 per cent. as compared with the $3,066,684,475 of the same week last year and of 2.3 per cent. as contrasted with the corresponding week in 1912, when $3,089,025,059 was reported."

Bradstreet's says:

"Because of excellent crop prospects, probably the best that ever prevailed at this season, sentiment tends to veer toward the line of optimism, and as a result trade, especially at the West, exhibits moderate expansion. Industrial lines as yet do not reflect this cheerful feeling, however. The disposition is to buy frequently, but in small lots, a tendency that seems to have grown since 1907."

BROKERS FIRM DISSOLVES.

L. von Hoffmann & Co. One of Oldest Stock Exchange Houses.

The Stock Exchange house of L. von Hoffmann & Co. of 37 Wall Street will be dissolved by mutual consent of the partners on May 29. The firm is one of the oldest brokerage houses in the Street, having been established in 1850, and was the first to undertake arbitrage transactions between this centre and London. The members are William Mertens, J. Walter Wood, Duncan Struthers, and Prentice Strong, members of the Stock Exchange; Robert Struthers, Jr., Frederick A. Libby, Arthur M. Anderson, and Louis E. Raphael, a special partner.

A new firm, which will carry on an investment business in bonds, will be formed by some of the partners, to be known as Wood, Struthers & Co. It will be composed of Mr. Wood, Robert Struthers, Jr., Duncan Struthers, and Mr. Anderson. Mr. Strong will engage in the bond business on his own account.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Business on the Consolidated Stock Exchange was on an active scale, the sales totaling 40,760 shares. The course of prices was toward lower figures during most of the day. Special weakness showed in a number of quarters. Canadian Pacific opened sharply down on the 9:30 o'clock call, its initial loss amounting to 2 points. Other specially weak stocks were Chesapeake & Ohio and Missouri Pacific. The decline in the first named was accompanied by further talk of a probable near-by dividend reduction, while Missouri Pacific's was accompanied by reports of a "hitch" in the company's financing arrangements. There was a transaction on the call in Third Avenue at 41, the only market for that stock in Wall Street during the day.

TO THE HOLDERS OF COLLATERAL TRUST FOUR PER CENT. GOLD BONDS OF 2002 OF

Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R. R. Co.

The Railroad Company having made default in the payment of the interest due May 1, 1914, on the above bonds, it is imperative that bondholders should immediately unite for the protection of their interests. Bondholders who have not already done so should deposit their bonds at once with the Depositary, CENTRAL TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, at its office, No. 54 Wall Street, or at its branch office, Madison Avenue and 42d Street, New York City, under the agreement dated February 26, 1914. Copies of said agreement may be obtained from the Depositary or from the Secretary of the Committee. Bonds in coupon form must be accompanied by the coupon maturing May 1, 1914. Bonds in registered form and registered coupon bonds must be accompanied by transfers executed by the registered owner or his attorney duly authorized. Certificates of deposit will be issued by the Depositary for all bonds deposited, and in due course application will be made for listing such certificates of Deposit on the New York Stock Exchange.

The protective agreement permits the deposit thereunder of such of the stock of THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY as is not pledged under the trust agreement securing the Collateral Trust Bonds, and holders of said stock are requested to deposit the same or to communicate with the Committee.

Any bondholder desiring further information may apply to the members of the Committee or to its Secretary.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The storm central over the Ohio Valley Thursday night is passing seaward off the Middle Atlantic Coast. During the last twenty-four hours it caused general showers in the Middle Atlantic States, Southern New England, the Ohio Valley, and the region of the Great Lakes.

In all other parts of the country the weather remained generally fair.

Temperatures have fallen considerably in the Middle Atlantic States, the Ohio Valley, and the Middle Gulf States, and have risen decidedly in the Upper Missouri Valley, the Plains States, and the Rocky Mountain region.

The highest temperature reported from any part of the country was 102 degrees at Yuma, Arizona.

Indications are that the weather will be generally fair Saturday and Sunday throughout the country.

Temperature will rise Saturday in the Plains States, Saturday and Sunday in the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and the Gulf States, and Sunday in the Middle and South Atlantic States. Somewhat cooler weather is probable in the Far Northwest on Sunday.

Winds for Saturday and Sunday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate to fresh variable; middle and South Atlantic Coasts, moderate west.

FORECASTS: TO-DAY AND SUNDAY.

Eastern and Western New York, Southern New England, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Partly cloudy Saturday; Sunday fair, with rising temperature; moderate variable winds.

Northern New England—Cloudy Saturday; Sunday fair; moderate variable winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1913.	1914.		1913.	1914.
8 A. M.	52	58	4 P. M.	62	56
6 A. M.	54	52	6 P. M.	56	56
9 A. M.	57	54	9 P. M.	52	57
12 M.	62	53	11 P. M.	51	57

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 56; for the corresponding date last year it was 58; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 57.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 53; at 8 P. M. it was 58. Maximum temperature, 62 degrees at 1 P. M.; minimum, 51 degrees at 7:10 A. M. Humidity, 87 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 87 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 29.80 inches, at 8 P. M. it stood at 29.72 inches.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has ordered examinations for teachers, male and female, in the Brooklyn Disciplinary School, pathological chemist, male and female, and examiner of salaries and grades for the Board of Estimate. There are eight vacancies in the last-named position. Dates for the issuance of applications for all these positions will be announced in a few days. The salary for teacher is $720 a year, and the minimum age is 21 years. The salary for pathological chemist is $2,500 a year. The minimum age is 21 years. There is one vacancy in Bellevue and Allied Hospitals.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination at the New York Custom House for aid, for men only, on June 3 and 4, to fill vacancies as they may occur in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, at salaries of $600 and $720 a year. The work of the Bureau of Standards is scientific and technical in character, consisting principally of physics, chemistry, and mechanical and electrial engineering. The bureau employs a large number of experts in each of these branches. Young men filling successfully the position of aid are eligible for promotions in these lines of work in whch they have become efficient. The opportunty for study and advancement along the lines indicated is equal to that of the leading commercial or educational institutions. Competitors will be examined in elementary algebra, geometry, trigonometry, general physics, elementary mechanical drawing, education, training, and experience. Graduation from a mechanical training, technical, or scientific school or equivalent training in a scientific or technical laboratory is a prerequisite. Applicants must have reached their nineteenth but not their twenty-fourth birthday on the date of examination. Further information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washngton, D. C.

Silks for Neckwear.

Little doubt exists in the men's neckwear trade regarding the popularity of printed warp silks for the Summer. Satin prints in Grecian effects, that are shown in sixteen colors, will also prove popular during the warm weather season, and orders for this class of merchandise show an increasing demand.

⁂

Adjustable Automobile Cap.

An adjustable cap made by a local manufacturing firm supplies a long felt want in the automobile world and has consequently proved a very successful innovation. The guests on a motoring trip formerly had to take pot luck in the matter of headgear if not supplied themselves with caps. By means of a tape or strap running around the edge of the patented cap, with a buckle in front, the size is adjustable. The buckle is hidden by the flare of the top of the cap and peak.

Exporters to Have a Convention.

No formal plans have been made for the last luncheon of the season of the American Manufacturers' Export Association. At this luncheon, which will be held on Thursday next at the Whitehall Club, 17 Battery Place, the greater part of the time will be devoted to discussion and arrangements in connection with the National Foreign Trade Convention, which will be held in Washington, at the Hotel Raleigh, on May 27 and 28. The proposed programme for the convention is now being distributed by Secretary Douglass, in which are outlined plans for two business sessions on each day and a banquet at the Hotel Raleigh on Wednesday evening. It is expected that several papers of unusual value to exporters will be read at the convention.

Gray Goods Still Quiet.

Yesterday was another quiet day in the local gray goods market. There were some fair-sized sales of 38½-inch 64-60s put through for June delivery at 4⅞ cents, several houses which had been holding out for 5 cents on these goods finally granting the concession asked on orders for nearby shipment. Despite reports published to the contrary, it was said yesterday by one of the leading brokers in the market that there were plenty of these goods to be had at that figure for delivery within the next month or six weeks. Some lots of 38½-inch 60-52s were offered at 4⅜ cents, and attracted a fair amount of attention from buyers. There was a fair call for 40-inch lawns during the day, but on the whole the market was said to be as dull as it has been at any time in the last three or four years. The converters are said to be getting little business, and are consequently buying little goods in the gray. There is said to be a total absence of speculative buying.

⁂

Chance for Exporters.

Consul G. H. Pickerell, at Para, Brazil, says that the Amazon River district generally is still struggling with a financial crisis which makes it important that American exporters should exercise close scrutiny before granting new credits, as well as good judgment in their treatment of old customers, who, by reason of the prevailing hard times, are forced to ask extensions. American firms trading in that market have been very fortunate so far, Mr. Pickerell says, having lost comparatively little money on account of local business failures. Better still, he says that they have been able to do more than hold their own as regards the volume of business done. While this is very satisfactory, it still leaves much to be desired, from the fact that sales of merchandise from the United States are largely confined to goods which are not easily obtainable elsewhere. All classes there recognize the need of reorganizing the economic system if Para is to remain a factor in the world's rubber market in the face of the greatly increased competition from the Far East. In this reorganization lies the opportunity of the American exporter.

Object to Late Opening.

Objection is heard in the local carpet and rug trade to the late date that was set for the leading factor's Fall opening this year. The chief reason for the objection is that it will give the road men at least two weeks less time to make their circuit than they would be given in the ordinary course of events, thereby leading to the belief that orders of this kind may not be so heavy as last year, when a new high record was made by some of the biggest houses. Though some of the houses will show their lines on May 11, the naming of prices on them will depend on the way the buyers come in. There is a suspicion, however, that few of the new figures will come out before the general opening on the 18th. Apropos of the report that one of the prominent companies would offer a 9 by 12 seamless rug for the new season, it was said yesterday that at least two well-known houses have been making seamless rugs lately which were larger than this. One house makes them 11 feet 3 inches by 12, while the other house is making them 11 feet 3 inches wide by 13 feet 6 inches long.

Imports of a Week.

Imports of general merchandise, including dry goods, here in the week ended May 2, were valued at $20,057,864, compared with $19,526,028 in the week before, and $23,597,637 in the week before that. Included in these imports are $337,712 worth of jewelry, precious stones, and watches, while the week previous the entries reached $525,925. Imports of leather, hides, &c., were $1,654,931, compared with $1,503,954 the week before. There were entered 134,246 bags of coffee appraised at $1,328,045, while the entries the week before were valued at $1,059,059. Sugar imports were valued at $1,994,459, while the preceding week's imports were worth $2,124,511. India rubber, manufactures, waste, and substitutes were set down at $2,086,848, compared with $1,104,153 the week before. Wool imports were appraised at $373,026, and in the preceding week at $224,303. Imports of dry goods totaled $1,789,538, while the imports of silk goods were appraised at $781,490. The week before the figures were, respectively, $2,340,540 and $522,589. Withdrawals of dry goods of all kinds from bonded warehouses last week were $620,345, while those entered for warehouse aggregated $444,468. Statistics of the previous week were, respectively, $686,472 and $950,138.

New England Stores Combine.

Information reached this city yesterday of the consolidation of the Charles R. Hart Company of Hartford, Conn., with Sage, Allen & Co., of the same city. N. F. Allen of Sage, Allen & Co., who effected the consolidation, has also obtained a controlling interest in the firm of Meekins, Packard & Wheat of Springfield, Mass. A corporation has been formed under the laws of Massachusetts, to be known as the Allied Stores Company, and in this company the conduct of the business in both the Hartford and Springfield stores will be vested. The charter of the company, which is capitalized at $1,200,000, permits it to do both a wholesale and a retail business. Common stock will absorb $600,000 of the capitalization, all of which is owned by the present proprietors of the various properties. The remaining $600,000 represents accumulative 7 per cent. preferred stock, which the corporation reserves the right to redeem at $110, and on which dividends will be paid quarterly. It is understood that this stock will be offered to the public at par. The officers of the company, as noted in the certificate of incorporation, are Normand F. Allen, President; Azel A. Packard, Vice President; William G. Wheat, Treasurer, and Harold A. Wheat Secretary. The Directors are Normand F. Allen, Azel A. Packard, William G. Wheat, Grosvenor W. Curtis, Clifford O. Moore, Henry C. Sheffield, and Harold A. Wheat.

BIG FIGURES ON FILMS.

Moving Picture Exports Run Into Millions of Feet.

Motion picture film exports from the United States, which have been increasing rapidly during recent years, scored a remarkable advance during March, the total for that month having been 23,000,000 linear feet, as against 3,000,000 in March of the preceding year. During the nine months which ended with March the exports aggregated 146,000,000 linear feet, or four times the amount exported in the same period of the former high-record year, 1912.

A continuation of exports upon the average level maintained in the last nine months would bring the total for the full fiscal year ending June 30 next, up to 195,000,000 linear feet, or sufficient to extend a motion picture film ribbon around the globe at the equator with surplus strips long enough to reach from the equator to the north and south poles. These statistics, given out yesterday by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce, also deal with the prices of the films. According to the report, the films are steadily falling in price as the business expands.

In March, 1912, the average export price, based upon ruling wholesale prices at the domestic points of shipment, was a little more than 10 cents per linear foot, and in March, of the present year, a little more than 3½ cents. The unexposed films dropped in export price from 12 cents per foot in March, 1913, to 3 cents per foot in March of the current year, while the exposed films in the same period slightly declined. Formerly most of the films were exposed before exportation; now about four-fifths of the entire quantity exported consists of unexposed films available for camera use in foreign countries. Of the month's exportations of motion picture films 20,000,000 feet were unexposed and 3,000,000 feet exposed, thus reversing the proportions which obtained in March of last year, when unexposed films represented only 83,000 feet out of a total of 3,000,000 feet of all kinds of films exported.

Our foreign sales of motion picture films are chiefly to England. That country takes about nine-tenths of the total exports. The next largest customers are Canada, Australia, Cuba, France, Jana, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Venezuela, China, Hongkong, and the Philippine Islands. In many other countries, however, motion pictures are being made with cameras equipped with films manufactured in the United States, the world's largest purveyor of that article of increasing popularity.

This increase in exports of motion picture films from the United States is apparently incidental to the broader consumption of that class of articles throughout the world, for while the exports from here were growing from $4,000,000 in the fiscal year 1913 to an indicated total of over $7,000,000 in the present year, those of France were also making rapid advance. In 1911 her exports of this class of goods were valued at $1,706,000; in 1912, $3,666,000, and in 1913, at $6,408,000.

TRADE WITH A B C GROUP.

Sharp Recession in Our Exports for First Three Months of Year.

A statement issued yesterday by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce, dealing with the trade of the United States with Argentina, Brazil, and Chile, the so-called "A B C" group, shows that official returns for the opening quarter of 1914 indicate a sharp recession in exports to these countries and practically stationary imports therefrom in comparison with figures for the preceding January-March period.

An important exception to this general statement is found in imports from Argentina, which under the stimulus of the new tariff shows unprecedented shipments of corn and fresh beef, coupled with heavy receipts of cattle hides and wool. These have brought the three months' imports from that country up to a total more than double that for the opening quarter of last year. Our imports from Argentina in the fiscal year 1913, the latest period for which details have been completed by the bureau, included cattle hides, $12,500,000 value; wool, $5,000,000, and quebracho wood and extract, more than $3,000,000.

Our trade with the "A B C" group, amounting last year to $267,000,000, represented about 15 per cent. of their total imports and exports. We sold to Argentina last year $55,000,000 worth of products; to Brazil, $40,000,000, and to Chile, $16,500,000. On the other hand we bought from Argentina $25,500,000 worth of products; from Brazil, $101,000,000, and from Chile, $29,500,000. These three countries supplied more than 80 per cent. of all the merchandise entering our ports from South America and took a like proportion of our sales to that continent.

DRY GOODS OUTLOOK.

Future Sales Satisfactory—New Pile Fabric Coats Favored.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 8.—Marshall Field & Co., in their weekly review of the dry goods trade, say:

"Dry goods distribution for the week shows a fair comparison with the corresponding period a year ago.

"Cash receipts show improvement. Shipments so far this month are about even.

"The excellent Government crop report should have a beneficial effect on dry goods trade in wheat sections.

"While merchants are not showing a disposition to place large future orders, there are a number of lines in which future sales are running very satisfactorily.

"Wool dress good sales for Fall are ahead of a year ago. Wool fabrics have been advanced in price pretty generally by manufacturers within the last two weeks, especially in the better grades of goods, and prices of raw wool remain firm.

"Pile fabric coats for the Fall and Winter promise to be more popular than during the last few seasons. There are several new pile fabrics in a variety of high colors that are meeting with great favor."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Decisions by the Appeals Court and the Appraisers.

The United States Court of Customs Appeals has taken adverse action in the protest case of Bartley Brothers & Hall, dealing with the classification under the old law, of leather cases containing receptacles to hold stamps, cards, paper, envelopes, pens and pencils. The Collector at New York assessed the goods at 50 per cent. ad valorem as leather cases permanently fitted with traveling sets. The importers protested that they were properly dutiable at 40 per cent. as ordinary leather cases. The Board of General Appraisers sustained the contention, which the court now reverses.

A marble statue imported by the Olympic Club of San Francisco, was assessed for duty by the Collector. The importer protested that it was properly free as a work of art imported by a society or institution for the encouragement of the arts, science or education. The board found in favor of the club, this action being affirmed by the court.

T. W. Saunders lost in a decision by Judge Smith of the Customs Court. In a proceeding before the Board of General Appraisers to determine whether certain scrap leather was dutiable at 10 per cent. as waste, as assessed by the Collector, or was free of duty as fertilizer, the court affirmed the tax. It appears that the case was argued and submitted before Board 3, and after submission was transferred to Board 1, which made a decision favorable to the importer. The court holds that the decision of the latter board must be reversed on the ground that it had no authority to render a decision in the case.

B. Blumenthal & Co. was overruled by the Board of General Appraisers. The merchandise consisted of gallalith cloth and fish scale covered buttons, returned for duty at 50 per cent. ad valorem under paragraph 427, Tariff Act of 1909, as buttons not specially provided for. The goods were claimed to be dutiable at 45 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures of glass, or at 20 per cent., as unenumerated manufactured articles.

Campbell, Metzger & Jacobson, imported paper needle cases containing assortments of hand sewing and darning needles. Duty was taken at 35 per cent. under the provision in the old act, for paper manufactures. The importers claimed that the needles exceeded in value the paper covers, and asked for several rates lower than assessed. The board found no error in the Collector's classification.

Live snails figured in a controversy between the Government and G. Luango of New York. The Collector decided that they were live animals within the meaning of paragraph 229, of the old law, and took duty at 20 per cent. The board holds that the proper classification is under the provision for "raw, unmanufactured unenumerated articles," at 10 per cent. ad valorem.

AN EMBROIDERY IMPORT.

To Find Out by Evidence Abroad if It Was Undervalued.

Some unusual features are involved in a customs case standing in the name of Cobden & Co., embroidery importers of 112 Madison Avenue, for which the Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday authorized a commission to take testimony abroad. This firm exported laces from Plauen, Germany, August 9 of last year, and entered the goods at New York. They were shipped to this country by Ludwig Bratvogel, a well-known manufacturer of the German embroidery center, to the Cobden concern as American agents.

At the Appraiser's Stores, where the laces were examined, they were found to be grossly undervalued, according to the officials, with the result that Appraiser Higgins is said to have advanced some of the goods 150 per cent ad valorem over entered prices. Practically all of the importation was said to be advanced beyond the seizure point, which under the tariff law is 75 per cent. Acting on the Appraiser's report, Collector Mitchel ordered the shipment seized. Meantime, Cobden & Co., through Arthur Mayer, of 261 Broadway, acting as counsel for the exporter and the domestic agents, appealed for a reappraisement. The case was presented to Judge Howell, sitting as a single General Appraiser, who sustained in the main, the advances over invoice prices imposed by the Appraiser of the Port. Collector Malone then turned over the evidence to District Attorney Marshall, who brought suit to forfeit the laces on the ground that Louis Bratvogel made a false and fraudulent declaration of the value of the goods before the American Consul at Plauen. Since then, Cobden & Co. filed a bond and took possession of the merchandise.

Then an appeal was taken to a Board of Reappraisement, consisting of Judges McClelland, Sullivan and Brown, for a review of Judge Howell's finding. Before this board, the importers asked that before further proceedings were taken, a commission be designated to take testimony at Plauen, on the ground that the evidence to be had there would demonstrate the equity of the invoice prices. Assistant Attorney General Wemple, representing the Department of Justice, objected to the proposed commission, unless the testimony was taken under the direction of one of his legal assistants.

Mr. Wemple made the point that in view of the apparently convincing evidence in the Government's possession, the expenses of a commission and of the assistant's traveling outlay, were not justified. The representative of the merchants thereupon offered to put up a bond for the attorney's expenses. This arrangement, it was learned yesterday, was accepted, Judge McClelland signing the order for such a commission.

Mr. Wemple has appointed Albert McClellan Barnes, an assistant in his office, to take the trip, and examine the exporter's witnesses. The unusual feature of the arrangement is that, while Mr. Barnes's expenses are guaranteed while abroad by the merchants against whom the Government has instituted proceedings, the attorney will, nevertheless, be under the necessity of defending the Government's interests at the hearings in Plauen. After Mr. Barnes's return in Plauen. After Mr. Barnes's return the Board of Reappraisement and the District Attorney's office.

EDUCATION NOTES.

Dr. C. Ward Crampton, director of physical training in the Department of Education, has notified the public school teachers of this city that reports in class athletics are due on May 15.

The Committee on Nominations of Superintendents and Examiners in the Department of Education, of which M. S. Stern is Chairman, has adopted new tests for the candidates for the vacancy in the Board of Superintendents caused by the recent death of Associate City Supt. Edward L. Stevens. These tests are intended to show the efficiency of the candidates and how progressive they are.

Arbor Day exercises were held in all of the public schools yesterday. In each school, by order of Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, a letter from Dr. Hermann M. Biggs, State Commissioner of Health was read to the pupils. The letter compares the life of a child to the life of a tree and seeks to teach a few lessons in hygiene.

A NEW VENDING MACHINE.

It Sells Goods and Also Makes Change Automatically.

The newest device aiming for efficiency in the retail distribution of dry goods is a merchandise vending machine. One of them, which, incidentally, is said to be the only one of its kind now in use anywhere, was put into operation very recently by R. H. Macy & Co. It has attracted considerable attention from shoppers, and has been liberally patronized.

The machine, which stands about seven feet high, is nine feet long and a foot deep. It is made entirely of steel, and contains twelve compartments, each of which is operated by a plunger. It is operated and lighted by electricity, the operating and lighting feeds being independent of each other. Across the face of the machine, about waist high, are four steel trays. Each tray serves four plungers. These catch the merchandise after the coin has been deposited and the plunger pressed. The machine makes its own change, and in the centre of it, just under the slot in which the coin is put, is a little steel basket which catches the change.

The machine in the Macy store is so built that it can sell merchandise ranging in selling value from 6 cents to and including 25 cents. Yesterday it was selling 24-cent goods, including soaps, face powder, dental powder, hosiery, garters, shine kits, and sanitary supplies. All of these goods were put up in packages, which were 6 inches by 4 by 2 in size. The length and width of the packages cannot be varied in this machine, but the height of them may be changed according to the merchandise put into them.

In making a purchase as the machine was geared yesterday, it was necessary only to decide on the merchandise wanted, to deposit the coin in the slot, press the plunger, and then pick up the package and the one cent change delivered by the machine. The machine is said to have a wonderfully accurate coin detecter, and slugs and counterfeit coins of all kinds are rejected immediately. Coins of too small a denomination are also rejected.

The change-making part of the device is especially interesting. It consists of six vertical cylinders, into four of which pennies are inserted. In the fifth cylinder nickels are placed, and the sixth is for dimes. This gives the machine a maximum change production of 19 cents. For lesser amounts it is necessary only to fill enough of the cylinders to have the desired sum returned. For example, if a sale of 9-cent goods were on, it would be necessary only to fill the dimes cylinder, the nickel cylinder, and one of the cent cylinders.

A sign shows when the tubes are empty. If a prospective customer ignores this, the machine does not restore the coin. It may be recovered, however, by pressing some other plunger and getting a package from that tube, and then taking this package to the floor man for credit or exchange.

The machine is said to require only the casual attention of a single employe to keep it in full operation, the duties of this employe being only to keep the tubes supplied with merchandise and the change cylinders loaded. A small painted sign on the front of the machine near the deposit slot tells the value of the goods the machine is selling, which is the same in all of the compartments, and the amount of change to be expected. A large shallow window down in each compartment shows the kind of merchandise contained in its tubes, the description of the contents of the packages being printed on the side of the package visible to the prospective customer.

ONE APPRAISAL ENOUGH.

Collector Cannot Pass on the Validity of His Appeal.

Judge McClelland of the Board of United States General Appraisers, sitting as a reappraisement official, decided yesterday that customs appraisers are not warranted by law in making a second appraisement of imported merchandise. The case before the General Appraiser was that of George W. Reed & Co., of San Francisco. It appears that after the firm's merchandise was entered, it was regularly appraised by the United States Appraiser, and passed as entered.

The Collector was dissatisfied with the values passed by the Appraiser and appealed for a reappraisement to the Board of General Appraisers. This appeal was dismissed as not having been received by the customs tribunal within the time specified by law. Then, upon the order of the Collector, the Appraiser, upon the face of the papers, without the presence of the goods, made a second appraisement which fixed the values largely in excess of those determined by the first appraisement. The importers appealed to the board for a review of the second appraisement, claiming it to be illegal.

After the board had refused to grant a re-hearing to the Collector, when that official asked for the original reappraisement, he wrote to Assistant Attorney General Wemple of the Department of Justice for advice. Mr. Wemple outlined a mode of procedure which included the making of a second appraisal. Commenting on the Assistant Attorney General's advice to the Collector, which ended in the second appraisal, Judge McClelland says:

"The Assistant Attorney General's view is that, 'whether an appeal is taken in time or not, it is a question of law which the Collector in the first instance must decide.' In other words, according to this theory, the Collector, a purely administrative officer, who, under the statute, is a party to every reappraisement controversy, is to pass, not only upon the validity of the importers' appeal to reappraisement but upon the regularity or validity of his own appeals as well. In view of the plain provisions of the statute I think such a contention borders upon absurdity."

Judge McClelland reaches the conclusion that the action of the Appraiser in making the second appraisement, being without warrant of law, was void, and no appeal could lie from such action.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

BURR & CO., (a corporation.)—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Burr & Co., a corporation, manufacturer of automobile bodies at Seventy-fifth Street and Amsterdam Avenue. Judge Hand appointed Harry R. Swartz receiver under a bond of $20,000. Liabilities are $102,000, and it is expected that the assets will realize more than $25,000. The petition was filed by Saul S. Myers, attorney for these creditors: William Seaich, $83,000, for loans and guarantees; William J. Moran, $3,976, on notes, and Daniel Mungall, $2,072, on a note. It was alleged that the corporation is insolvent and made preferential payments to these creditors: William Walton, English & Mersick, Paragon Auto Parts Company, T. P. Howell & Co., and others. The assets consist of tools, machinery, and stock, valued at $35,000, which it is expected will realize 50 cents on the dollar, and bills receivable, $10,000, of which 75 per cent. can be collected. The corporation has also contracts on hand for carriages and auto bodies to the extent of $30,000, on which $15,000 work has been done, and if completed there will be a gross profit of $15,000. These contracts to the extent of 80 per cent. have been assigned to the Fifth National Bank as security for advances. Mr. Seaich has made an arrangement with the bank to pay the corporation's indebtedness to the bank and take an assignment of the claims of the bank. By this arrangement 20 per cent. of the amount goes back to the corporation, and the liabilities are reduced by 80 per cent., which goes to Mr. Seaich. The business was started in 1892 by the firm of Burr & Co., and was incorporated in December, 1903, with capital stock of $100,000. Richard O. Burr is President and William J. Moran Secretary.

HERMAN B. PETERS, dealer in jewelry and jewelers' supplies at 87 Nassau Street, has filed a petition with liabilities of $4,921 and assets of $7,108, consisting of stock and fixtures, $4,525; accounts, $1,937; notes, $236; cash, $134, and surrender value of life insurance, $276. Judge Mayer appointed Courtlandt Nicoll receiver under a bond of $2,000.

THOMAS HARKNESS, grocer and butcher at Nyack, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $14,955, and assets of $9,174, consisting of stock, $2,000; fixtures, $100; horse and wagon, $275; accounts, $3,279; cash, $20, and real estate, $3,500, mortgaged for $3,130. Judge Mayer appointed Wesley W. Devitt of Spring Valley receiver.

JOHN L. RADERMACHER, INC., manufacturer of bedding at 12 to 16 Horatio Street, has filed schedules, which show liabilities of $32,884 and assets of $26,576, consisting of stock, $13,792; machines, $3,998; horses and trucks, $2,470; accounts, $5,975, and cash, $341. Among the creditors are Taylor & Ellis, $5,802; New York County National Bank, $4,520; Josephine E. Radermacher, $3,820, and Morris & Co., $3,234.

GARDINIER & BURTON, machinists of 437 Pearl Street have filed schedules, which show liabilities of $5,612 and assets of $2,011, consisting of machinery, $1,500, and accounts $511.

LOUIS F. WINCKLER.—Judge Hand has denied a discharge to Louis F. Winckler, formerly a manufacturer of cane mountings at 75 Fulton Street, and confirmed the report of Macgrane Coxe, referee in bankruptcy, who recommended a denial on the ground of concealment of property from the trustees and omission of the same from his schedules. Mr. Winckler filed a petition in bankruptcy on July 31, 1912, liabilities were $12,958 and assets $3,069.

ISIDORE M. SILVERSTEIN, residing at 449 West 123d Street, filed a petition, with liabilities of $3,703 and no assets.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Builder Buys Twenty-six Lots in the Bronx for New Apartments—Trinity School Acquires Big Tract at Baychester—Lower Sixth Avenue Deal—Business and Country Leases.

The realty market yesterday was in a quiet state. The chief activity was in the Bronx, where two large deals were reported, one being the purchase of a large tract in the Baychester section by Trinity School. The other involved the purchase of twenty-six lots by John J. Tully, who has been one of the active builders in that borough. Fourteen lots are on College Avenue at the northeasterly corner of 166th Street, and twelve lots are on Findlay Avenue at the northwesterly corner of 166th Street. Mr. Tully is preparing to erect on the property seventeen five-story apartment houses.

The property was acquired from the Star Holding Company, of which Frederick G. Potter is President. It was a cash transaction. Stoddard & Mark acted as attorneys for Mr. Potter in the deal.

Tenement Deals.

Pepe & Brother have sold to H. Savignone 15 and 17 Sixth Avenue, two four-story tenements on a plot 36 by 102. The property will be altered and resold.

The Schoen Westchester Realty Company and M. Ruies have sold for F. Stiehweh a five-story flat on lot 25 by 100, at 445 West Fifty-ninth Street, to an investor.

Upper East Side Dwellings Sold.

In the old Yorkville section adjacent to the line of the new Lexington Avenue Subway, where a number of sales have been reported recently, Henry M. Michaelis and Elizabeth Burggraf sold 167 and 169 East Seventy-ninth Street, old dwellings, on plot 31 by 102.2.

The four dwellings to the west, 159 to 165, were recently reported sold. The six houses comprise a frontage of 90 feet, located just east of Lexington Avenue. Bert G. Faulhaber & Co. negotiated the sale.

Sale in West Fifteenth Street.

An investor has purchased from Adolph Jacoby 161 West Fifteenth Street, a five-story building on a lot 25 by 103.3, located 125 feet east of Seventh Avenue.

A Recent Buyer.

The Co-operative Land Company, of which J. F. Altroyge is President, is the buyer of the twelve-story loft at 40 and 42 West Seventeenth Street, reported sold yesterday by Morris W. Levine.

Trinity School Buys Athletic Field.

As a site for an athletic field, Trinity School of West Ninety-first Street has purchased from the Crawford Real Estate and Building Company a tract of about 100 lots adjacent to the Baychester Station on the New York, Westchester & Boston Railroad.

The land has a frontage of 453 feet on Baychester Avenue and 380 feet on Boston Road, with a westerly line running back a distance of 627 feet. It is located about two blocks from the station.

Title to the property was taken in the name of George M. Wood of New Rochelle, from the Crawford family, and immediately reconveyed to the New York Protestant Episcopal public school. Both deeds showed a stated consideration of $50,000.

Bronx Sales.

Clement H. Smith and George Wohn have purchased from C. A. Becker, President of the Creston Company, the brick business building on the north side of Tremont Avenue, 32 feet east of Webster Avenue.

The Schoen Westchester Realty Company and M. Rives have sold for Lowenfeld & Prager a lot 50 by 100 on Intervale Avenue, 144 feet north of 165th Street, to a builder for improvement, and for a Mr. Gultotto a five-story building at 1,000 Fox Street, on lot 83.9 by 105.

Brooklyn.

F. A. Seaver & Co. have sold the frame house and plot 50 by 100 on the southeasterly corner of Shore Road and Seventieth Street for R. E. Powell to a client for occupancy.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold 1,388 Union Street, between Brooklyn and Kingston Avenues, a three-story detached residence on a lot 28.6 by 100 for Emanuel Lehman to a client for investment.

Charles W. Seitz has sold to a large corporation of New York builders the premises 43 South Elliott Place, between De Kalb and Lafayette Avenues, for A. H. and W. J. Eckart; 45 South Elliott Place for Mary Hart, and 47 South Elliott Place for L. C. Keeler, making a plot 20 by 100 feet. The builders will raze the three dwellings and erect a five-story high-grade apartment house, which will be ready for occupancy about Dec. 1, 1914.

Long Island.

The Tuxill Realty Company has sold to Charles H. Wicks two plots at Beacon Hill, Port Washington, for $4,324.

Two dwellings at Flushing were sold yesterday at foreclosure. A two-story house on the corner of Amity and Murray Streets, on a plot 32 by 100, was sold to John W. Crawford of Flushing for $5,775. A residence on the corner of Botanic Place and Mitchell Avenue was sold to Mrs. Kate L. Wild for $5,000. The property was owned by John T. Watson.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company sold at Hempstead to T. Ivory, Ellen White, and J. Finnegan each a plot of 40 by 100 on Allen Street; to William Goudie and G. Overstrom each a plot of 40 by 100 on Botsford Street; to K. C. V. Nolan a plot 60 by 100 on Baldwin Street; to J. Granholm a plot 60 by 100 on Booth Street and Nassau Parkway; to E. F. Murphy a plot 40 by 100 on Nassau Parkway; to M. J. Flanagan a plot 40 by 100 on Windsor Parkway; to Jacob T. Thomsen a plot 20 by 97 on Milburn Avenue; to Wolff & Cohen a plot 40 by 85 on Miller Street; to J. J. Dini a plot 40 by 120 on Homan Boulevard; to C. T. Koffler a plot 40 by 100 on Henry Street, and to M. D. Ferrari a plot 40 by 107 on Grand Avenue.

New Jersey

Samuel Kraft has sold for the Hasbrouck Park Land Company, at Hasbrouck Heights, to Charles Lyman, a plot 50 by 100 on Boulevard Avenue; to Henry Walker, a plot 50 by 100 on Boulevard Avenue; to William Gibbs, a plot 75 by 100 on Collins Avenue, and to Oscar Hanley, a plot 75 by 100 on Collins Avenue.

Westchester County.

At Cedar Knolls William S. Constant has sold to an investor a plot 100 by 100 on Pondfield Road. As this land is restricted against business, the purchaser proposes to build a high-class apartment house, inspired by the success of the other Bronxville apartments, such as Gramatan Court, Pondfield Court, Studio Arcade, &c.

Another sale recently consummated on Pondfield Road was a plot on the south side of the street, 50 feet front, on which the purchaser, Frederick H. McGrath, will erect a bachelor apartment house with a grill room and café on the ground floor.

The Fox Realty Company sold to B. J. Mallon a large plot of ground near the Knollwood Country Club, at White Plains. The owner will build a Summer residence.

Burke Stone, Inc., has sold to Rutgers Fish the residence, 7 Maple Street, Bronxville.

$500,000 Printing Firm Lease.

Five floors, comprising the second to the sixth, inclusive, in the Hill Building at 469 to 475 Tenth Avenue, southwest corner of Thirty-seventh Street, have been leased by the Carey Printing Company of 6 East Thirteenth Street and the Friedman Print of 424 to 438 West Thirty-third Street. These two firms have combined their plants, and the new firm will be known as the Carey Printing Company.

The lease has been taken from the Hill Publishing Company, and is for ten years, the aggregate rental being about $500,000. The space taken is about 90,000 square feet. The transaction was closed through the firm of M. & L. Hess.

The Hill Company occupy the five top floors of the building, which was especially constructed for the publishing and printing business.

The Carey Printing Company has been established for twenty-three years, and the Friedman Print has been compelled to take larger quarters four times since 1911, the year in which that firm began business.

Leases.

Charles E. Hames has leased for the Rockfall Apartments, the store at 2,860 Broadway to the Acker, Merrall & Condit Co.

Pease & Elliman have leased for Stephen Peabody to Ruthven Wodell the three-story and basement house at 122 East Eighty-second Street; also, for the Jones estate, the four-story building near Columbus Circle, at 303 to 307 West Fifty-ninth Street, formerly occupied by the Cadillac Motor Car Company, to the A. Hartog Storage and Van Company.

Cross & Brown Co. has leased for the Gansevoort-Washington Company to E. Machi the store at 809 Washington Street.

William J. Roome & Co., Inc., have leased for the Palher Realty Company the second floor store in the Palher Chambers, at 179 Madison Avenue, to the Olmstead Corset Company.

The Clark Estates have leased the dwelling 27 West Seventy-third Street for a term of years to Charles G. Dodd.

Henry Wacher has leased for the Betz estate of Philadelphia the store 634 Ninth Avenue to Patrick Parker for a grocery.

Samuel H. Martin has leased for the General Synod Reformed Church in America the three-story and basement dwelling at 124 West Sixty-fifth Street to David P. Saltzman.

Country Dwellings Leased.

Pease & Elliman have leased a house at Amagansett, L. I., for the season for Dr. Johnson to J. J. Belden.

John F. Scott, in conjunction with Pease & Elliman, has rented for Arthur W. Connable his country place at Hewlett, L. I., to Edward Carpentier.

The recent lease made by S. Osgood Pell & Co. for Roland H. Conklin at Huntington was the place known as Rosemary Cottage at Lloyd's Harbor and not Mr. Conklin's home at Huntington.

$500,000 Colonial Parkway Apartment.

Plans were filed yesterday for a twelve-story apartment house on the southwest corner of Colonial Parkway and 160th Street. It will have a frontage of 102.7 feet and a depth of 138.11 feet, with a façade of brick and limestone. Albert Schwarzler is the owner. Schwartz & Gross, the architects, have placed the cost at $500,000.

Mortgage Loans Placed.

John Finck has placed the loans, a first mortgage of $45,000 at 4½ per cent., for Mrs. Caroline S. Fellowes, covering 4 East Eighty-first Street; a first mortgage of $16,000 at 4½ per cent. and $20,000, respectively, for Franklin Simon, covering properties 95 and 96 Riverside Drive; a first mortgage of $50,000 at 4½ per cent. for Charles S. Haight, covering the southeast corner Madison Avenue and Sixty-ninth Street; also $50,000 at 4½ per cent for William Guggenheim, covering 3 Riverside Drive; a first mortgage of $57,000 at 5 per cent. for Harris H. Uris, covering 521-523 West Twenty-sixth Street, and a first mortgage of $30,000 at 5 per cent. for C. C. and E. J. Ellis, covering 443 and 445 Ninth Avenue.

Thomas J. O'Reilly has procured for John P. Flannery a first mortgage of $8,000 for five years on premises 271 West 121st Street.

$432,625 For Queens Buildings.

According to the records of the Building Bureau in the Borough of Queens at least 100 detached frame buildings are constructed there weekly. The operations of the past week show that there were 123 applications for new buildings, most of which were residential in character and of the detached frame type.

The total amount of estimated cost for these buildings is $432,625. There were also filed 93 applications for alterations of an estimated cost of $83,500, and 47 applications for plumbing permits of an estimated cost of $29,182, making a total of $572,307.

Realty Notes.

The Farm Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, consisting of seventy-five prominent men, principally from the South and West, has just been organized, and will make a particular effort to obtain legislation favorable to farm mortgage investments. It is the first association of its kind in America.

To-day at 11:30 A. M. in front of the Court House at White Plains, Bryan L. Kennelly will sell 301 acres at Valhalla (North White Plains), Westchester County. The property is known as Buena Vista, the estate of the late Reese Carpenter.

The Manhattan Beach Estates have vacated their uptown office at 501 Fifth Avenue and have taken larger quarters at 192 Broadway.

A building loan of $42,000 has been obtained by the Macy Construction Company from the Rockland Realty Company on a six-story apartment being erected on a plot 54 by 114.4 on the west side of Bathgate Avenue, 103.3 feet south of 175th Street.

DR. BUTLER OFFERS ORGANIC LAW IDEAS

Head of Columbia Wants Constitution to Deal with Principles, Not Details.

THE SHORT BALLOT FIRST

Would Revise Legislative Procedure, Abolish Counties, and Give Home Rule.

Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, in a letter to Henry L. Stimson, made public yesterday, offered to co-operate with Republicans in formulating a programme to submit to the voters at the forthcoming Constitutional Convention.

In his letter, which was in answer to one from Mr. Stimson requesting Dr. Butler's views on the subject, the latter specified certain subjects which he is in favor of having included in the revised State Constitution. They include the short ballot, a revision of Legislature procedure, the lengthening of the Governor's term to four years, a revision of the financial administration, recasting the whole system of county government and real home rule for cities. This is President Butler's letter:

New York, May 5, 1914.

Mr. Henry L. Stimson, 32 Liberty Street:

Dear Mr. Stimson: I have received and read with attention your letter of May 1 in regard to the forthcoming Constitutional Convention. It will give me the greatest possible pleasure to co-operate with any of my fellow-Republicans in formulating a programme to submit to the voters. The occasion seems to me of the highest importance and to call for the best efforts of every citizen.

In general let me say that my views are that the Constitution should not have put into it any matters of detailed legislation that can possibly be kept out. We should avoid the unfortunate and hampering policy that has been adopted in many Western States of putting the merest details of public administration into the Constitution. It goes without saying that this leads to the breaking down of the fundamental distinction between constitutional principles and legislative acts, and that it tempts to a constant tampering with the fundamental law.

I am in favor of:

1. The short ballot. I understand this to mean that all of the State officers now elected by the people, with the exception of the Governor and Lieutenant Governor, should be appointed by the Governor, subject to confirmation by the Senate, for a term as long as his own and made subject to removal by him for cause, publicly stated, and filed with the Senate. There is question in some minds as to whether the office of Controller should be so treated. Personally I believe that it should. I am not raising under this head the question of an appointive judiciary, although I believe in that policy simply because it seems to me at the present time to lie outside of the range of practical politics.

2. Revised Legislative Procedure.—This I understand to mean that the Governor and the heads of departments appointed by him should have the right to sit in either House of the Legislature, and to take part in debate with the limitation that heads of departments shall participate only in debate on subjects germane to their several administrative jurisdictions. In such case it should be the duty of the Governor and heads of departments to answer at stated times and upon due notice interpellations addressed to them by members of the Legislature in regard to public business or policy.

The Governor should have the right to initiate legislation in the sense that it should be within his power in submitting a message to the Legislature to accompany it with a formal legislative proposal, which should be dealt with by the Legislature precisely as if it were a bill introduced from its own membership.

I do not believe that the Governor should have the right to refer to the people measures initiated by him which are rejected by the Legislature. There should be two restrictions upon the right to introduce bills into the Legislature. No bill should be introduced into the Senate unless three Senators, whose names should appear upon the bill, were willing to join in standing sponsors therefor, and no bill should be introduced into the Assembly unless five Assemblymen, whose names should appear upon the bill, are willing to join in standing as sponsors therefor. This is in effect the system prevailing in the House of Commons as regards private bills.

Moreover, no bill appropriating public money should be introduced into either Senate or Assembly except by the committee of the Senate or Assembly charged with reporting money bills. The object of this provision is to lay the foundation for a genuine budget. The terms of Senators should be lengthened to four years, and those of Assemblymen to two years, and sessions of the Legislature should be biennial instead of annual as now. In case of emergency or exceptional need there should be special sessions of the Legislature called either by the Governor or on the request of two-thirds of the members of either House. The Legislature should have the right to pass a concurrent resolution requesting a formal opinion from the Court of Appeals as to the constitutionality of any legislative proposal before enacting it into law.

3. Lengthening the Governor's Term to Four Years.—I do not approve of a referendum at the end of two years as to whether there should be a new Gubernatorial election or not.

4. Revised Financial Administration.—In this connection provision should be made not only for an annual or biennial budget, but for the regulation of bond issues and temporary loans in accordance with the most approved business principles.

5. Recasting the Whole System of County Government.—I would abolish county government entirely where the limits of a county were coterminous with those of a municipality, or where several counties were included in a single municipality. This system works perfectly in England. In addition to the Sheriff and County Judge I would have elected in and for each county, either by the people or perhaps by the Board of Supervisors, but a single administrative officer to be known as the Business Manager, or the Superintendent, or some other appropriate title. I would put under his administrative charge the entire public business of the county, in so far as it was not judicial, and would hold him responsible therefor. I would have him elected for a four-year term.

6. Home Rule for Cities.—Standing by itself this is a vague and uncertain phrase. For me it means the complete control by each municipality of those features of municipal business and housekeeping which do not involve directly the exercise of the sovereign power of the State; or which are not under our American system distinctly State functions. In drawing the line between these two classes of undertakings, I would give the benefit of the doubt to the municipality in order that its measure of local control might be as large as possible. An inspection of the bills introduced at Albany each Winter dealing with New York City affairs or amending the Charter, would indicate that the business of the Legislature would be cut down nearly two-thirds if a workable scheme of municipal home rule were provided by the new Constitution.

Naturally other matters suggest themselves, but I will for the moment confine myself to the important ones which I have outlined above. Faithfully yours,

NICHOLAS MURRAY BUTLER.

Many Republicans in the State have said that they are giving earnest consideration to the questions that should be presented at the convention for discussion and action, and leaders of the party are arranging a conference at which the matter will be discussed thoroughly.

WOMEN WILL MARCH TO-DAY

New York Delegations to Join Sisters in Washington Parade.

Several delegations of New York women will be in Washington to-day to take part in the suffrage parade, which will march up Pennsylvania Avenue and hold a suffrage meeting on the east steps of the Capitol, where the President takes his oath of office. The marchers will then present a petition to Congress.

There will be twenty or more women from the New York Woman Suffrage Party, with banners. The Women's Political Union will have a delegation in the parade dressed in white, wearing regalia and carrying banners. Miss Caroline Lexow will be marshal. Among the women who will take part will be Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, Mrs. John Rogers, Jr., Miss Anna Constable, Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse, Miss Cornelia Bryce, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. John Winters Brannan, Mrs. Lewis Delafield, Mrs. Benjamin R. Tilton, Mrs. Henry Wise Miller, Mrs. Calvin Tomkins, and Mrs. Emanuel Einstein.

As a preliminary to the parade a mass meeting will be held in the Belasco Theatre, and Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of the Political Equality Association will have a box there, and so will the Women's Political Union. The parade, which will start at 3:30 o'clock, will be headed by a chorus of 1,000 women, who will sing, among other things, "The March of the Women," by the distinguished composer Dr. Ethel Smyth.

CHILDS SUIT HEARING.

Argument on Havens's Action Begun Five Years Ago Set for May 28.

Suit begun five years ago by Edwin H. Havens of Montclair, N. J., against the Childs Dining Hall Company, will be brought to a close when argument is heard by Vice Chancellor Howell in the Chancery Court in Newark on May 28. The complainant, who is the holder of $5,000 of preferred and $10,000 of common stock in the Dining Hall Company, seeks to compel the cancellation of $660,000 of common stock issued by that company to the Childs Company, said to be owned by Samuel S. Childs and William Childs, without any consideration and without authority of the Directors of the Dining Hall Company.

It has been brought out at hearings on the case that the Childs Company holds 7,389 shares of the Dining Hall Company's stock, the par value being $100 a share. Testimony showed that whenever the Childs Dining Hall Company opened a new restaurant payment was made in preferred stock, and for every share thus issued three share of common were put out, one going as bonus stock with each share of preferred stock, and the other two to the Childs Company. The suit is being prosecuted on the theory that the Childs Company is not entitled to the bonus stock.

Mr. Havens brought suit in 1909 in the Chancery Court to enjoin the coalition of the companies, and the injunction is still in force.

SUFFRAGETTE BABY SHOW.

Prize of $5 at Grand Central Palace for Best Infant.

The sum of $5 is offered for the best baby belonging to a suffragette mother at the booth of the Seventeenth Senatorial District of the Women's Political Union at the Baby Show at the Grand Central Palace, which opens this evening and will continue all next week. All suffragists are urged to enter their babies at the booth to show that "Votes for Women" means better babies. A corps of women who have children of their own will be in attendance daily. There will be suffrage speeches afternoon and evening.

Dr. Josephine Baker will be one of the speakers, with Mrs. John Rogers, Jr., Mrs. Mary Beard, and Mrs. Norman de R. Whitehouse. At the booth will be Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. Eldon Bisbee, Mrs. James Neal, Miss Anna Constable, Mrs. Whitehouse, and Mrs. Terrell, the mother of Mrs. Whitehouse. There will be one grandmother among the suffragists in charge.

ROAD LIABLE FOR LYNCHING.

Carried Mob to Scene and Victim's Widow Gets $7,000 Judgment.

JACKSON, Miss., May 8.—A railroad that permits one of its trains to be chartered to carry a mob to the scene of a subsequent lynching is liable for damages, according to a compromise decree handed down in the Federal Court here to-day. The court allowed Mrs. Alice Rogers a judgment of $7,000 in her suit for $50,000 against the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railroad.

It was brought out in the testimony that a mob at Monroe, La., chartered a train, went to Tallulah, La., and lynched Rogers, the plaintiff's husband, after he had been acquitted of the charge of murder.

BURNS WARNS BANKERS.

Detective Opposes Compromise on Crimes to Avoid Publicity.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 8.—William J. Burns, the detective, speaking to the New Jersey Bankers' Association at its annual session here to-day, on "Bank Crimes and the Best Method of Preventing Them," said it was a bad policy on the part of banking officials and the District Attorney to compromise banking crimes because of fear of publicity. Confidence of the public, he said, would not be lost so easily if it found crimes in banking exposed at the time, as if it learned of the crimes long after their commission had been kept secret.

Duryea Violent in Bellevue.

Chester B. Duryea, who was taken to Bellevue Hospital last Tuesday night, after he had shot and killed his father, Gen. Hiram Duryea, became violent yesterday afternoon, and it was found necessary to strap him down to a cot. He is in the prison ward under the attention of Dr. Gregory and Dr. Vosburgh. No visitors called to see him yesterday.

16-FOOT CANDLE FOR MORGAN MEMORIAL

Jersey City Italian Church to Honor Dead Financier with Vatican Offering.

$1,500 RAISED FOR THE GIFT

Candle's Weight, 400 Pounds—Morgan's Portrait on It—To be Lighted Once a Year.

The parishoners of the Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, an Italian Roman Catholic Church of Jersey City, are wondering whether the enormous memorial candle which they have ordered made, and which they desire to have stand in the Vatican at Rome as a tribute from them to the late J. P. Morgan, will be received for that purpose there by the papal authorities. No communication has as yet been received from the Vatican indicating whether it would find a place there.

The Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel is a small but prosperous one at Broadway and West Side Avenue. About six months ago the collection of money for the memorial to J. P. Morgan began. At that time it was said that the movement was an expression of the feeling that the financier had done a great deal for Italy and Italians, and it was fitting that this be recognized.

The plans that were made resulted in the placing of an order for a memorial candle with a New York firm which makes a specialty of supplying candles for use in churches. This candle was expected to be the largest ever produced. It is not yet completed, according to all accounts. It will stand sixteen feet high, and will weigh about 400 pounds. Once a year, on All Souls Day, it will be lighted and will burn twelve hours. At this rate it is calculated the candle will burn 3,285 years.

The candle has a base one and one-half feet in diameter, with a six-inch diameter at the top. Upon it will be painted a portrait of Mr. Morgan and American beauty roses and lilies of the valley.

A design in relief is to be modeled about the picture and the base. This raised work is decorated with $300 worth of golf leaf. The cost is said to have been about $1,500.

During the last years of his life there was hardly one in which the dead financier did not visit Italy, largely in connection with his art interests, and he came into close touch with the life of the country in many directions. It was there he died, and he was sincerely mourned there by Italians of all ranks.

One of the many things which gained him the friendship of Italians was the return of the famous Ascoli cope, the chief treasure of the little cathedral town of Ascoli. It was stolen from there without any one knowing anything about it until experts were astounded at recognizing the relic at the South Kensington Museum, London, to which Mr. Morgan had loaned it for exhibition. When he was satisfied it had been stolen he returned it to the Italian Government, which had a medal struck in his honor, and showed its gratitude in other ways.

In 1911 the Honorary Presidency of the Foreign Committee for the artistic festival held in Rome was tendered to him in a remarkably warm letter by Count San Martino, President of the celebration. In 1905 he had received the thanks of King Victor for his aid of the victims of the Calabrian earthquake. During his visits to Rome he was almost always received by the King and in 1908 he had audiences with the Pope and with Queen Helene within half an hour of each other.

BUENOS AIRES NEEDS CASH.

Hotel Clerk Says Big Properties Bring Bargain Prices Only.

Edmond Poivey, who from a page boy at the Waldorf had worked up to be restaurant cashier and then cigar clerk, came back to the hotel from Buenos Aires and yesterday put on a bellboy's uniform and started to work again. Poivey had been eight months in Buenos Aires, where his family lives, and was room clerk at the Savoy Hotel in that city, but he said times in Argentina had got so hard he had come to the conclusion that any job in New York was preferable to working down there.

"Nobody seems to have any money in Buenos Aires," said Poivey yesterday. "You see they have not been able to get the usual loans in Europe, and crops have been bad. They usually borrow from £100,000,000 to £125,000,000 in London and Paris each year, but this year the bankers have been able to get only £25,000,000. That everybody is short of money is indicated by the fact that there has been no gambling during the season just ended.

"During the whole time I was there, big properties were coming into the market for a very small part of their value, and Americans down there who have money were constantly picking up great bargains. I know of one American who bought for $40,000 a property that was worth at least $150,000. There were forty to fifty Americans in the Savoy all the time. One sign of the hard times was that we reduced our 15 peso rooms to 10 pesos."

TWO HIT BY AUTO MAY DIE.

Mrs. Townsend, Leading Blind Son, Knocked Down on Fifth Avenue.

Mrs. Alice Townsend, 80 years old, of 15 East Fifty-fourth Street, and her son, George Townsend, 49 years old, living with her, who is almost totally blind, were taken to the Polyclinic Hospital late last night, Mrs. Townsend mortally injured, and her son suffering possibly from a fractured skull. The two were struck while crossing Fifth Avenue east on Forty-third Street by an automobile owned and operated by Dr. Joseph Shapiro, a dentist, of 430 Stone Avenue, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Townsend, leading her son, had just left Aeolian Hall, where they had attended a concert for the blind. Apparently they did not see the approaching automobile. Both were struck by one of the front mud guards, and Mrs. Townsend was thrown under the automobile, one of the wheels passing over her body. Her son was thrown to one side of the street.

Policeman Hamilton of the East Fifty-first Street Station saw the accident, and hailed a taxicab, in which he placed the injured ones, and stood on the running board, blowing his whistle as the driver made all speed to the hospital.

Mrs. Townsend and her son were attended at the hospital by Dr. Tobin, who found that Mrs. Townsend was suffering from a fractured skull, a fractured leg, and possible internal injuries in addition to contusions about the body. Mr. Townsend received a possible fracture of the skull, and possible internal injuries, besides severe contusions. It was said that Mrs. Townsend could not recover, and that the chances for the recovery of her son were slight.

Dr. Shapiro was accompanied by a cousin, Dr. Benjamin Shapiro, also a destist, of 408 Howard Avenue, Brooklyn. He said he saw Mrs. Townsend and her son about to walk in front of his automobile, and he turned aside in an effort to clear them, but they stepped back into the path of the auto.

BAD FISH AT BELLEVUE.

Six Barrels of Pollack Found to be Unfit for Consumption.

Daniel Donovan of the Department of Finance, who has charge of the inspection of food supplies for the Department of Charities and Correction, on Thursday notified the contractor who supplies Bellevue Hospital with fish that three big barrels of pollack, weighing nearly 500 pounds net, were unfit for consumption. According to Mr. Donovan, the quality of fish provided Bellevue Hospital has been growing more and more inferior recently.

Yesterday the same contractor sent to Bellevue another 500 pounds of pollack, packed in three large barrels, and, according to Mr. Donovan, the condition of the second supply was worse than that of the preceding day. He notified the Board of Health and Inspectors Burke and Raven condemned the entire lot. As a result 1,200 patients and 500 employes of Bellevue had to content themselves with three meals of meat and eggs yesterday.

FRESHIES TAKE A DUCKING.

N. Y. U. Youngsters Make No Protest at Fountain of Knowledge.

Fifty freshmen of New York University who were not ducked in the "Fountain of Knowledge" at the Hallowe'en ceremony, either because they were training with the football squad or because they were averse to water, and fleet of foot, reported in Gould Hall in white pajamas to the waiting sophomores last night, and were led to the fountain. As the sophomores marched the younger men around the campus they patted the pajamas with wooden paddles and impressed their superior dignity upon the first-year students.

After the ducking each bedraggled freshman hurried away, none waiting to view the discomfiture of his mates.

Those Who Discriminate Dine at Churchills

"More Than a Restaurant— A Broadway Institution"

In each line of business activity there is some one firm, establishment, that occupies a position of marked superiority and prestige.

Churchill's to-day holds such a position to an unusual degree in the opinion of the elite of Manhattan and of the majority of discriminating visitors to New York.

Its cuisine in a la carte service delights the fastidious—by the delicacy of food, the quality of service.

And likewise its Special Dinner, six to nine, $1.25, that's a culinary achievement. Duplicated nowhere else, it represents the cleverest restaurant entertainment that New York affords.

Cabaret Unique
Twenty Entertainers—Every Evening—Seven to One.

In keeping with its policy of superiority, Churchill's opened this past Monday evening an exceptionally handsome and spacious Ballroom, ventilated by fresh air. It has become within this brief time the favorite rendezvous of the elite for

Dancing

Miss Edna Chase and Enrico Muris, whose brilliant dancing has captivated guests, will continue to supervise the Ballroom.

Inaugurated, also this past Monday, our Special Luncheon, twelve to two, 75c, (with music by the Lazaro Quartet) has won instantaneous popularity among a wide circle of the discriminating. And—our Afternoon Tea Dances are similarly popular.
